DRY HOPES AT CAPITAL

Opinion is Awaited on Prohibition.

Supreme Court Ruling on Wartime Act Expected to Uphold Congress.

Whisky Owners, Bowing to Seeming Inevitable, Rush Export of Drinks.

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24. — When the Supreme Court of the United States, which recessed today until December 9, meets on that date, it is expected to declare the war-time prohibition act constitutional. This will be one of the most momentous decisions in the history of the highest court of the nation.

Even the advocates of the liquor interests expect the decision to close the door to any hopes of a resumption of the liquor traffic, even for the brief interval before constitutional prohibition arrives in January.

Examination of the tendency of the court in other decisions on vital public questions shows that, in addition to the strict ruling of the court on law points, there is a decided bent to allow for public sentiment and public policy. In all the rulings of recent years the court has sought to inject into the laws enacted by Congress the evident intent of Congress and the expressed desire of the people to which Congress was responding.

Some of the leaders of the bar here feel certain that, in view of this tendency not only will the war-time prohibition act be sustained by the court, but that, in view of the delay in the ratification of the peace treaty and the inability of the President to proclaim peace for some time to come, the two states of prohibition—war-time and constitutional—will overlap and that the United States is now on a dry basis that is permanent.

Some of the larger owners of whisky and other prohibited alcoholics have bowed to the inevitable and have ordered their liquid riches exported while there is yet time under the war-time act—the constitutional prohibition law not even permitting this relief to the holders of embargoed liquors.

Should the Supreme Court postpone the decision until after the holidays, the last hope of whisky owners and bankers, who have loaned on this security, will have disappeared. Indeed, many of the men who are exporting the liquor now to points of vantage, hope to arrange later for the marketing of the stuff at a later date and to the greatest advantage possible.

Seek to Aid Foreign Exchange.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Leading bankers and industrial executives of virtually every city in the country were named today by President Richard Hawes, of the American Bankers' Association, as a national committee on Europe finance. The committee is delegated to try to find a remedy for the situation resulting from demoralization of foreign exchange following the war.

COURT SETS PRECEDENT FOR LOOSING JAPS' GRIP ON LAND.

VISALIA, Nov. 24.—The practice of Japanese in California who obtain land in the name of their children and cultivate and live on that land is a flagrant violation of the anti-alien law, according to a decision handed down here today in the Superior Court by Judges Wallace and Allen, sitting en banc.

The decision was the outcome of a petition by J. Kawahara, a Japanese, to be appointed guardian of his 4-year-old son. Two years ago Kawahara bought land in his son's name, the decision said, ostensibly for the use and benefit of the child. Desiring to place a mortgage on the land, it became necessary that the child have a guardian appointed. Kawahara's application for guardianship was denied.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 24.—The decision today by the Tulare Superior Court en banc ruling against use of land by an alien who holds it in the name of a minor, establishes an important precedent and, if sustained, will be the means of ousting many aliens from land holdings in California, according to State Senator Inman.

Senator Inman was the author of the resolution adopted at a special legislative session, November 1, asking Gov. Stephens to call another session for Japanese exclusion legislation.

The practice of holding land through guardianship of children is general among aliens forbidden by law to hold title in their own name, Senator Inman said, and had been sanctioned by court decision in a Southern California case.

GEN. ANGELES'S TRIAL ON.

Villa Leader at Chihuahua Confident of Outcome of Court-martial.

JUAREZ (Mex.) Nov. 24.—Heiterating his enmity to President Venustiano Carranza, but expressing confidence that justice would be meted out to him, Gen. Felipe Angeles, Villa leader captured recently near Parral, Chihuahua, was brought to trial before a court-martial at Chihuahua city today. The hearing will last three or four days, it was said.

Three thousand tickets to the trial have been issued by Gen. Manuel M. Dieguez, commander of military operations in Northern Mexico, according to a report brought here tonight by a Chihuahua city newspaper man.

On his arrival at Chihuahua, Gen. Angeles found awaiting him a telegram from Mrs. Angeles, who, with her children, is in New York.

"Whatever may happen to me," the rebel leader is quoted as saying, "I do not have to worry about my family. Mrs. Angeles and the children are provided for."

In a telegram to Gen. Dieguez, Mrs. Angeles asked that her husband be given every necessary attention "so that he will not suffer."

A STRANGE APPEARANCE.

"Angeles presented a strange appearance after his capture," the Chihuahua newspaper man, who interviewed the rebel chieftain in a box car on the way to Chihuahua city last week, said tonight.

"He had two books, 'The Life of Napoleon' and 'The Life of Jesus Christ,' which he had been reading on the train.

"The only other thing he carried was a red blanket. His face was covered with long gray whiskers.

"Angeles told me that when he was captured he had not eaten for six days. On his arrival at Camargo he was given a suit of clothes by order of Gen. Dieguez.

"Two of the three men with Angeles have been executed."

Gen. Gabriel Gavira, former commander of the Juarez district, is head of the military board trying Angeles. Another member is Gen. J. Gonzalo Escobar.

NO DEMONSTRATION.

EL PASO, Nov. 24.—The trial by court-martial of Gen. Felipe Angeles, the Villa leader, who was captured recently near Parral, began today, at Chihuahua city, according to an announcement by Andres G. Garcia, Consul-General at El Paso. No details of the proceedings had reached Mr. Garcia up to a late hour today.

Passengers arriving at Juarez from the Chihuahua capital said there was no hostile demonstration against Angeles when he was brought to the Federal penitentiary from the south and the general belief was that instead of the customary death penalty he would be given a penitentiary sentence.

Strong influences have been brought to bear with carranza government officials to spare the prisoner's life, according to these passengers and the wires into Chi-

TYPHUS RAVAGES SIBERIA.

TOKIO, Nov. 4.—[Correspondence of the Associated Press.] Col. R. B. Teusler of Tokio, the chief of the Siberian American Red Cross forces, arrived here yesterday after two months of active work throughout the whole Siberian field from Vladivostok to the Ural Mountains.

He said that conditions in Siberia are indescribable and that he could not exaggerate in speaking of the fearful state into which practically the whole country has been plunged and which now grows worse daily owing to congestion in all towns and villages and the uncontrollable spread of typhus. The Red Cross, he said, is doing its best against a rising tide of diseases, suffering and death.

TOKIO, Nov. 5.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.) A Sendai dispatch says that late on Sunday night a powder magazine at Akai, Katta district, Miyagi prefecture, was broken into and that two cases of dynamite, each containing fifty charges and 200 percussion caps, were carried off. The discovery has caused a sensation. No clew to the thieves has been found. The authors of the bomb explosion at the Foreign Minister's official residence on the Emperor's birthday are still at large.

TOKIO, Nov. 4.—A dispatch from Amoy, China, to official quarters says that the anti-Japanese group at Amoy was ordered to dissolve by the police authorities on October 10. Consequently, obstacles to the handling of Japanese goods have practically been removed.

LOWER IMPERATOR'S FLAG.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The former Hamburg American liner Imperator, which was held in Germany during the war and later used as an American transport, today was turned over by the United States Shipping Board to the Cunard Line for service between New York and Liverpool. December 10 has been announced as its sailing date.

Brief ceremonies were held on the Hoboken shore, where the vessel has been tied up since August 16. After Capt. R. Grace White, her American commander, had read to the crew the orders turning her over to the Cunard Line, the American flag was lowered and the Inter-Allied flag raised.

As the big vessel moved across the Hudson to the Cunard piers on the Manhattan side, Capt. Charles Appelton Smith, who formerly commanded the Aquitania and Caronia, took his stand on the bridge.

The American merchant marine has expanded from four ships in deep sea commerce before the war to a fleet of 9,772,000 tons in ocean service, according to figures published tonight by the National Marine League. In addition Great Lakes shipping measures 2,000,000 tons, giving a total of 11,772,000 against Great Britain's 15,000,000 tons.

To stimulate interest in the shipping programme with the ultimate object of surpassing England as a maritime nation, a national marine exhibit will be held in Grand Central Palace, April 12 to 17 next year under auspices of the league.

The solution of the problem of distributing foreign goods that will flood this country in payment of debts, without demoralizing American industries, will be one of the big questions before the exhibition, according to August Belmont, chairman of the board of trustees of the league.

Financiers and heads of the nation's largest industrial and commercial bodies are co-operating in plans for the exhibition.

Optimistic Over Peace Treaty Ratification in December.

Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska,

Leader of the administration's forces, is not discouraged, he is telling the Washington correspondents, regarding early approval by his colleagues of the pact of Paris, with the League of Nations covenant included. He believes the voting last Wednesday indicated that the majority of the Senate favors ratification in some form and that before the next session opens a plan of compromise will be worked out that will insure America taking her rightful place alongside the Allies.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Tuesday, Nov. 25.—The British government expects the trial of former Emperor William of Germany to begin in London early in the new year and is completing necessary arrangements, says the Mail, which adds that as soon as the Allies have ratified the treaty a united request for surrender of the erstwhile Emperor will be presented to Holland. "There is no room for doubt the request will be complied with," the newspaper says. Ratification of the treaty is expected confidently in a few weeks.

BLAME COAL STRIKE FOR WAVE OF CRIME.

CHICAGO POLICE SAY DARKENED STREETS INVITE ALL KINDS OF VICIOUSNESS.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—That the strike of the soft coal miners was responsible, in a great degree, for the crime wave which swept over Chicago the past forty-eight hours, was declared by Chief of Police Garrity tonight. The coal conservation plan, put in by the city lighting plant, of cutting off the street arc lights, was the invitation for the thugs to begin operations, said Chief Garrity.

Forty hold-ups, twenty-eight automobile thefts, three pistol battles and numerous safe blowings were reported to the police. Although there were 122 arrests during the same period, including eight men said to be involved in six recent murders, and many more hold-ups, the criminals continue to operate.

The Commonwealth Edison Company announced tonight streets will not be allowed to go dark as a result of the fuel famine and that the company has sufficient coal to carry them until after Christmas, if the mine strike continues.

Police officials believe crime will abate with the turning on again of the street lights.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 24.—An embargo against the shipment of cotton seed was ordered today by the United States Railroad Administration, effective at once, according to advices received today. Cotton seed now in transit will be delivered, it was stated, but no further shipments will be received. This action was declared necessary owing to the shortage of coal.

MAY KEEP AMERICAN DEAD IN WAR GRAVES.

FRENCH AGAINST EXHUMING HEROES FOR A PERIOD OF TWO OR THREE YEARS.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Nov. 24. — The 45,000 American dead in France must be left in the graves they now occupy. The French are ready to exhume their own dead, which, it is believed will be more than 1,922,000. The Foreign Office promised to consider the latest request of the American government for return of its fallen soldiers, but later this official announcement was made:

"It has been definitely decided that the Allies who fell together for the same cause should remain together in death until circumstances permit of the returning of the bodies to the families for whom they sacrificed themselves."

The proposed law forbidding exhumation of the soldier dead for three years did not pass at the last session of the Chamber of Deputies, but the Foreign Office expects it will be adopted soon. This bill specifies a delay in exhumation of three years from promulgation of the law, but it is expected this period will be shortened.

At the Foreign Office it is said to be probable that the exhumation will commence considerably before January, 1922.

Coal to be Cheaper in London.

HITCHCOCK SUMMONED

Treaty Conference Saturday.

President's Message will be Based on Outcome of Conference.

Hays, G.O.P. Leader, Asks Republican Senators to Sound Out Public.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—President Wilson will decide what course he will pursue in regard to the German peace treaty and League of Nations covenant after a conference Saturday with Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, his Senate lieutenant.

It was learned today that the Senator intends to return to Washington from Nebraska Friday night in order to comply with the request of the President and to submit his views on the situation produced by the rejection of the treaty at the session just ended.

The President for several days has been dictating his message to the session of the Congress which begins next Monday. Secretary Tumulty announced that the President's recommendations concerning the treaty would be embodied in this message. It is evident the President desires to hear Senator Hitchcock's views before inditing that part of the message relating to the treaty.

Senator Hitchcock already has disclosed that he will urge the President to reconsider the treaty and seek a compromise with the Republicans on reservations. The mild-reservation Republicans, however, upon whom the administration pins hope of obtaining a compromise, are now insistent that the Lodge reservations be accepted in all essential particulars.

Republican National Chairman Hays has requested Republican Senators and Congressmen to sound public sentiment on the League of Nations fight and other issues during this week's recess of Congress and to report their findings to him before the meeting of the national committee here December 10.

Many Republicans believe a compromise will be effected early in the session and the treaty ratified with reservations. These Republicans prefer to make a campaign on other issues than the treaty and believe greater success will be certain on domestic problems.

All the members of the Committee on Foreign Relations are expected to return to Washington Saturday and conferences on the plan of the committee in regard to the treaty will be called at once.

COLORADO MINERS, 700 STRONG, RETURN.

DENVER, Nov. 24.—Miners employed in the Frederick mine in Weld county returned to work today. They walked out Saturday, alleging discrimination against their union by operators. More than 700 men were involved. Colorado Fuel and Iron Company mines in Fremont county and at Crested Butte continued to remain idle.

RICHMOND (Va.) Nov. 24.—Quiet prevails in Lee county, where recent firing on miners desiring to return to work caused Gov. Davis to call out five companies of State troops. The troops were stopped at Roanoke today, awaiting orders from the Governor, who went to St. Charles, the center of the mining district, to investigate conditions.

Coal operators at St. Charles, according to advices tonight, expressed belief no further disorders were likely.

SHERIDAN (Wyo.) Nov. 24.—Locals of the United Mine Workers of America, throughout the Sheridan district, tonight voted virtually unanimously to return to work tomorrow morning, ending a strike begun today.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—Benjamin Ide Wheeler's successor as president of the University of California was still unnamed tonight when the meeting of the executive committee of the university board of regents was adjourned until tomorrow, it was announced by Ralph P. Merritt, controller of the university.

No definite action was taken on the academic council's request that faculty representatives have a voice in the board of regents' actions. The executive committee recommended that a subcommittee of the regents meet with the academic council to discuss further the faculty request.

Germans Quick to Seize Advantage from Lodge Coup.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Nov. 24.—The withdrawal of the American troops from Coblenz, in occupied Germany, is not considered in American Peace Conference circles as necessary in consequence of the failure of the United States Senate to ratify the German peace treaty. It is contended that the United States is still one of the Allied and associated powers, and that the postponement of final action on the treaty does not change its relation to either the associated powers or to Germany.

NEW NOTE TO GERMANS.

The Supreme Council today decided to send the German delegation here a note in reply to the one submitted by the Germans informing the council of the departure for Berlin of the plenipotentiaries sent in connection with the protocol guaranteeing the carrying out of the armistice terms, which Germany has been informed she will have to sign before the peace treaty is put into effect.

The note's contents, it was announced, will be made public tomorrow.

The sudden departure of the commission headed by Von Simson, delegated by the German government to sign for Germany the protocol guaranteeing enforcement of the peace treaty and to exchange ratifications of the document, is regarded in American peace delegation circles as having close connection with the news of the adjournment of the United States Senate without ratifying the treaty.

The American opinion, however, does not agree with the majority of French criticisms that the Germans are using the failure of the Senate to ratify the treaty as a pretext for avoiding fulfillment of the peace terms. It is suggested that the Germans are hesitating because they are confronted with a situation in which the absence of American members from the commissions charged with supervision of execution of the treaty deprives them of what they are supposed to consider as a counterpoise to the points of view of their former European enemies.

The Supreme Council's note to the German delegation is understood to be a sort of summons to the Germans to make known whether they want to sign the protocol and make the treaty effective or not. It is not understood to be couched as an ultimatum.

TO SIGN BULGAR PACT.

The American delegates to the Peace Conference not having received instructions to the contrary, will sign the Bulgarian peace treaty, unless there are new developments before Thursday. The ceremony, which will be much simpler than those at Versailles and St. Germain, will take place in the Mayor's office at Neuilly. Frank L. Polk, American Undersecretary of State, probably will sign for the United States.

The council received advices from Sir George Clerk, its representative in the negotiations with Hungary, that he would leave Budapest this evening for Paris.

It was announced that the German and Polish plenipotentiaries discussing the question of Danzig would hold meetings in Paris.

GERMANS' WISER VIEW.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BERLIN, Sunday, Nov. 23.—Failure by the United States Senate to ratify the treaty between the Allied powers and Germany is considered the result of partisan politics by Die Zeit.

"We must accustom ourselves to the fact that the peace treaty upon which, for us, life and future depend, is treated in America largely as a political party matter," says the newspaper. "Not because the treaty displeased the Republicans, who were more inimical to Germany than the Democrats, nor because they find the conditions too hard for Germany do they condemn it, but because the Democratic leader signed the treaty and they wish to discredit him and his party in the coming elections.

"It is plain now that President Wilson had no right to act as the protagonist of the League of Nations nor to make promises to the European peoples for the fulfillment of which he was unable to rely even on his own people."

SAYS ALIENS NEED TO STUDY AMERICANISM.

JUDGE TELLS NATURALIZATION PETITIONER TO STOP READING RED TRACTS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DENVER, Nov. 24.—Foreigners should read about Washington and Lincoln and should study the United States constitution and stop agitating, Judge R. E. Lewis in the United States District Court today told an applicant for naturalization whose papers had been held up because of evidence that he might have Bolshevistic tendencies.

"We spilt blood to establish this government and we're going to keep it," the judge continued, as he put the foreigner's application over until March.

An examiner brought out the fact that the applicant for citizenship, Morris Chernoff, a musician, had been known to carry Bolshevist literature in his pockets.

Six alleged members of the Industrial Workers of the World were lodged in the City Jail here tonight following a small riot and raid on local headquarters of the organization by the police.

The police seized a quantity of radical literature, including several hundred copies of "The Blood Clot," a pamphlet advocating direct action.

EXPECT TO ACCEPT EIGHT-HOUR PLANK.

INTERNATIONAL LABOR CONFERENCE READY TO ADOPT IT AS A PRINCIPLE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Consideration of the draft convention proposed by the committee to limit the hours of work in industry to eight hours a day and forty-eight hours a week, was begun today by the International Labor Conference and enough progress made to indicate its adoption probably tomorrow.

The conference adopted the clause, defining the "industrial undertaking" to which the agreement would apply, with an amendment which provided that questions relating to navigation on inland waterways be referred to a special conference.

Opposition to the convention as a whole was expressed by S. R. Parsons, employers' delegate from Canada, who insisted the "general application of the shorter working day would, according to actual experience, greatly lessen production." Now when the government of the country, he said, is calling on manufacturers to increase their output and exports in order to meet heavy national obligations, "nothing should be done which would tend to hinder them in their efforts."

"It is generally recognized," Mr. Parsons said, "that unless the United States accepts similar legislation it would be placing an unfair burden upon Canadian employers and the country at large to be bound by terms of the proposed convention."

Leon Jouhaux, the French labor leader, declared that in voting for the convention the workers had no idea of waiving any of their aspirations, but they would vote for it because it was the first time internationally the principle of the eight-hour-day and the forty-eight-hour week had been affirmed in an assembly where government delegates were present.

The conference admitted Luxembourg to membership.

RUSH ORDER SILVER DOLLARS FOR CHINA.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24. — Large purchases of silver dollars to fill rush orders placed by China were made here today, to be forwarded by the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia, to sail from Vancouver, B. C., November 27, according to foreign trade experts.

This was said to be the first time silver had been shipped to China in coin instead of bullion, and was due to the great haste demanded by the Chinese, and also to the fact that the metal was obtained in this manner at cheaper price than in bullion. T. W. H. Shanahan, superintendent of the mint here, said government purchase today had been made at a new high level of $1.35 an ounce.

REPORTS ON NEW WAY OF MAKING ORDNANCE.

REAR-ADMIRAL EARLE SAYS "RADICAL EXPANSION" SAVES TIME, COST.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24. — A new method of gun construction promises economy in both time and cost, according to Rear-Admiral Ralph Earle, chief of ordnance, whose annual report was made public today.

"Radical expansion," by hydraulic pressure, to obtain the necessary adherent strength, or elasticity, in "built-up" weapons is the basis of the new plan. It will reduce the number of sections in the guns as compared to the "heat-shrinking" process, the report said, and can be applied to guns up to six-inch rifles, but it has not been worked out for heavy weapons.

HAVE ONE-PIECE GUNS.

Experimental four-inch monoblock, or one-piece guns, have proved thoroughly efficient under test, the report said.

Construction of sixteen-inch guns for the remaining ships authorized in the three-year programme, including the six 43,000-ton dreadnaughts and six battle cruisers, is being speeded up, the report said.

To supply the new ships, it was said, increased facilities for torpedo construction will be needed and every effort to increase the "destructive force and range" of the torpedo also will be made.

BETTER FIRE CONTROL.

Improved fire control apparatus, based on experience gained in the war, will make the United States Navy the equal in this equipment of any in the world, the report said.

Cancellation of naval ordnance contracts after the armistice has cut off, expenditures of $160,000,000, it was said, of the total $565,278,000 in orders placed from July 1, 1918. An additional $7,000,000 is said to be saved through adjustments.

BOLSHEVIK OFFICIAL ARRIVES IN DENMARK.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 24.—Maxim Litvinoff, Undersecretary of Foreign Affairs of soviet Russia, will arrive in Copenhagen tomorrow noon on a British destroyer. Many Bolshevists from other parts of Scandinavia today arrived in Copenhagen.

The editor of the Swedish Bolshevik paper, Folketsdagblad, Fredrik Stroem, this evening arrived on the Elsinore, but was stopped by the Danish secret service. His intention was to see Litvinoff for the purpose of exchanging civilian Swedish prisoners with soviet Russia, and arranging to send food to Russia. The police, however, sent him back. He has sent a telegram to the Socialist Minister complaining to him of his treatment by the Danish police.

TAFT ASKS FOR NATION'S RULE.

Objects to Willful Minority Domination.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—An appeal for settlement of difficulties over the peace treaty that will permit ratification of the treaty at the earliest possible moment after the Senate reconvenes, December 1, has been issued by the League to Enforce Peace. William Howard Taft, president of the league, presided at a special meeting of the league's Executive Committee held at the Bush Terminal Sales Building. Other members of the Executive Committee present were Edward A. Filene, Henry W. Taft, Herbert S. Houston, John Bates Clark, Thomas Raeburn White, Hamilton Holt, Theodore Marburg, William H. Short, Herbert C. Hoover, formerly Food Administrator, attended the meeting by invitation and took part in the discussion. The meeting issued the following statement:

"Save the peace treaty!

"The defeat of ratification has been received by the country with surprise and indignation. The people want peace. They want peace and they want a League of Nations to guard the peace. Whose name it bears, which party brand it wears, they care not at all. They longed for and expected ratification before adjournment of the Senate.

"The making of peace is no more a party question than was the making of war. The American people, without regard to party, stood behind the war until the day of victory. With like unanimity they now stand behind the treaty.

RULE OF MINORITY?

"Shall the small minority who oppose a League of Nations in any form defeat ratification? Shall fifteen Senators decide where America shall stand in this world crisis? Eighty Senators have shown by their votes that they favor the great principle of the League of Nations. The fate of the treaty rests in their hands. They have the votes. They have the power. Theirs is the responsibility. They must get together.

"The failure to ratify the peace treaty has encouraged social unrest both home and abroad. Europe must have supplies or it will face starvation and anarchy this winter. Our farmers, cotton planters, livestock raisers and manufacturers have large surplus production which they can market only in Europe. The rates of exchange already demonstrate the collapse of many national credits. These credits, resting upon commerce and international securities, are the foundation of our continued prosperity and are vital to the maintenance of order and life in Europe.

THE PEOPLE'S PROBLEM.

"Men and women of America, this is your problem. Your interests, your welfare, the honor and the future of your country are involved. Your will is the supreme command for the men in Washington intrusted by your votes with guiding the nation along the paths of peace and victory.

"The Allied nations established during the war a practical union, which is being succeeded by the League of Nations. To refuse to join this league, is to lose numberless benefits and to invite the development of a league that will be hostile to us in feeling and policy. The League of Nations gives promise of a world co-operating for the purposes of peace and protecting itself by concerted action against war and the threat of war. The ideal is American.

ARE SACRIFICES VAIN?

"The men and women who gladly dedicated their sons and their substance to the cause of obtaining peace through the defeat of the German menace refuse to believe that they have made an empty sacrifice. They demand that the Senators harmonize their differences. Refusal to do so will defy and betray the people of this country by whom they were elected and to whom they must answer.

"The treaty should be ratified at the earliest possible moment after the Senate reconvenes on December 1. In the name of thousands of Americans who have died to bring peace and end war and of millions of Americans who have toiled and sacrificed to that end, we call upon the Senate to forget prejudice and partisanship and agree upon a resolution of ratification couched in terms that will permit the other signatories of the treaty to acquiesce in the conditions of our ratification.

"Save the peace treaty. Let us have peace."

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, Nov. 24.—Departure of Von Simson and his commission, including all the experts and attaches, has created a great surprise in Peace Conference circles, and fears are being expressed that the Germans may refuse to agree to surrender 400,000 tons of dry docks, floating cranes, tugs and lighters as reparations for the fleet sunk at Scapa Flow, as the protocol provides.

It is pointed out the Allies have no leverage to apply on Germany except that the French can refuse to repatriate 200,000 German prisoners of war, who still remain in French prison camps.

It is tacitly agreed among the Allies that the blockade could not be re-established against Germany, and there is no thought of trying to advance beyond the Rhine and to occupy more of the fatherland, especially as American forces could not be used in such an advance.

The Allied commission met the German protocol delegates on Thursday, last, and had a meeting arranged for tomorrow, but this morning the Supreme Council received a note from Von Lersner announcing the delegation had returned to Berlin.

NEW EXPORT FREIGHT RATES FOR MID-WEST.

READJUSTED TARIFFS PUT SOUTHERN PORTS ON SAME BASIS AS NEW YORK.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 24.—Readjustment of export freight rates affecting thousands of shippers and said to be of prime importance to southern ports and the Mississippi Valley, were announced at the general offices of the Southern Railroad today.

The new tariff, which, in effect, will grant the same rates to southern ports as those enjoyed by New York from territory north of the Ohio River, from the Ohio-Pennsylvania State line to the Mississippi River, go into effect to South Atlantic ports December 1, and to Gulf ports December 31.

The new arrangement is expected, according to the announcement, aside from relieving congestion at the port of New York, to expedite export shipments to Latin-America, Asia and Europe. It also will make it possible, the statement claims, for the United States Shipping Board to allocate more of its vessels to South Atlantic and Gulf ports. These ships, the announcement says, largely have been assigned to routes out of New York because of the necessity of moving the great concentration of export tonnage from that port.

The concentration was due, it was recited, to the differential inland rates in favor of New York. With publication of the new tariffs it is expected this concentration will be greatly relieved.

McADOO CALLS COAL PRICE HIGH ENOUGH.

SAYS OPERATORS' PROFITS SHOW INCREASE WOULD BE UNFAIR TO CONSUMERS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Soft coal mine owners made "shocking and indefensible" profits in 1917 and there is "grave doubt" that they are entitled to increased prices because of the proposed 31 per cent. increase in miners' wages, William G. McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, declared today in a telegram to Federal Fuel Administrator Garfield. The owners' profits, as shown by their income tax returns, examined by him as Secretary of the Treasury in 1918, he said, showed earnings on capital stock ranging from 15 to 2000 per cent.

APPROVES WAGE RATE.

"I am convinced that the wage increases proposed for the mine workers are just and reasonable," he stated.

"Before deduction of excess profits taxes—which were less in 1917 than now—these income-tax returns showed that earnings of 100 to 300 per cent. on capital stock were not uncommon," Mr. McAdoo's telegram asserted.

Referring to the bituminous mine owners' income-tax returns for 1918, which he said he had not seen, the telegram said:

"If they disclose any such profits as earned by the bituminous coal operators in 1917, it would be a grave wrong to permit the operators to take from the public additional profits in the form of increased prices for bituminous coal."

PROTEST FOR CONSUMERS.

Mr. McAdoo urged that no increase in prices of coal to consumers be allowed and that the income-tax returns of the soft coal mine owners be made heavier.

NO BIG JUNKET FOR FINANCE DELEGATES.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Delegates to the Pan-American financial conference, which will meet here January 12, will not be taken over the country in a body, but business organizations in the various industrial centers will be asked to invite groups with which they might like to confer.

This plan was agreed upon today at a preliminary meeting called to map out an entertainment programme for the conference. It was felt that the greatest commercial good could be reached by this method, experience having shown, it was said, that elaborate banquets and entertainments seldom resulted in constructive action.

WALES WIRES THANKS FOR FINE TIME HERE.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24. — Replying to a farewell message from Secretary Lansing, the Prince of Wales sent a dispatch from his ship today saying he could not thank this government enough for its kindness and hospitality.

"I am greatly touched," the Prince said, in part, "by the kindness of your farewell telegram on behalf of the government of the United States. This visit has been for me a delightful experience which I will never forget. I cannot thank the American nation and the American government enough for the kindness and hospitality which have been shown me in such generous measure wherever I have gone."

In his parting message to the Prince, Mr. Lansing expressed the hope that he would carry away memories as agreeable as those he left behind.

PROTEST SWISS MOVE IN VORARLBERG CASE.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

VIENNA, Sunday, Nov. 23.—Reports have been received to the effect that the Swiss government has altered its position regarding admission of the province of Vorarlberg to the federation. The Vienna government, in consequence, has issued a protest against such a movement. It declares that it will protest to its utmost against any alterations in the boundaries of the territory as laid down by the peace terms. If this is done, it adds, it would relieve Austria of all responsibilities under the treaty.

that the Mexican Cabinet had the note under consideration Friday and that Gov. Cabrera of Puebla was called in from Puebla for report."

EXPECT A REFUSAL.

A dispatch bearing on the Jenkins case was received yesterday at the Mexican Embassy and it was assumed that this was Mexico's reply. While there has been no indication as to Mexico's attitude, a refusal to release the consular agent would not come as a surprise.

The American demand was delivered to the Mexican Foreign Office last Wednesday, but as late as last Friday, Jenkins still was held at Puebla and so far as the State Department has been advised, he has not been released.

LANSING DOES NOT ACT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24. — The State Department received no information today as to when an answer might be expected from Mexico.

Although Secretary of State Lansing had admitted that today would be regarded as the end of the reasonable time to be allowed Carranza to comply with the American demand, there was no sign of the administration fulfilling its threat to take aggressive action against the Mexican government. If no reply is forthcoming tomorrow morning the steps to be taken to bring Carranza to time will be considered by the Cabinet, over which Secretary Lansing will preside.

BASIS FOR PROTEST.

While no immunity from arrest attaches to consular positions, it was said at the State Department that confinement of a consular official is in itself sufficient ground for protest, in that it interferes with the performance of official duties. That view would serve to remove Jenkins from the category in which he is said to be considered by the Mexican authorities of a resident foreign citizen, subject to the same treatment as any other foreigner under Mexican law.

Ygnacio Bonillas, the Mexican Ambassador, discussing the present critical situation between this country and Mexico, in an interview today, expressed surprise at the attitude of the United States government in the peremptory demand, virtually amounting to an ultimatum, made to the Mexican government for the immediate release of Jenkins from confinement on the charge of connivance at his kidnaping by Mexican bandits and release upon payment of $150,000 ransom. Ambassador Bonillas said that while he had received no information from his government upon the latest developments of the case, he felt that the Mexican government could not take action in the matter until the results of the inquiry at present being made by the judicial authorities were made known.

BONILLAS'S STATEMENT.

The Ambassador stated that inasmuch as no special prerogatives or diplomatic immunities accrued to Jenkins by reason of his consular position, he would be bound to the same treatment accorded any other foreign citizen under the Mexican laws, and that, such being the case, there could be no ground for claim that he should be exempted from confinement by the authorities until the charges against him should be either sustained or found unwarranted.

According to Ambassador Bonillas, the Jenkins case is not different from many cases of Mexican citizens confined in American jails who are often, he said, held for several weeks before their cases are heard. Such cases are constantly being brought to the attention of the embassy, he said, yet the Mexican government, realising that the process of law must be complied with, has not demanded their release.

GOSSIP IS REPEATED.

Although the Mexican Embassy here has not been informed officially of the reason for the arrest and confinement of Jenkins, the action is understood to have been taken on the ground that Jenkins was alleged to have had breakfast at his hacienda a few days after his release with the two bandits that kidnaped him. His wife and the foreman of his farm are said to have been present together with several of the farm laborers. It is said that Jenkins gave each of the bandits ten pesos in gold at their departure, and warned his foreman and other workmen to make no mention of the meeting.

Rebel activity in Mexico is increasing, according to advices from Mexico City today. Trains are wrecked, train crews and passengers robbed, and the military force assigned to each train is often inadequate to suppress the rebel bands that dogginate the trains. The rolling stock of the railways is being reduced in this way until there are now not enough trains to run on schedule on any line.

DYNAMITE TRAINS.

Last Saturday week rebels dynamited a train on the Vera Cruz and Isthmus line, four people being killed and many wounded. Several well-known planters who were on the train are missing and it is feared that they have been kidnaped to be held for ransom. The military force on the train fled into the hills. This conduct of the train military guards is so common that it has evoked criticism. It was on this line that Edward Freeman Welles, said to be a cousin of President Wilson, was killed five years ago, and for whose death his widow recently asked the State Department to collect an indemnity promised by Carranza, but which was never paid.

AMERICAN BEATEN BY JAPS

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PEKING, Thursday, Nov. 20.—(Delayed.) Many Chinese and an American Y.M.C.A. secretary were injured in the recent clashes between Chinese and Japanese at Foo Chow, according to information received by government officials here.

The advices to the government regarding the Foo Chow disturbances say that on Sunday, last, Japanese entered a meeting place of Chinese students who were advocating the promotion of native industries. The Japanese, it is alleged, attacked the students, took one prisoner and strung him up and flogged him.

BROUGHT IN BOX CAR.

When Angeles arrived in Chihuahua city from Parral he was under guard in a box car. Gen. M. M. Diegues had arrived at the station in his special train a few minutes earlier.

Thousands were at the station to meet him, but there was no demonstration. Angeles was placed in an automobile between two officers and taken to the penitentiary.

Angeles was dressed in a badly-worn khaki uniform. His face was drawn and showed the effects of exposure.

Angeles, in a box car, was guarded by a number of soldiers of the Forty-eighth Battalion and five members of the "defensa sociales" of Valle de Los Olivos, the latter being the actual captors.

CROWD KEPT BACK.

The crowd was kept back by a double line of soldiers of the Sixty-second Battalion and the Third Regiment of Artillery.

Maj. Gapino Sandoval, Jefe of the "defensa sociale" party which made the capture, was a conspicuous figure.

Explaining how the capture had been made November 15 in the Sierra de Las Mesas, he said it had been accomplished after a long and fatiguing pursuit.

It is reported as a reward for their services in helping to pacify the State, Sandoval and his four soldiers would receive from Gov. Ortiz a prize of 15,000 pesos each and that Sandoval would be promoted to lieutenant-colonel.

One of the Villistas captured with Angeles, Jose Munoz, who was held responsible for several crimes committed in months previous in San Pablos de Ballesa and vicinity, was executed at Camargo.

America Still Ally Despite Senate Action; Troops Stay in Coblenz.

RELATIONS ARE NOT AFFECTED.

Hope of Peace Conference is in December Session.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Nov. 24.—The withdrawal of the American troops from Coblenz, in occupied Germany, is not considered in American Peace Conference circles as necessary in consequence of the failure of the United States Senate to ratify the German peace treaty. It is contended that the United States is still one of the Allied and associated powers, and that the postponement of final action on the treaty does not change its relation to either the associated powers or to Germany.

NEW NOTE TO GERMANS.

The Supreme Council today decided to send the German delegation here a note in reply to the one submitted by the Germans informing the council of the departure for Berlin of the plenipotentiaries sent in connection with the protocol guaranteeing the carrying out of the armistice terms, which Germany has been informed she will have to sign before the peace treaty is put into effect.

The note's contents, it was announced, will be made public tomorrow.

The sudden departure of the commission headed by Von Simson, delegated by the German government to sign for Germany the protocol guaranteeing enforcement of the peace treaty and to exchange ratifications of the document, is regarded in American peace delegation circles as having close connection with the news of the adjournment of the United States Senate without ratifying the treaty.

The American opinion, however, does not agree with the majority of French criticisms that the Germans are using the failure of the Senate to ratify the treaty as a pretext for avoiding fulfillment of the peace terms. It is suggested that the Germans are hesitating because they are confronted with a situation in which the absence of American members from the commissions charged with supervision of execution of the treaty deprives them of what they are supposed to consider as a counterpoise to the points of view of their former European enemies.

The Supreme Council's note to the German delegation is understood to be a sort of summons to the Germans to make known whether they want to sign the protocol and make the treaty effective or not. It is not understood to be couched as an ultimatum.

TO SIGN BULGAR PACT.

The American delegates to the Peace Conference not having received instructions to the contrary, will sign the Bulgarian peace treaty, unless there are new developments before Thursday. The ceremony, which will be much simpler than those at Versailles and St. Germain, will take place in the Mayor's office at Neuilly. Frank L. Polk, American Undersecretary of State, probably will sign for the United States.

The council received advices from Sir George Clerk, its representative in the negotiations with Hungary, that he would leave Budapest this evening for Paris.

It was announced that the German and Polish plenipotentiaries discussing the question of Danzig would hold meetings in Paris.

GERMANS' WISH VIEW.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BERLIN, Sunday, Nov. 23.—Following the ratification by the United States Senate of the treaty between the Allied powers and Germany is considered the result of partisan politics by Die Zeit.

"We must accustom ourselves to the fact that the peace treaty upon which, for us, life and future depend, is treated in America largely as a political party matter," says the newspaper. "Not because the treaty displeased the Republicans, who were more inimical to Germany than the Democrats, nor because they find the conditions too hard for Germany do they condemn it, but because the Democratic leader signed the treaty and they wish to discredit him and his party in the coming elections.

"It is plain now that President Wilson had no right to set up the protagonist of the League of Nations nor to make promises to the European peoples for the fulfillment of which he was unable to rely even on his own people."

SAYS ALIENS NEED TO STUDY AMERICANISM.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DENVER, Nov. 24.—Foreigners should read about Washington and Lincoln and should study the United States constitution and stop agitating, Judge R. E. Lewis in the United States District Court today told an applicant for naturalization whose papers had been held up because of evidence that he might have Bolshevistic tendencies.

"We spilt blood to establish this government and we're going to keep it," the judge continued, as he put the foreigner's application over until March.

An examiner brought out the fact that the applicant for citizenship, Morris Chernoff, a musician, had been known to carry Bolshevist literature in his pockets.

Six alleged members of the Industrial Workers of the World were lodged in the City Jail here tonight following a small riot and raid on local headquarters of the organization by the police.

The police seized a quantity of radical literature, including several hundred copies of "The Blood Clot," a pamphlet advocating direct action.

INTERNATIONAL LABOR CONFERENCE READY TO ADOPT IT AS A PRINCIPLE.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Consideration of the draft convention proposed by the committee to limit the hours of work in industry to eight hours a day and forty-eight hours a week, was begun today by the International Labor Conference and enough progress made to indicate its adoption probably tomorrow.

The conference adopted the clause, defining the "industrial undertaking" to which the agreement would apply, with an amendment which provided that questions relating to navigation on inland waterways be referred to a special conference.

Opposition to the convention as a whole was expressed by S. R. Parsons, employers' delegate from Canada, who insisted the "general application of the shorter working day would, according to actual experience, greatly lessen production." Now when the government of the country, he said, is calling on manufacturers to increase their output and exports in order to meet heavy national obligations, "nothing should be done which would tend to hinder them in their efforts."

"It is generally recognized," Mr. Parsons said, "that unless the United States accepts similar legislation it would be placing an unfair burden upon Canadian employers and the country at large to be bound by terms of the proposed convention."

Leon Jouhaux, the French labor leader, declared that in voting for the convention the workers had no idea of waiving any of their aspirations, but they would vote for it because it was the first time internationally the principle of the eight-hour-day and the forty-eight-hour week had been affirmed in an assembly where government delegates were present.

The conference admitted Luxembourg to membership.

RUSH ORDER SILVER DOLLARS FOR CHINA.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24. — Large purchases of silver dollars to fill rush orders placed by China were made here today, to be forwarded by the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia, to sail from Vancouver, B. C., November 27, according to foreign trade experts.

This was said to be the first time silver had been shipped to China in coin instead of bullion, and was due to the great haste demanded by the Chinese, and also to the fact that the metal was obtained in this manner at cheaper price than in bullion. T. W. H. Shanahan, superintendent of the mint here, said government purchase today had been made at a new high level of $1.35 an ounce.

REPORTS ON NEW WAY OF MAKING ORDNANCE.

REAR-ADMIRAL EARLE SAYS "RADICAL EXPANSION" SAVES TIME, COST.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24. — A new method of gun construction promises economy in both time and cost, according to Rear-Admiral Ralph Earle, chief of ordnance, whose annual report was made public today.

"Radical expansion," by hydraulic pressure, to obtain the necessary adherent strength, or elasticity, in "built-up" weapons is the basis of the new plan. It will reduce the number of sections in the guns as compared to the shrink-shrinking process, the report said, and can be applied to guns up to six-inch rifles, but it has not been worked out for heavy weapons.

HAVE ONE-PIECE GUNS.

Experimental four-inch monoblock, or one-piece guns, have proved thoroughly efficient under test, the report said.

Construction of sixteen-inch guns for the remaining ships authorized in the three-year programme, including the six 43,000-ton dreadnaughts and six battle cruisers, is being speeded up, the report said.

To supply the new ships, it was said, increased facilities for torpedo construction will be needed and every effort to increase the "destructive force and range" of the torpedo also will be made.

BETTER FIRE CONTROL.

Improved fire control apparatus, based on experience gained in the war, will make the United States Navy the equal in this equipment of any in the world, the report said.

Cancellation of naval ordnance contracts after the armistice has cut off expenditures of $160,000,000, it was said, of the total $663,275,000 in orders placed from July 1, 1918. An additional $7,000,000 is said to be saved through adjustments.

BOLSHEVIK OFFICIAL ARRIVES IN DENMARK.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 24.—Maxim Litvinoff, Undersecretary of Foreign Affairs of soviet Russia, will arrive in Copenhagen tomorrow noon on a British destroyer. Many Bolshevists from other parts of Scandinavia today arrived in Copenhagen.

The editor of the Swedish Bolshevik paper, Folketsdagblad, Fredrik Stroem, this evening arrived on the Elsinore, but was stopped by the Danish secret service. His intention was to see Litvinoff for the purpose of exchanging civilian Swedish prisoners with soviet Russia, and arranging to send food to Russia. The police, however, sent him back. He has sent a telegram to the Socialist Minister complaining to him of his treatment by the Danish police.

The presentation will be made in Washington next week.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—An appeal for settlement of difficulties over the peace treaty that will permit ratification of the treaty at the earliest possible moment after the Senate reconvenes, December 1, has been issued by the League to Enforce Peace. William Howard Taft, president of the league, presided at a special meeting of the league's Executive Committee held at the Bush Terminal Sales Building. Other members of the Executive Committee present were Edward A. Filene, Henry W. Taft, Herbert S. Houston, John Bates Clark, Thomas Raeburn White, Hamilton Holt, Theodore Marburg, William H. Short, Herbert C. Hoover, formerly Food Administrator, attended the meeting by invitation and took part in the discussion. The meeting issued the following statement:

"Save the peace treaty!

"The defeat of ratification has been received by the country with surprise and indignation. The people want peace. They want peace and they want a League of Nations to guard the peace. Whose name it bears, which party brand it wears, they care not at all. They longed for and expected ratification before adjournment of the Senate.

"The making of peace is no more a party question than was the making of war. The American people, without regard to party, stood behind the war until the day of victory. With like unanimity they now stand behind the treaty.

RULE OF MINORITY?

"Shall the small minority who oppose a League of Nations in any form defeat ratification? Shall fifteen Senators decide where America shall stand in this world crisis? Eighty Senators have shown by their votes that they favor the great principle of the League of Nations. The fate of the treaty rests in their hands. They have the votes. They have the power. Theirs is the responsibility. They must get together.

"The failure to ratify the peace treaty has encouraged social unrest both home and abroad. Europe must have supplies or it will face starvation and anarchy this winter. Our farmers, cotton planters, livestock raisers and manufacturers have large surplus production which they can market only in Europe. The rates of exchange already demonstrate the collapse of many national credits. These credits, resting upon commerce and international securities, are the foundation of our continued prosperity and are vital to the maintenance of order and life in Europe.

THE PEOPLE'S PROBLEM.

"Men and women of America, this is your problem. Your interests, your welfare, the honor and the future of your country are involved. Your will is the supreme command for the men in Washington intrusted by your votes with guiding the nation along the paths of peace and victory.

"The Allied nations established during the war a practical union, which is being succeeded by the League of Nations. To refuse to join this league, is to lose numberless benefits and to invite the development of a league that will be hostile to us in feeling and policy. The League of Nations gives promise of a world co-operating for the purposes of peace and protecting itself by concerted action against war and the threat of war. The ideal is American.

ARE SACRIFICES VAIN?

"The men and women who gladly dedicated their sons and their substance to the cause of obtaining peace through the defeat of the German menace refuse to believe that they have made an empty sacrifice. They demand that the Senators harmonize their differences. Refusal to do so will defy and betray the people of this country by whom they were elected and to whom they must answer.

"The treaty should be ratified at the earliest possible moment after the Senate reconvenes on December 1. In the name of thousands of Americans who have died to bring peace and end war and of millions of Americans who have toiled and sacrificed to that end, we call upon the Senate to forget prejudice and partisanship and agree upon a resolution of ratification couched in terms that will permit the other signatories of the treaty to acquiesce in the conditions of our ratification.

"Save the peace treaty. Let us have peace."

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, Nov. 24.—Departure of Von Simson and his commission, including all the experts and attaches, has created a great surprise in Peace Conference circles, and fears are being expressed that the Germans may refuse to agree to surrender 400,000 tons of dry docks, floating cranes, tugs and lighters as reparations for the fleet sunk at Scapa Flow, as the protocol provides.

It is pointed out the Allies have no leverage to apply on Germany except that the French can refuse to repatriate 200,000 German prisoners of war, who still remain in French prison camps.

It is tacitly agreed among the Allies that the blockade could not be re-established against Germany, and there is no thought of trying to advance beyond the Rhine and to occupy more of the fatherland, especially as American forces could not be used in such an advance.

The Allied commission met the German protocol delegates on Thursday, last, and had a meeting arranged for tomorrow, but this morning the Supreme Council received a note from Von Lersner announcing the delegation had returned to Berlin.

NEW EXPORT FREIGHT RATES FOR MID-WEST.

READJUSTED TARIFFS PUT SOUTHERN PORTS ON SAME BASIS AS NEW YORK.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 24.—Readjustment of export freight rates affecting thousands of shippers and said to be of prime importance to southern ports and the Mississippi Valley, were announced at the general offices of the Southern Railroad today.

The new tariff, which, in effect, will grant the same rates to southern ports as those enjoyed by New York from territory north of the Ohio River, from the Ohio-Pennsylvania State line to the Mississippi River, go into effect to South Atlantic ports December 1, and to Gulf ports December 31.

The new arrangement is expected, according to the announcement, aside from relieving congestion at the port of New York, to expedite export shipments to Latin-America, Asia and Europe. It also will make it possible, the statement claims, for the United States Shipping Board to allocate more of its vessels to South Atlantic and Gulf ports. These ships, the announcement says, largely have been assigned to routes out of New York because of the necessity of moving the great concentration of export tonnage from that port.

The concentration was due, it was recited, to the differential inland rates in favor of New York. With publication of the new tariffs it is expected this concentration will be greatly relieved.

McADOO CALLS COAL PRICE HIGH ENOUGH.

SAYS OPERATORS' PROFITS SHOW INCREASE WOULD BE UNFAIR TO CONSUMERS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Soft coal mine owners made "shocking and indefensible" profits in 1917 and there is "grave doubt" that they are entitled to increased prices because of the proposed $1 per cent. increase in miners' wages, William G. McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, declared today in a telegram to Federal Fuel Administrator Garfield. The owners' profits, as shown by their income tax returns, examined by him as Secretary of the Treasury in 1918, he said, showed earnings on capital stock ranging from 15 to 2000 per cent.

APPROVES WAGE RATE.

"I am convinced that the wage increases proposed for the mine workers are just and reasonable," he stated.

"Before deduction of excess profits taxes—which were less in 1917 than now—these income-tax returns showed that earnings of 100 to 300 per cent. on capital stock were not uncommon," Mr. McAdoo's telegram asserted.

Referring to the bituminous mine owners' income-tax returns for 1918, which he said he had not seen, the telegram said:

"If they disclose any such profits as earned by the bituminous coal operators in 1917, it would be a grave wrong to permit the operators to take from the public additional profits in the form of increased prices for bituminous coal."

PROTEST FOR CONSUMERS.

Mr. McAdoo urged that no increase in prices of coal to consumers be allowed and that the income-tax returns of the soft coal mine owners be made heavier.

NO BIG JUNKET FOR FINANCE DELEGATES.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Delegates to the Pan-American financial conference, which will meet here January 12, will not be taken over the country in a body, but business organizations in the various industrial centers will be asked to invite groups with which they might like to confer.

This plan was agreed upon today at a preliminary meeting called to map out an entertainment programme for the conference. It was felt that the greatest commercial good could be reached by this method, experience having shown, it was said, that elaborate banquets and entertainments seldom resulted in constructive action.

WALES WIRES THANKS FOR FINE TIME HERE.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24. — Replying to a farewell message from Secretary Lansing, the Prince of Wales sent a dispatch from his ship today saying he could not thank this government enough for its kindness and hospitality.

"I am greatly touched," the Prince said, in part, "by the kindness of your farewell telegram on behalf of the government of the United States. This visit has been for me a delightful experience which I will never forget. I cannot thank the American nation and the American government enough for the kindness and hospitality which have been shown me in such generous measure wherever I have gone."

In his parting message to the Prince, Mr. Lansing expressed the hope that he would carry away memories as agreeable as those he left behind.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

VIENNA, Sunday, Nov. 23.—Reports have been received to the effect that the Swiss government has altered its position regarding admission of the province of Vorariberg to the federation. The Vienna government, in consequence, has issued a protest against such a movement. It declares that it will protest to its utmost against any alterations in the boundaries of the territory as laid down by the peace terms. If this is done, it adds, it would relieve Austria of all responsibilities under the treaty.

that the Mexican Cabinet had the note under consideration Friday and that Gov. Cabrera of Puebla was called in from Puebla for report."

EXPECT A REFUSAL.

A dispatch bearing on the Jenkins case was received yesterday at the Mexican Embassy and it was assumed that this was Mexico's reply. While there has been no indication as to Mexico's attitude, a refusal to release the consular agent would not come as a surprise.

The American demand was delivered to the Mexican Foreign Office last Wednesday, but as late as last Friday, Jenkins still was held at Puebla and so far as the State Department has been advised, he has not been released.

LANSING DOES NOT ACT.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24. — The State Department received no information today as to when an answer might be expected from Mexico.

Although Secretary of State Lansing had admitted that today would be regarded as the end of the reasonable time to be allowed Carranza to comply with the American demand, there was no sign of the administration fulfilling its threat to take aggressive action against the Mexican government. If no reply is forthcoming tomorrow morning the steps to be taken to bring Carranza to time will be considered by the Cabinet, over which Secretary Lansing will preside.

BASIS FOR PROTEST.

While no immunity from arrest attaches to consular positions, it was said at the State Department that confinement of a consular official is in itself sufficient ground for protest, in that it interferes with the performance of official duties. That view would serve to remove Jenkins from the category in which he is said to be considered by the Mexican authorities of a resident foreign citizen, subject to the same treatment as any other foreigner under Mexican law.

Ygnacio Bonillas, the Mexican Ambassador, discussing the present critical situation between this country and Mexico, in an interview today, expressed surprise at the attitude of the United States government in the peremptory demand, virtually amounting to an ultimatum, made to the Mexican government for the immediate release of Jenkins from confinement on the charge of connivance at his kidnaping by Mexican bandits and release upon payment of $150,000 ransom. Ambassador Bonillas said that while he had received no information from his government upon the latest developments of the case, he felt that the Mexican government could not take action in the matter until the results of the inquiry at present being made by the judicial authorities were made known.

BONILLAS'S STATEMENT.

The Ambassador stated that inasmuch as no special prerogatives or diplomatic immunities accrued to Jenkins by reason of his consular position, he would be bound to the same treatment accorded any other foreign citizen under the Mexican laws, and that, such being the case, there could be no ground for claim that he should be exempted from confinement by the authorities until the charges against him should be either sustained or found unwarranted.

According to Ambassador Bonillas, the Jenkins case is not different from many cases of Mexican citizens confined in American jails who are often, he said, held for several weeks before their cases are heard. Such cases are constantly being brought to the attention of the embassy, he said, yet the Mexican government, realizing that the process of law must be complied with, has not demanded their release.

GOSSIP IS REPEATED.

Although the Mexican Embassy here has not been informed officially of the reason for the arrest and confinement of Jenkins, the action is understood to have been taken on the ground that Jenkins was alleged to have had breakfast at his hacienda a few days after his release with the two bandits that kidnaped him. His wife and the foreman of his farm are said to have been present together with several of the farm laborers. It is said that Jenkins gave each of the bandits ten pesos in gold at their departure, and warned his foreman and other workmen to make no mention of the meeting.

Rebel activity in Mexico is increasing, according to advices from Mexico City today. Trains are wrecked, train crews and passengers robbed, and the military force assigned to each train is often inadequate to suppress the rebel bands that dominate the trains. The rolling stock of the railways is being reduced in this way until there are now not enough trains to run on schedule on any line.

DYNAMITE TRAINS.

Last Saturday week rebels dynamited a train on the Vera Cruz and Isthmus line, four people being killed and many wounded. Several well-known planters who were on the train are missing and it is feared that they have been kidnaped to be held for ransom. The military force on the train fled into the hills. This conduct of the train military guards is so common that it has evoked criticism. It was on this line that Edward Freeman Welles, said to be a cousin of President Wilson, was killed five years ago, and for whose death his widow recently asked the State Department to collect an indemnity promised by Carranza, but which was never paid.

PEKING, Thursday, Nov. 20.—(Delayed.) Many Chinese and an American Y.M.C.A. secretary were injured in the recent clashes between Chinese and Japanese at Foo Chow, according to information received by government officials here.

BROUGHT IN BOX CAR.

When Angeles arrived in Chihuahua city from Parral he was under guard in a box car. Gen. M. M. Dieguez had arrived at the station in his special train a few minutes earlier.

Thousands were at the station to meet him, but there was no demonstration. Angeles was placed in an automobile between two officers and taken to the penitentiary.

Angeles was dressed in a badly-worn khaki uniform. His face was drawn and showed the effects of exposure.

Angeles, in a box car, was guarded by a number of soldiers of the Forty-eighth Battalion and five members of the "defensa sociales" of Valle de Los Olivos, the latter being the actual captors.

CROWD KEPT BACK.

The crowd was kept back by a double line of soldiers of the Sixty-second Battalion and the Third Regiment of Artillery.

Maj. Gapino Sandoval, Jefe of the "defensa sociale" party which made the capture, was a conspicuous figure.

Explaining how the capture had been made November 15 in the Sierra de Las Moras, he said it had been accomplished after a long and fatiguing pursuit.

It is reported as a reward for their services in helping to pacify the State, Sandoval and his four soldiers would receive from Gov. Oritis a prize of 15,000 pesos each and that Sandoval would be promoted to lieutenant-colonel.

One of the Villistas captured with Angeles, Jose Munos, who was held responsible for several crimes committed in months previous in San Pablos de Balleza and vicinity, was executed at Camargo.

UNITED AMERICANS, ORGANIZING IN PHOENIX, DEC. 4, WAR ON BOLSHEVISM.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Nov. 24.—Gov. Campbell and former Gov. Manager John C. Greenway of the Calumet and Arizona Copper Company, and Fred Adams, a printer, were chosen to represent the State at a meeting in Washington December 3, of the national committee executive committee, which is to be thoroughly organized.

OPEN-SHOP RAIDS.

Retaliatory measures are being taken against the Phoenix Chamber of Commerce and other organizations that are attempting to establish closed-shop demands. The Chamber of Commerce and two largest electrical firms have announced they would operate their plants after an open-shop basis. Officials maintain that the union men who have defected have not kept agreements and finish work already contracted for, and that they are soliciting business on their own account, and that employers have been given no protection or justice. The statement says that employers is called on to "demand justice and self-protection" and that though it affects many who have been with them for years, the larger Phoenix business men have declared for the open shop and announce formation of a chamber of commerce exchange for mutual benefit.

He pointed out that putting the men to work was necessarily a slow operation and said there were many applications on hand and that the applicants were being employed as rapidly as possible.

Heads of San Francisco shipyards today claimed that results of their attempt to reopen the plants despite the strike of union shipyard workers were "very encouraging."

The shipyards reopened, thousands of men returned to work and no disorders were reported. Large crowds of strikers gathered about the entrances to the larger shipyards to observe with what success their reopening was attended. Shortly after 8 o'clock these crowds dispersed.

Officials at the Union plant of the Bethlehem Steel Shipbuilding Corporation, the largest shipyard here, said that about 1500 men returned to work and that the result was encouraging.

RESUME AT OAKLAND.

OAKLAND, Nov. 24. — Three of the largest shipyards in Oakland and Alameda reported enough workmen on hand at the opening hour this morning to warrant resumption of shipbuilding. The plants have been closed since the walkout of October 1.

There were crowds, said to be composed principally of union men, watching the returning workmen, but they offered no violence.

"We are running full blast," was the announcement from the manager's office of the Moore Shipbuilding Company. At the Alameda plant of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation and the Union Construction Company, it was announced there were enough men on hand to start work, but it would take time to put them through the employment offices.

Definite statements on the number of men reporting would be impossible until later, the managers said.

RAISIN PACKERS SAY SUPPLY WAS CUT OFF.

TELL FEDERAL BOARD CALIFORNIA GROWERS REFUSED TO MAKE DELIVERIES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—George M. McCandless, sales manager of the American Seedless Raisin Company, testified before the Federal Trade Commission today that inability to obtain raisins from the California Associated Raisin Company resulted in his concern losing 80 per cent. of its business. The American company, he said, had purchased raisins from the Associated company for four years, when early in 1918 the Associated company refused further orders, on the ground that it intended to give the grower the profits formerly made by packers.

The supply available from growers outside the Associated company was negligible, he added, and his company now is getting out its own vineyards. Even then, he said, the supply would be but one-fifth of what is needed.

Counsel for the Associated company introduced evidence to show that, while for five years' average earnings of the American company up to this year were $106,000, estimated earnings for the current year were $150,000. This was due, counsel for the American company said, to exceptional earnings from the vineyards because of high prices brought about by the Associated company. The loss of the company's packing business had been made up in this way, he said.

RUSHES AROUND IN AUTO AND CHATS WITH PEASANTS OF FISHING VILLAGE.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LES SABLE D'OLONNE (Brittany) Nov. 24.—Premier Clemenceau is enjoying such a strenuous "rest" in Vendee that newspaper correspondents find it difficult to keep up with him in his automobile rides throughout the country and along the shores of the Atlantic. As is usual during his short visits to his native country, the Premier appears to have discarded all thoughts of politics and the cares of public affairs, and mingles with the peasants and fishermen, chatting with the elderly women and weather-beaten old men, who call him "M'sieu Georges."

Natives gather around the Premier and recall old times.

One said to him: "It is more than ten years since I have seen you, but you haven't changed much."

The Tiger replied: "Don't try to make me believe my mustache was white all my life."

One very old peasant recalled with pride the fact that M. Clemenceau once attended him as a doctor.

"I see I missed you. You are lucky to be still alive," responded M. Clemenceau, who once practiced medicine. "Somehow, I never had much luck with my patients. I always seemed to miss them."

The Premier's cottage by the sea is a solitary little dwelling standing on the hill above the water.

"It is here I intend to take a long rest," he said, "while working, however. That goes without saying, because, even in the midst of this solitude, I shall have to work."

It is a far cry from the little cottage at St. Vincent to the magnificent Elysee Palace, the home of the President of the French Republic, but, according to the friends of M. Clemenceau, it is possible he may occupy the palace as the culmination of his wonderful career.

HUNGARIAN CABINET HOLDS ALL PARTIES.

CHRISTIAN NATIONALISTS HAVE HEAVY MAJORITY OF HUZZAR'S PORTFOLIOS.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BUDAPEST, Saturday, Nov. 22.—All parties are represented in the new Cabinet formed by Karl Huzzar. The Christian Nationalists, however, have a heavy majority of the portfolios. The Socialists get only one ministry and one secretaryship.

Huzzar himself is a strong partisan of the Christian Nationalist movement. He was Minister of Education in Dr. Friederich's Cabinet, and was once a schoolmaster and a journalist.

The settlement reached today is ascribed largely to the attitude of Admiral Horthy, commanding the Hungarian Nationalist forces. Influenced by Sir George Clerk, representative of the Supreme Council, he turned against the extremists, and urged a compromise among all parties and peace with the Allies.

The new government promises to safeguard the elections and liberty of the press. It is not settled as yet whether the new constitution will be framed by the first National Assembly or by a general plebiscite later. It is understood Count Albert Apponyi will head the peace delegation.

MINE WAGE IS UP TO CABINET.

Controversy to be Taken up at Meeting Today.

Garfield's Address Fails to Get Compromise.

Takes Stand that Operators Must Cut Profits.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Settlement of the controversy over a new wage agreement in the bituminous coal industry tonight awaited action by President Wilson's Cabinet.

Fuel Administrator Garfield, addressing the joint wage scale committees of operators and miners, announced five principles which have "governed" him and his associates, but different interpretations were placed upon their provisions by the workers and the mine owners in informal discussions after the meeting.

Dr. Garfield called the miners and operators together after a conference with Atty.-Gen. Palmer, Director-General Hines and Asst. Atty.-Gen. Ames.

At the meeting of the Cabinet tomorrow, a definite declaration of policy regarding all phases of the strike situation is expected, and if the Cabinet is in disagreement the whole question may be put before the President.

FIGHT HINGES ON H. C. OF L.

Owing to the disagreement which had arisen as to the amount of increase in the cost of living, and consequently the per cent. of wage advances needed to meet higher living costs, great significance was attached to Dr. Garfield's declaration that "the average total increase in pay over the 1913 base, which was the base cohsidered in 1917, should not exceed the present increase in the cost of living over the same base."

"It is also to be considered the cost of living will fall rather than rise during the next few years," Dr. Garfield added.

Operators construed this statement as conflicting with the contention of Secretary Wilson that miners should be given a 31 per cent. wage increase to equalize the margin between present wages and a 79 per cent. rise in living cost since 1914.

PROFITS MUST BE CUT.

Pointing out that war-time coal prices were fixed for the purpose of stimulating production, Dr. Garfield declared the public would not now pay the increase over normal profits allowed during the war. His further statement that any wage increase should be "borne by the operators or the public, or both," was taken generally to mean that part of the advance must come out of the excess profits of the mining companies.

The principles announced by Dr. Garfield were:

"First—The public must not be asked to pay more than it is paying for coal unless it is necessary to provide reasonable wages to the mine workers and a reasonable profit to the operators.

GARFIELD'S IDEA.

"Second—The arrangement entered into between the operators, te miners and the Fuel Administration, with the sanction of the President of the United States in October, 1917, was intended to equalize the wages of all classes of mine workers and to be sufficient to cover the period of the war, but not beyond March 31, 1920; hence the only increase in cost of living which can now be considered is the increase above that provided for by the average increase in 1917; that is to say, the average total increase in pay over the 1913 base, which was the base considered in 1917, should not exceed the present average increase in the cost of living over the same base. It is also to be considered that the cost of living will fall rather than rise during the next few years.

PUBLIC'S INTEREST.

"Third—The maximum prices fixed by the government on coal were calculated to increase production of coal for war purposes. Coal was basic and the increase imperative. The public ought not to be asked to pay and will not now pay the increase over normal profits then allowed for the purpose of stimulating production.

"Fourth—Any increases in wages arrived at on the basis of the foregoing principles should be borne by the operators or the public, or both, as may be determined by application of these principles, and should take effect as of the date when the men return to work.

"Fifth—The needs of the United States are not alone to be considered. Europe is in desperate need of coal and should have all that we can spare."

APPEAL TO PRESIDENT.

The National Federation of Construction Industries adopted a resolution here today calling on the President to use every resource of the Federal government to end the coal strike and assure resumption of normal production.

T. A. Randall, secretary of the National Brick Manufacturing Association, declared that even if normal production were resumed immediately, industries employing hundreds of thousands of men would face a thirty-day shutdown for lack of fuel.

CHARLES DENIES HE IS SEEKING A PENSION.

Pasadena Officials to Talk Over Big Bond Issue.

Banker Says Labor Men Tire of Radical Leaders.

Players to View Site of Proposed Greek Theater.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Nov. 24.—Pasadena city officials will confer with the municipalities of South Pasadena and Los Angeles before making plans for another bond election on the proposed Pasadena municipal railway to Los Angeles, it was decided by the Pasadena City Commission today.

City Attorney J. H. Howard furnished the Commission with an opinion today, to the effect that condemnation proceedings for the right of way outside the city limits of Pasadena will have to be decided in the courts; that the city's power to condemn effects territory within the city limits only.

TIRE OF LEADERS.

Union labor men of the East are tiring of their radical leaders when they see strike after strike failing, declared E. Crawford May, vice-president of the Security National Bank of this city, upon his return today from an eastern trip. He believes that the strike tendency is over, every one of the recent big strikes having been colossal failures.

"The East is thoroughly aroused against the I.W.W. and all other radicals," said Mr. May, "and determined to rid the country of them."

In Chicago, Mr. May conferred with George M. Reynolds, who spends his winters in Southern California, and with other big bankers. 'All of them predict a most prosperous year for the country," said the local banker. "Prosperity is apparent in the East now. Bank deposits are large and everyone seems to have plenty of money."

AUTHORITIES TOO LAX.

Authorities in the Pacific Northwest have been too lax toward the I.W.W. and other lawless elements, declares J. P. Graves, retired tree-

TITTONI QUITS CABINET PLACE.

Foreign Minister Resigns in Hope to Avert Crash.

Socialists Programme Full of Sinister Moves.

Antagonism to King Grows More Pronounced.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ROME, Nov. 24. — Tomasso Tittoni, Italian Foreign Minister, has resigned and Vittorio Scialoia, Minister without portfolio, has been named to succeed him, according to the Epoca.

The reopening of the Chamber of Deputies has been postponed for a few days. This has been made necessary b ydelays connected with the election formalities.

The work of ascertaining the official results of the elections is so complicated that it is feared it will not be finished before December 1. In this case the reopening of Parliament will be postponed a few days.

OMINOUS PORTENTS.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ROME, Friday, Nov. 21.—Rumors of the wildest character regarding the possibility of a very serious crisis, involving not only the Cabinet, but also the reigning house of Italy, are in circulation as the opening of Parliament, set for December 1, approaches.

The Socialists, proud of their recent victory, are eager to continue what they call their "march forward."

The new elements which have entered the Socialist Parliamentary group are declared to be animated by revolutionary sentiments and to favor an extreme policy, which, in their opinion, will inevitably lead to the advent of Bolshevism in Italy. This section now is undoubtedly the most numerous, if not the most important one, in the party.

EXTREMISTS IN POWER.

It is considered that it will almost certainly assume command of the party because of the audacity and determination of its members to attain control by whatever means seems best to them.

Members of this section are quoted as declaring that, comprising as they do more than 150 "live wires" among the 550 deputies, the remainder will not dare oppose them and that they will be able to accomplish "some supreme act of rebellion which will overthrow the tottering government of the bourgeoisie."

Formerly the Socialists never attended the opening of Parliament, absenting themselves so that they might avoid being present when the King delivered his speech from the throne and to escape taking the prescribed oath in the King's presence. The newly-elected Extreme Socialists, however, now insist that the entire group should attend the ceremony, hiss the King, insult him the moment he appeared, and prevent him from speaking. They have even gone so far as to threaten that he would be attacked on his way to the chamber or upon his return.

The Council of Ministers has been meeting almost daily to discuss this grave situation, as well as the Adriatic complications.

NITTI'S VIEWS.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ROME, Sunday, Nov. 23.—"The peoples of Europe will not have another war, and because the Socialists form a party which always has opposed war, the people of Italy voted for them," said Francisco Nitti, the Premier, in explaining to the correspondent today the present Italian situation and the true meaning of the last general election, when the number of Socialist members of the Chamber of Deputies more than trebled. He characterized reports in circulation abroad that Italy was on the verge of a revolution as "simply absurd." Premier Nitti continued:

"The result of the elections surprised many, but not those who followed carefully the course of events and their effect. Of the 500 Deputies in the chamber, there will be about ninety Catholics, a little more than 150 Socialists and ten or twelve Republicans. This leaves 250 constitutional Deputies, representing moderate tendencies, besides the Catholics, who are fervent patriots. The majority of them are sincere democrats, ready to participate in the government of the country.

A "STATE OF MIND."

"In addition, the majority of Socialists returned is not the expression of a political programme, but rather of the people's state of mind, which can be understood by the countries which have gone through the war, and which realize the conditions of unrest therefrom.

"The Italian Socialists form a party destined sooner or later to abandon their negative attitude for participation in the government. Do not be led away by appearances. Most of the votes given the Socialists were not given for the love of Socialists, but signify many other things, first: The discontent after the war, and second, the dissatisfaction felt in Italy for the way her motives have been impugned. Reports circulating abroad—I must say especially in America—about our situation, and the condition of public order in Italy, are absolutely false and even ridiculous. They continually say we are on the verge of revolution, which is simply absurd. Considering the exceptional moments Italy is passing through, like all the European nations, and also after-war psychology, the general elections in Italy occurred with extraordinarily few incidents worthy of mention.

"Now public order is perfect indeed, and this is a boast which few nations can make nowadays. There is not a single strike in Italy.

BLAMES AMERICA.

"Everything leads us to hope that the entire country is ready to devote itself wholeheartedly to the much-needed task of reconstruction. This being the position of affairs in Italy, it is easy to imagine how hard it seems to us that our condition is not judged with justice and equity, especially by our friends in America. I have often told them that their obstinacy in not helping us solve our difficulties is only explained by their having an incorrect, that is, no just, appreciation of our efforts and sacrifices.

TALK OF ABDICATION.

Another element in conservative circles, however, has suggested even such a radical measure as the abdication of King Emmanuel in favor of the Duke of Aosta, who is especially popular with the army and among the parties favorable to the recent war. It is contended, in opposition to this view, that such a course would not help the situation from the conservative standpoint, as the personality of the sovereign is not at issue. If a change in the ruler were to be an advantage, it is argued in this quarter, the best arrangement possibly would be the elevation of Crown Prince Humbert under a regency, possibly that of the Duke of Aosta.

"It is useless to hide the truth. Italy feels she has been unjustly treated. Let us look at the question dispassionately: Of the three union powers which waged war against Germany, Italy is the country that proportionately to her national riches, resources and population, suffered the most and is still suffering. We are still eating war bread; the meat supply is absolutely inadequate to the needs of the population and there is not enough milk for the children and sick. We have no coal and are burning the remainder of our forests.

HER WAR RECORD.

"In addition, Italy was the only country among the Allies which entered the war spontaneously by its own choice. France fought because Germany invaded her territory; England because she had guaranteed the neutrality of Belgium, and would have dishonored herself by being false to her word. Italy was drawn into the conflict by three reasons: By her sense of ideality; by her determination to sacrifice herself in order to oppose a monstrous domination, and finally to obtain her unredeemed national territory.

"Italy really chose to suffer. It probably was not realized by our Allies absorbed in their own terrible struggle, that during the war Italy was often left to fight her battle alone against all the forces of the Austro-Hungarian empire, which were superior to us in numbers and material. After the collapse of Russia we struggled along and conquered.

UNJUST TREATMENT?

"Now the war has ceased for a year. Ever since, the Italians have seen their national aspirations opposed with a hardness and inflexibility which wounds them profoundly. I do not deny that mistakes may have been made by our statesmen and have been made by our press, but the fact remains that all our allies have gained from the war infinitely more than Italy; that while Italy for long months has struggled, thus far it has been unsuccessfully, for her object, which after all has merely sentimental value.

"Was it worth while to oppose us so cruelly regarding Fiume? An irregular situation has arisen both in Fiume and Dalmatia. The discontent which has blazed up in our army and navy is the result of many errors of our own, but above all—I say it solemnly and deliberately—they are in a great measure due to the conduct of our allies.

"I call with my whole soul upon the great American public to help us settle the thorny question of Fiume. The latest programme of Foreign Minister Tittoni is so very moderate that it ought to be accepted. We absolutely can yield no further.

BIRTH OF HATRED.

"I have always felt sincere friendship for America and claim that America should be on our side—should help us escape from this painful situation. I have addressed myself personally to President Wilson as a friend. I address the American nation also as friends: Do not let the Italian people have the hateful feeling that the great American democracy opposes what is just. As the Adriatic question may cause a new and violent conflict, Italy desires to settle it as quickly as possible.

"As I said before, Italy does not desire further wars. Even with the Jugo-Slavs she wishes to have friendly relations. They are our neighbors and must therefore, both in their own interests and ours, share in our civilization.

"We need peace as the first condition of our life—a peace that will enable us to make great strides in the world.

DENY IMPERIALISM.

"I want to proclaim aloud that the imperialistic tendencies attributed to Italy are erroneous. The best men we produce are men of democratic ideas. Italy is a sane and healthy country. Its only trouble is the discontent among us which is greatly due to the attitude of our allies.

"I repeat again that we must solve without delay the Adriatic question, which may ferment and with the ferment existing in other parts of Europe, even bring about the tragedy of another war. Italy asks only justice. Do not hesitate, therefore, to be on her side. Sooner or later Italy will conquer, because justice is on her side; because once she has emerged from the present difficulties of her situation, she can only become greater and greater."

FULL LIST OF DEAD AT DANCE FIRE 28.

HALF OF VICTIMS OF VILLA PLATTE (LA.) DISASTER CRUSHED IN PANIC.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

VILLA PLATTE (La.) Nov. 24.—With all persons in the building at the time accounted for, the complete list today of those who lost their lives in the dance-hall fire here Saturday night was announced as twenty-eight.

About 300 persons were guests at a dance on the second floor of a frame building and in addition to the heavy death toll scores were badly burned or seriously hurt in the mad rush to escape through the one narrow exit.

Of the dead, fourteen were crushed when the crowd rushed for the stairway, which collapsed, cutting off the escape of others. The remaining fourteen were caught on the second floor.

The fire was said to have started from the explosion of an oil stove on which a twelve-year-old boy was making coffee in the storeroom beneath the dancers.

JAPANESE DEFEND "PICTURE BRIDES."

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

HONOLULU (T. H.) Nov. 24.—The Japanese press of Honolulu unanimously condemns the movement started recently by the directors of the Japanese Association of America, with headquarters in San Francisco, to stop the importation of "picture brides."

The Nipponese-language papers here are united in declaring that to discontinue the "picture-bride system would be detrimental to the best interests of the Japanese in the Hawaiian Islands."

ELLIS ISLE REDS START A STRIKE.

Refuse to Attend Their Deportation Hearings.

Insist on Removal of Iron Grating for Cells.

Raker of California Insists on Obedience to Orders.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Fifty-nine radicals went on strike against attending their deportation hearings at Ellis Island today and forced the hearings to be suspended despite the presence of the House Immigration Committee, which is investigating the deportation problem. They struck to have an iron barrier removed when they have visitors.

The committee advised Commissioner Byron H. Uhl, to use force if necessary, to compel the next men scheduled for hearing to attend, holding he had sufficient authority under the interpretation of the law by the United States Supreme Court. The commissioner sent for Nicolai Kuropatka, who was arrested in a recent raid in Newark, N. J. There was no response from the cage and nobody knew which one of the men in the pen was Kuropatka, and the inspector, Augustus P. Shell, returned empty handed.

"Let's see who's running this island, the defendants or the officials," said Representative Raker of California, a member of the committee, and forthwith the sergeant at arms brought in the counsel for the radicals, Isaak Schorr, who emigrated from Russia in 1904. At the committee's request he told his clients the law required them to attend their hearings. All but seven of the sixty-six segregated radicals then reiterated their refusal to attend the hearing until the barrier was removed.

IRON MESH STAYS.

Mr. Uhl informed Schorr that the iron mesh would remain in place and announced that the deportation hearings would be continued tomorrow.

Word of the strike came to the committee when Mr. Uhl, questioned as to delays in deportations and in appeals by debarred immigrants, was testifying as to inadequate personnel and accommodations. He read the following letter he had received just after the law officers had concluded one deportation hearing:

"Mr. Uhl:

"Dear sir:

"In view of the fact that your promise and word which Isaak Schorr, our attorney, brought over to us as the matter of visits, to wit: That no iron mesh or net or any other barrier would be placed between us and our friends at the time of their visit to the island has been broken by some one, we believe by your subordinates.

DEMAND GUARANTEE.

"We, the inmates of Room 203, declare that we demand that you give us a personal guarantee undersigned by you to the effect that at no time, neither during the hearings nor afterwards, until we are deported, shall any barriers be placed between us and our friends at the time of their visit.

"Expecting an immediate answer, we shall refrain from going out to hearings until said satisfactory and immediate answer shall reach us.

"Respectfully,

"Committee of Room 203."

The inquiry into the immigration service developed that many incoming passengers in whom Congressmen were interested were passed with only a perfunctory examination, or, if they were detained, were released later on appeals supported by Congressmen.

Byron H. Uhl, acting immigration commissioner, was the first witness called when the House committee investigating delay in deportation of radical aliens opened its hearing at Ellis Island today. He testified that seventy alleged anarchists, including two women, were being held at the island under warrants of arrest, and nine others under warrants of deportation. Hearings have been given to thirty-one of the seventy cases.

Mr. Uhl said that he was unable to furnish a record of the anarchists deported during the past two years because he had no record of such deportations.

State and city detectives are searching for the plant which prints the Communist World, a radical newspaper which continues to be printed secretly and circulated here despite anti-red activities. Dr. Maximilian Cohen, editor of the paper, is the special object of search by agents from the Attorney-General's office.

READING CALM AGAIN.

READING (Pa.) Nov. 24.—After a night of excitement as the result of the determination of citizens to prevent a mass meeting of socialists, Reading calmed today.

Socialists had advertised a meeting for last night at which the Rev. Irvin St. John Tucker of Chicago was expected to speak in defiance of the city authorities, who had forbidden the gathering. The defiance resulted in an open-air mass meeting in the afternoon, at which the determination was reached to prevent the Socialist meeting.

Five thousand persons gathered at the Socialist headquarters in the evening, and the threatening attitude of the crowd caused the meeting to be called off. Mayor Filbert addressed the crowd and counselled calmness. Several hundred former service men then marched past the building, the Socialists hung an American flag from a window and the crowd dispersed.

Tucker was taken away in a motor car by the Socialist committee during the night.

In an advertisement the American Legion today thanks patriotic citizens for answering yesterday's call to make Reading 100 per cent. American.

The advertisement terminates with this sentence: "We may need you again soon."

BURLESON WOULD CUT LETTER POSTAGE RATE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Postmaster-General Burleson has approved pending bills to reduce the rate of local first-class letter postage to a penny an ounce. A letter for delivery within the postal limits of the office in which it is mailed would take a 1-cent stamp instead of a 2-cent stamp.

Mr. Burleson has advised Congressmen that the present 2-cent charge on that class of mail exceeds the cost of handling, and that he recommends the reduction because he believes the postal service should not be conducted for profit.

Skin Eruptions Cause Unbearable Itching

Scratching Increases the Irritation of the Delicate Skin Tissue.

You can claw your nails into your skin until it bleeds, in an effort to obtain relief from the fiery itching and burning caused by skin diseases, but you only increase the irritation and pain.

And you can pour ointments, salves and lotions by the gallon on the irritated parts, without obtaining anything but temporary relief. Just as soon as the strength of the counter irritant gives out, your pain and torture will return with increased violence, because these local remedies have not reached the source of the trouble.

The real source of all skin disease is the blood supply. The blood becomes infected with some impurity, and the disease germs break out through the delicate tissues of the skin. They may appear as eczema, tetter, boils, pimples, scaly eruptions, caused by disease germs in the blood.

The real cure, therefore, must be directed through the blood. And no remedy has yet been discovered that equals S.S.S. for such disorder of the blood. This great, old remedy cleanses the blood of disease germs and clears up the complexion and gives it the ruddy glow of perfect health. Get a bottle at your drug store today, and you will soon be rid of your tormenting skin trouble. Also write at once for expert medical advice regarding your own case. UNION'S PARTY TO ENTER FIELD.

Organized Labor to Have Presidential Candidate.

Launch Petition Asking Recall of Judge Anderson.

Cheers Greet Announcement of Fickert's Illness.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Representatives of organized labor, meeting here to plan a new national political party, adopted a constitution and selected a name for the movement today. The organization will be known as the Labor Party of the United States, and its object is "to organize all hand and brain workers of the country to support the principles of a political, social and industrial democracy." Women are to have equal representation with men in the party's management.

Trade unions, farmers' organizations, co-operative bodies and all other associations which subscribe to the principles of the party, are invited to affiliate with the movement.

The affairs of the organization will be administered by a national committee, with a secretary-treasurer as its executive officer.

TO ENTER CAMPAIGN.

The Committee on Constitution recommended that the national committee be composed of one member from each State, but Robert M. Buck of Chicago sought to have a man and woman committeeman from each State, and action was deferred until tomorrow. The new party will hold a national convention next summer to nominate candidates for President and Vice-President.

The constitution provides for the issuance of State charters upon petition of five or more local branches. The basis of representation in the national convention will be one delegate-at-large from each State and additional delegates for every 400 of party membership from the various States.

Members of the party will be asked to contribute one day's pay to the campaign fund next year. The party also will be financed by the levying of a monthly tax of from 5 to 25 cents on each member, the members in States without party charters paying the maximum tax.

PROTEST MASSACRES.

Among the resolutions adopted were:

Protest against the massacre of Jews in the Ukraine and other European countries.

Application of the principles of the initiative and referendum in national legislation.

For the release of Eugene V. Debs, Kate Richards O'Hare, Carl Sacconder and 1000 other political and industrial prisoners.

For the repeal of the army court-martial laws.

CHEER GHASTLY NEWS.

The delegates cheered for several minutes when Jack Mooney, a brother of Thomas Mooney, in a speech, said that former Dist.-Atty. Fickert of San Francisco had been stricken with paralysis.

The party plans to expend a large sum in a country-wide educational campaign in which moving pictures will be a feature.

Eight men and two women delegates from Wyoming gave a touch of color to the assembly by appearing in cowboy costumes.

ASK JUDGE'S RECALL.

A demand for impeachment of Judge A. B. Anderson, U. S. District Court, was formally voiced by the new party in a petition to Congress. The jurist's action in granting the government a mandatory injunction ordering rescinding of the coal miners' strike call was the reason assigned.

The action followed a report by Robert M. Bruce, chairman of the convention's resolution committee. Only one voice was raised against the resolution, R. L. Martin, an Oklahoma official of the United Mine Workers, objecting to the procedure as "a waste of time."

"Congress has never paid attention to the demands of labor," he said. "The only way to remedy present conditions is to change control of the government."

Nevertheless, Martin signed the petition.

It is planned to have the impeachment petition signed by 1,000,000 labor organization members before it is presented to Congress next month.

The convention adopted a resolution demanding the immediate lifting of the blockade against Russia so that food may be sent to all the people of that country.

Another resolution passed protested against the deportation of Hindus arrested in this country charged with sedition against India.

FARMERS RAISE OBJECTIONS.

Delegates representing several farmers' organizations announced their opposition to a proposal to include in the platform a plank advocating the nationalization of land and also asserted that it was their belief that a declaration against prohibition would alienate agricultural bodies.

PARADE IN PROTEST AGAINST MASSACRE.

JEWS MARCH 100,000 STRONG THROUGH NEW YORK TO STRAINS OF DIRGE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—New York today witnessed its greatest parade of any one people, more than 100,000 Jewish men and women marching to an age-old Hebrew dirge in protest against alleged massacres of Jews in the Ukraine. Winding for hours from the lower East Side to Carnegie Hall, in the heart of the metropolis, the cortege continued uninterrupted from 1 o'clock in the afternoon until long after dark.

Nearly 25,000 uniformed soldiers, sailors and marines, veterans of the war, led the procession. Jewish fraternal, welfare, business and labor organizations marched in the column.

American and Zionist flags, draped with mourning, and banners telling of the sacrifices of Jewry in the world's conflict for democracy and humanity were borne aloft throughout the long line.

Delegations from Philadelphia, New Jersey and Connecticut cities were included in the procession.

At Carnegie Hall the cortege was dismissed. A mass meeting tonight concluded the day's demonstration.

The Jewish East Side had been in mourning all afternoon, with shops, manufacturing places and Yiddish theaters closed.

Gov. Smith, U. S. Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois, Lieut.-Gov. Walker, Mayor Hylan and Jacob H. Schiff were among the speakers at tonight's meeting.

UKRAINIANS SORRY.

In a statement given out today, the Ukrainian national committee of the United States declared that all true Ukrainians deeply regret the massacres of Jews in the Ukraine and elsewhere, and that responsibility for those in the Ukraine rested mainly upon the irregular bands of partisan leaders, over which the Ukrainian government had little or no control.

President Simon Petlura, generalissimo of the Ukrainian army, and the government of the Ukraine, the committee declared, were doing everything possible to stamp out such inhuman practices, had instituted capital punishment for those guilty of pogroms and had distributed more than 20,000,000 karbovanets (roubles) to the familes of vicitims.

Pogroms had now ceased, the statement maintained.

IN DREAM OF DEATH THREAT KILLS WIFE.

NEWARK (N. J.) Nov. 24.—James Sapienza, concrete block manufacturer, of Irvington, shot and killed his wife in bed early today, but the murder charge against him may be dropped. He told the police he had been dreaming of threatening letters he actually had received and had shot at two men he dreamed he saw creeping through the window.

"Sapienza said he dreamed he saw two men coming through the window and that they were taking his little son," said Police Lieutenant Godfrey. "He said he dreamed he reached under his pillow to get his revolver and that he was suddenly awakened by the noise of a shot. He found the revolver in his hand and it was smoking.

"I am convinced this man is telling the truth, for the bullet that killed his wife went through the pillow before it lodged in her head."

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair and make it soft and glossy. GORMAN SPENT LOTS OF MONEY

Will Find Nothing To Help Him Till He Took Tanlac

O'Gorman Was Also Wonderfully Built Up

Husband and Wife Join In Praising Tanlac

O'Gorman, a well-known employe of the Oil Well Supply Company, and his wife, who reside at 611 Avila street, Los Angeles, are enthusiastic in their praise of Tanlac and made the following statements a few days ago:

"Tanlac just beats anything I have ever seen to build up a run-down system and put him back on his feet again," said Mr. O'Gorman. "For the past two years I have been going around with little life or strength to me, and I was so weak that when I got through with my work in the evenings I was almost exhausted. I had little or no appetite and what I ate did me more harm than good, and it seemed that I had pains all the time and could never get anything that would drive it out of my system. I couldn't sleep good at night, and when I got up every morning I would start to coughing and in half an hour or more I would cough my head off.

"I spent all kinds of money for medicine, but nothing ever did me any kind of good until I began taking Tanlac, and I want to tell you that it built me up so fast that it seems like it was made specially for me. I can eat three big, hearty meals a day, digest it perfectly and am gaining in weight and strength right along. I am not troubled any more with gas and the cough that used to bother me every morning has left entirely. I am sleeping sound as a log and get up feeling fine and have so much more strength that it seems like a shame me that I just want to be on the go all the time."

Commenting on his experience with the medicine, Mrs. O'Gorman said: "I don't think of anything that could be too good to say about Tanlac. It has made me a well and happy woman. Indigestion troubled me so and that I didn't care whether I ate anything or not, for I knew that if I did I would have terrible pains in a few hours afterwards. I was worse in the mornings than at any other time and it just seemed that I could hardly stand the pains at all. I was losing my strength all the time I went about my work and draggy.

"Finally mother had tried Tanlac and it helped her so much good that she urged me to take it, and when I had finished four bottles I stopped right there, for I started gaining in weight so fast that I was afraid I couldn't wear my clothes. Anyhow I kept on gaining in weight so fast that after gaining in weight so much that I wanted to be rid of the pains and those terrible pains in my stomach, and they had already been completely overcome, so Tanlac had done its work and I didn't need it any more. Everything tastes good to me now and I don't have a pain of any kind. I can certainly recommend my husband in praising Tanlac as he was just the thing both of us needed."

Tanlac is sold in Los Angeles, Pasadena and San Diego by the Owl Drug Co.—[Advertisement.]

HEALTH CONDITIONS SAVE COUNTRY CASH.

PREVENTABLE DISEASES COST FOUR BILLIONS LESS THAN TWENTY YEARS AGO.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Preventable diseases cost the United States $4,000,000,000 less in 1917 than it would have had the health conditions of twenty years ago prevailed in 1917. Four hundred thousand less deaths occurred in 1917 than would have had the 1900 death rate prevailed.

Annual illness of workers still costs this country $2,000,000,000 each year. One man in every three called by the army was found to be physically unfit.

These figures were given out today by Surgeon-General Rupert Blue, of the United States public health service, in urging a plan for nation-wide conservation of health and calling on all health agencies to co-operate in a carefully-prepared programme.

Surgeon-General Blue has sent a letter to State and city health officers, to the head of the American Red Cross, the American Public Health Association, the American Medical Society, the National Tuberculosis Association, the International Health Commission, the National Safety Council, the American Child Hygiene Association and other health agencies, suggesting a conference in Washington to consider a health programme prepared by the public health service.

MESSENGERS SWAP BONDS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—An organized "messenger boys' exchange" appeared tonight as a new angle in the theft of more than $1,000,000 in securities during several months from the financial district, according to detectives working on the case.

The "exchange" is said to have met several times daily at a central point in the financial district and, instead of each boy going to all the offices for which he carried certificates, one boy would be assigned to deliver the bonds each of them had for the same place.

This method, according to police, greatly simplified the work of thieves and hampered the officers in tracing stolen certificates.

WON'T BARTER HONORS FOR GOLD, SAYS YORK

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—The blue eyes of Sergt. Alvin C. York turned quietly on the questioner. He had been asked why he, the greatest hero of the world-war, had stubbornly refused to appear in the movies, and write the customary war book, and allow himself to be advertised blatantly from coast to coast and lionized by society.

"Friend," York said, "I couldn't. Why, it's jest a sellin' my honors for a pot of gold."

And so, you see, Sergt. York is a real hero. He is a blonde giant, too, and yet so mild and serene and unworldly that for a moment you wonder how he acquired the Allies' choice medals of valor. Then those blue eyes turn on you again—and you stop wondering.

He came to Chicago today with his bride, who was Gracie Williams, the 19-year-old Tennessee mountain girl. Tuesday night he will speak at Orchestra Hall in behalf of the Alvin C. York foundation. He wants to raise $300,000 to found a school for the hill children in the Tennessee backwoods. For himself—not a cent.

Sergt. York's wife gazed at the Loop bustle today from a window in the Hotel Sherman and—yes, she sighed. It was plain she hungered for the sight, once more of their farm back in Pall Mall, Tennessee.

"I'll be glad when the trip's over, too," said Sergt. York, as he noticed with that gentle smile his wife's fatigue. "But I reckon a man shouldn't be worrying when he's out on well doing. Those kids up there in the Tennessee hills have been starved of book learning. I didn't realize that, I reckon, until I'd traveled a bit in this war."

"You were opposed to war?" was asked.

"I am yet; without it be necessary. I don't care for a war just to be a fighting. It's the devil's own job, friend. But this war, it was different; I just had to go. I'd done a powerful lot of squirrel shooting up in the hills around Pall Mall. So I could shoot a rifle a little."

EX-SOLDIER DENIES HE DEFAAUDED ARMY.

PARIS, Nov. 23.—Louis Wetmore, former sergeant, A.E.F., charged with conspiring to permit other persons to defraud the United States government out of funds in connection with army contracts let in Switzerland, has issued a statement from his cell at the military prison in Rue Sainte Anne denying certain charges made against him.

Wetmore is the son of a former physician for J. Pierpont Morgan and is divorced from Eugenia Marko, daughter of a New York Supreme Court justice.

Wetmore asserts he saved the United States government 9,000,000 francs in letting a contract for airplane compasses by obtaining the instruments for 9 francs instead of 16 francs apiece.

TACOMA (Wash.) Nov. 24.—The St. Paul and Tacoma Lumber Company today announced the sale of its chain of retail yards in Eastern Washington to a syndicate headed by John Dower of Wadena, Wis., for a price that will be between $600,000 and $1,000,000.

One good woman writes: "You're certainly 'some' real estate concern; with the competition of free excursions and free lunches to charge a fee for a salesman's time to go see your land—and on top of that to ask 5c for a booklet to read about it. When one feels they can't afford a dollar to go look first" And we answered: "Dear Madam: We do not be a 'real estate concern.' We are an institution. We are instituting many reforms valuable to the public, and it is some wonderful land that is worth a dollar to look at and 5c to read about before you buy,—but thanking you." etc., etc., etc..

SHOPMEN WAGE ISSUE SETTLED.

Maintenance-of-Way Brotherhood Takes Terms.

Ends Negotiations in Progress Nine Months.

Union's Dmands are not Met on All Clauses.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—A new wage and working agreement was signed late today between the Railroad Administration and officials of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and railway shop laborers. While union demands were not met fully, the eight-hour basic day was established for track laborers and others of that classification, and time and half pay after that hour was provided. Most of the other employees will receive time and a half overtime after ten hours.

Signing of the contract by Director-General Hines ended negotiations in progress since February. Approximately 400,000 men are affected.

"Specifically," an announcement by Hines says, "the new contract provides overtime for regular section laborers and other employees in this classification except laborers in extra or floating gangs whose employment is seasonal and temporary in character, and certain employees whose positions do not require continuous manual labor will be paid on the basis of time and one-half after the eighth hour of continuous service, exclusive of the meal period, thus applying the same principle which was established last year for important classes of railroad workers.

"FLOATING GANGS."

"Heretofore such maintenance employees have not been paid overtime at pro rata rates for the ninth and tenth hours, and time and one-half after the tenth hour, whereas employees holding positions not requiring continuous manual labor such as track, bridge and highway crossing watchmen, signal men at railway noninterlocking crossings, lamp men, engine watchmen at isolated points, and pumpers will continue to be paid for their present hours of work a monthly rate equal to their present day."

General discussion of the director-general's proposition and organization of the convention occupied most of the day.

It is expected the convention will make its reply to the director-general on Wednesday.

LAND LEAGUE EXPERT DIES AFTER ADDRESS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—Herbert E. Easton of London, secretary of the British Empire Land Settlement League, died suddenly from heart failure here today, immediately after concluding an address before the California Development Board on the British plan for aiding former soldiers to become farmers.

He was 46 years old. His widow and daughter are here.

Easton was born in London, but had passed a great deal of his life in Sydney, Australia. He had just completed for Premier Hughes of Australia and for the London Times a report upon land settlement in the United States, with particular attention to California. He was a leading figure on the government agricultural bank in London.

REJECT ITALY'S LAST PROPOSAL.

Tittoni Scheme for Buffer State not Acceptable.

Intended to Annex Large Section of Istria.

Belief is General that Fiume will be Taken.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—What were understood to be the maximum of concessions which Italy was willing to make in its effort to reach an accord with the United States on the Adriatic problem, involving the settlement of the Fiume question, are understood to have been rejected by the State Department. The extent to which Italy was willing to go toward making concessions was set forth more than a month ago in a proposal which the Italian Foreign Minister, Tittoni, transmitted to the State Department.

The main features of the Tittoni proposal were that Italy should receive that part of Istria forming a triangle, whose extreme point would be Veloosa, the line running through the Alpe Grande, to Monte Maggiore, thence to Fisnona. The existing Italian frontier extends along the line from Monte Meggiore to Fisnona. Fiume itself, together with some territory to the north and also some of the neighboring islands in the Gulf of Quarino, would become a buffer state, having a special statute for that state and the city, Italy, under the proposal, would have no supervision over its foreign affairs, but the city's Italianity would be recognized and guarded. Zara, under the proposal, would be constituted a free city and port, being represented in foreign affairs by the Italian government.

There is an expectancy in some usually well-advised quarters that the Italian council of state, over which the King presides, will shortly proclaim the annexation of Fiume, and that this action will be ratified by the Parliament. It has been hinted that the French and British governments would not oppose such action on Italy's part and would seek to dissuade Jugo-Slavia from fighting.

NAVY MINE SWEEPERS REVIEWED ON HUDSON.

DANIELS PRAISES REMARKABLE WORK OF THE INVINCIBLE "SUICIDE CLUB."

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The United States Navy's "Suicide Club," 3000 officers and men of fifty-nine mine sweepers, just returned from the perilous task of clearing the North Sea of mines, was honored today by the navy. Secretary Daniels and Rear-Admiral Joseph Strauss, commander of the flotilla, reviewed the craft in the Hudson.

Sweepers, submarine chasers and trawlers removed 50,000 mines planted in an area of 250 square miles in the North Sea. During the operations some of the craft were damaged by explosions and many men were injured.

HAILED AS VICTORS.

The guests were hailed by the Secretary as "victorious men of war—victors over difficulty and danger, over the hidden menace of the deep which ever threatens the mine ship."

Asserting that "no single operation did more to conquer the German U-boats," than the stretching of the 230-mile mine barrage from the Orkney Islands to Norway, Mr. Daniels declared the project at first seemed so stupendous as to cause doubt in the minds of some American and Allied statesmen as to whether it was possible. Of 75,000 mines required, the American navy planted 56,000.

BROKE DOWN MORALE.

Of the result Mr. Daniels said: "When the Germans had themselves to face an unseen foe, when death lurked in every foot of that 230-mile stretch from Scotland to Norway and the stealthy sea wolves might at any moment run into a mine that would blow them to kingdom come, they lost their nerve.

"We will never know just how many submarines were sunk or damaged by the mine barrage. There is pretty good evidence that at least ten met their fate in the cold waters of the North Sea. But much greater than the actual number sunk was the moral and material effect of the barrage."

Mr. Daniels announced that he had named a new destroyer after Lieut. Frank Bruce, commander of the Bobolink, and another after Commander F. R. King, commander of the Buckley, the two officers killed in the mine service.

POTENTIAL MILITARY POWER OF AMERICA IN MEN IS TEN MILLION.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—A final study of the selective draft, made public today, fixes the military strength of the United States at 10,000,000 in potential military man power.

Registrations for the draft, between the ages of 18 and 45, totaled 23,908,576, almost 80 per cent. of whom were listed as "physically fit for military service."

The medical reports indicated the zone where men were found most healthy runs through the center of the country from north to south. The States in this belt showed the smallest percentage of physical disqualifications for active service.

ITALIANS MASS IN ZONE.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Nov. 24.—Frank L. Polk, Undersecretary of State and head of the American peace delegation, conferred with Rear-Admiral Harry S. Knapp, commander of the United States naval forces in European waters, and other naval officers, today. The American naval position respecting Dalmatia was discussed.

It has been a question in the minds of American naval officers here as to just what might happen in connection with the American forces in the Adriatic, should D'Annunzio attempt a raid on Spalato, where the American ships have their base.

Great surprise has been expressed in naval circles respecting the action of the Italian admiral, Millo, at Zara, where he cordially greeted D'Annunzio and joined in his movement. It is learned that Admiral Millo led the American officers to believe he would at least remain neutral should D'Annunzio attempt further aggression.

DEMOCRATS TO MEET DEC. 8 TO FIX DATE.

SAN FRANCISCO LEADING IN EFFORTS TO LAND NATIONAL CONVENTION.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Chairman Homer S. Cummings issued a call tonight for a meeting of the Democratic National Committee in Washington on December 8 for the purpose of fixing the time and place of holding the next Democratic national convention.

There are four cities most prominent in the competition for the Democratic convention. They are San Francisco, St. Louis, Minneapolis and Chicago. The Pacific Coast city has been unusually active and is said to be prepared to offer the committee a larger contribution toward its convention expenses than hitherto has been customary. The prevailing opinion here, however, is that the convention will go to one of the more centrally-situated cities.

The Democratic meeting will be held two days before the meeting of the Republican National Committee here for a similar purpose. It is not unlikely that there will be a pronouncement from each body on the League of Nations and other issues that will inaugurate the Presidential campaign.

Chairman Cummings invited the Women's Associate Democratic National Committee to attend the meeting.

ALHAMBRA, Nov. 24.—After several jail-breaking episodes occurring in the local lock-up, the City Commissioners have appropriated money for the immediate strengthening of the flimsy edifice. New cement, locks, bars and cells are being installed, guaranteed to be burglar-proof.

In two months, at different times, the jail has been broken twice, first by a one-man artist, and then by two crooks, who rescued their two pals by wrenching the locks from the cell door, which opened on the alley. The new doors will open into the main building of the City Hall.

CAPTAIN OF WRECKED LAKE SHIP IS SAVED.

HOPED THAT OTHER MEMBERS OF CREW MAY BE PICKED UP BY RESCUERS.

DULUTH, Nov. 24. — Capt. W. R. Neal, Bay City, Mich., master of the lost steamer Myron, was picked up from a stormy sea some time today, according to a wireless message received at the office of O. W. Bodgett, owner of the Myron, here late today.

SAULT STE MARIE (Mich.) Nov. 24.—Hope that at least some of the members of the crew of eighteen of the lumber-laden steamer Myron, which foundered near Whitefish Point in the terrific gale which swept Lake Superior Saturday and yesterday would be rescued, was held out today. Boats that ventured down from the Whitefish shelter yesterday and last night brought reports of men being seen clinging to wreckage or lashed to flotsam from the Myron, although no attempts to rescue them were made.

It was believed that some of the crews might drift ashore and be revived by the patrolling coast guards despite their long exposure and terrible buffeting.

Wreckage from the Myron continued this morning to come ashore in great quantity, including parts of the cabins and upper decks, while the entire bay is strewn with the lumber cargo of the boat and of her consort, the Mintec, which was reported towed into shelter by an unidentified steamer. There were eleven feet of water in No. 1 hold and nine feet in No. 2 hold, before the leak was temporarily plugged and the water controlled. The vessel now is discharging cargo again and will be drydocked for repairs.

Search of the waters about the Parisian Islands was undertaken late today by United States submarine chaser 438 and the tug Iowa in hope of locating survivors of the crew of the Myron.

WASHED OFF SHIP.

HALIFAX (N. S.) Nov. 24. — Several crew members of the German bark Paul, reported Saturday in distress off the Nova Scotian coast, have been washed overboard and drowned, according to a wireless message received here today. The Paul, with masts shattered by the high seas, is drifting.

FEAR FOUL PLAY.

Boy Ordered to Court Disappears From Home.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ALHAMBRA, Nov. 24.—Police are searching for Alexander Klein, an Alhambra youth who has been missing more than a week. He was ordered to come before the local police court on a charge of driving an automobile without lights, but on the morning of his trial disappeared.

A note telling of his suicide in Los Angeles was received by his parents, but as it was sent anonymously, his parents are inclined to believe that he met with foul play.

Owing to his failure to appear for trial he is being searched for on a contempt charge by local police.

HIGHWAYS ARE STARTING FIGHT

Northern Counties Charging Southern Favoritism.

Yreka Protests Abandonment of Siskiyou Road.

Say San Diego Gets Concrete, but Arcata Promises.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 24.—Charges of favoritism to Southern California at the expense of the north, and failure on the part of the State Highway Commission to fulfill its promises relative to the building of several units of road planned in Northern California, under plans of the original highway system, were made today before the commission by a delegation representing the Humboldt County Chamber of Commerce and Board of Supervisors.

T. W. Hine, spokesman of the delegation, declared that not a shovelful of earth had been turned on the route of the coast highway north of Arcata, and that comparatively little work has been done on other sections of road vital to the development of Humboldt and adjoining counties.

"While the commission has seen fit to complete a highway all the way to San Diego," said Hine, "little work has been done on the coast road from San Francisco to the Oregon border," he said. "Promises have not been kept in the case of the people of the north. The road to hell is paved with promises, while the road to San Diego has been paved with concrete."

APPEALS TO GOVERNOR.

Solon H. Williams of Yreka, a member of the State Board of Forestry, today appealed to Gov. Stephens to use his influence with government officials at Washington to prevent the contemplated switch of the $350,000 United States forest service appropriation for highway construction, from Siskiyou to San Bernardino county.

According to Williams the money was appropriated by the forest service for the construction of approximately twenty-five miles of highway, that eventually will connect the main valley highway with the coast highway. He said that influence is being brought to bear in Washington to have the appropriation switched from Siskiyou county to San Bernardino county.

FIGHT TO A FINISH.

"We are going to fight the move to the last ditch," said Williams, "and I'm sure Gov. Stephens will be with us."

The State Highway Commission today rejected as excessive bids for construction of a highway unit in Siskiyou county from Weed to the county line, and took under advisement bids for construction work on two laterals in San Diego county. No announcement was made of the time the San Diego awards would be made.

DENY CANDY CAUSES SHORTAGE OF SUGAR.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Candy manufacturers in convention here today denied that the candy industry was responsible for the sugar shortage. According to statistics introduced from government reports at the session, which was held by the Society of Manufacturing Confectioners, the candy manufacturers use only 8 per cent. of the country's sugar production.

The manufacturers were of the opinion, even if they were to close their factories, the amount of sugar saved would not relieve the shortage.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—The United States army is suffering from the sugar shortage. A statement issued today said no surplus stock for the army remained and the purchasing department had failed to obtain any in the market. Negotiations have been begun in an effort to find a source of supply to meet future needs.

TRAIN YOUR HAIR AS AN ACTRESS DOES

No class of people devotes as much time to beauty as do actresses, and no class must be more careful to retain and develop their charms. Inquiry develops the information that in hair care they find it dangerous to shampoo with any makeshift hair cleanser. The majority say that to have the best hair wash and scalp stimulator at a cost of about 3 cents, one need only get a package of canthrox from your druggist; dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. This makes enough shampoo liquid to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. After its use the hair dries rapidly, with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are quickly dissolved and entirely disappear when you rinse the hair. After this your hair will be so fluffy it will look much heavier than it is. Its luster and softness will delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.—[Advertisement.

To Avoid Rough, Coarse Chapped, Blotchy Skin

Most skins require constant grooming at this season to keep them from becoming unduly red, blotchy, coarse, rough or harsh, or if such condition has developed, to overcome it. In such cases it is particularly inadvisable to keep piling on cosmetics which clog the pores and make the complexion worse than ever.

It's a lot more sensible to use ordinary mercolized wax, which literally absorbs a spoiled complexion. Apply the wax, like cold cream, before retiring. Next morning, in washing it off, you'll wash away fine, flour-like particles of the unsightly cuticle. Repeat for a week or more and you'll have an entirely new skin—soft, white, spotless and beautiful as a child's. One ounce of mercolized wax, procurable at any druggist's, is all you'll need.—[Advertisement.

LAUNCH DRIVE TO FORCE FAST ACTION ON TREATY.

Chiefs of Local Peace League Urge that Everybody Wire Senators Demands for Ratification.

Actuated by realization of the ridiculous and impossible situation in which the United States is placed by the failure of the Senate to ratify the peace treaty during the recent session of Congress, the Los Angeles county branch of the League to Enforce Peace yesterday launched a campaign to bring vigorous pressure to bear on all of the Senators in favor of ratification as soon as possible after Congress convenes again December 1. The league's leaders urge that all citizens who have the public welfare at heart immediately telegraph to Senators Phelan and Johnson and other members of the Senate demands for speedy and decisive action. Let the Senate hear from the country—that is the only way to get results now.

"It is the duty of every true American," said W. M. Bowen, president of the county branch of the league, "to take up this matter personally and actively with many representatives in the Senate. By all means, ratification should be accomplished as soon after December 1 as possible. The best good, perhaps, can be done now by forceful telegrams from individual citizens who are zealous for their country's best interests."

UNTENABLE POSITION.

Those back of the campaign to bring pressure to bear on the Senators declare that America's international position is highly embarrassing; that our international credit will be seriously impaired if ratification is absolutely refused to a treaty which our own President played such a prominent part in negotiating, and that such refusal will leave this nation, willingly or unwillingly, in an isolated position.

Arguments now heard for a separate peace with Germany come, moreover, from sources that have always been unfriendly to the Allies, and are empty proposals, since the American government could not conclude a peace separately from our allies, even if it desired to do so. By a clause in the pact of the League of Nations, independent action of this sort will be barred as soon as the League begins to function, whether or not the United States is a member of the League. And the leading Allied powers of Europe have expressed their determination to put the peace treaty speedily into effect and to place the League on its feet at once.

BUSINESS WAITS.

More serious, in a sense, it is pointed out, is the economic loss involved in delaying month after month the establishing of peace. The stabilization of industry, expected to come with the conclusion of the peace negotiations, must remain in abeyance until the Senate ratifies the treaty in some form that will prove practicable. During six months, plans for reconstruction have been held up. Priceless time has been frittered away by the Senate. The only thing actually accomplished has been the passage of revenue bills, to meet the expense that must continue till relieved by fully re-established peace and stabilized industry and commerce.

The men active in the drive of the League to Enforce Peace declare that swift action on the treaty must be secured, in view of this grave situation in which the Senate has placed the nation. The President can resubmit the treaty as soon as Congress convenes next month and the discussion can begin all over again. And, it is pointed out, the argument can again be dragged beyond all bounds of reason and public weal unless the voice of the people is plainly and emphatically heard by the gentlemen in Washington.

"I hope," said Mr. Bowen yesterday, "that every man and woman who is loyal to this country's interests will telegraph to the California Senators and do it tomorrow."

VICTORY POST VOTES AGAINST UNION PLAN.

PLANS TO MERGE TWO LOCAL LEGION ORGANIZATIONS FAIL COMPLETELY.

By an unanimous vote the members of Victory Post of the American Legion last night rejected the proposal to join forces with the Los Angeles post to make one large organization to be known as Los Angeles Post, and will continue as at present to be known as Victory Post, No. 54, American Legion.

This action was taken at the meeting in the Enlisted Men's Club at Trinity Auditorium.

The post also voted to admit former army women nurses to Victory Post with the same rights enjoyed by the soldiers, sailors and marines. Miss Gertrude E. Fortune of 600 North St. Andrews place was chosen chairman of the women's committee which will seek to enroll in the American Legion all the women nurses of this city who saw war service.

After the business session Barney Goff, chairman of Victory Post, presented the post with a large silk American flag, a gift from Mrs. Anita Baldwin.

WOMAN GRAVELY HURT.

May Die After Wreck in Which Second Motorist Suffers.

Mrs. May L. Russell, 43 years of age, 4050 West Seventh street, was perhaps fatally injured yesterday afternoon, when a motor car driven by her son, Clarence Russell, collided at Wilshire boulevard and Rampart street with a machine driven by F. B. Watkins, 932 South Kenmore avenue. Mrs. Russell was thrown from her son's automobile and received grave injuries, that include a possible fracture of the skull. She was treated at the Receiving Hospital and then taken to the California Hospital.

Mr. Watkins was also treated at the Receiving Hospital for a fractured left shoulder blade and for lacerations on the face and body.

TO EXPLAIN SUICIDE.

Grand Jury May Investigate Self-Poisoning in Jail.

The means by which John Howard obtained the carbolic acid with which he committed suicide in the County Jail Sunday, just after being transferred from the City Jail, may be the subject of a grand jury inquiry, it was intimated yesterday.

Deputy Sheriffs Green and Modie, who took Howard, then under arrest for threats to kill, from the City Jail, declared the police gave them the prisoner's pistol, but turned over to him the many other articles he had had in his pocket when arrested. Among the articles returned to Howard, say the deputies, was the carbolic acid, which he swallowed before he was again searched at the County Jail.

DE VALERA GOES EAST.

Edward de Valera, "president of the Irish republic," left Los Angeles yesterday for the East. He made no announcement of his intended destination. His departure from the Alexandria was quiet and without incident. There was no demonstration.

CONSTANTINO IS DEAD IN SOUTH.

Telegram from Mexico City Tells of Singer's End.

Demise Follows Collapse on Stage During Concert.

Florencio Constantino, for many years a great grand opera tenor, is dead in Mexico City. This information was received here by telegraph late yesterday from Ricardo Constantino, a son of the singer, who is at the Mexican capital now. The news came to Joseph M. Bernstein of this city, who was attorney for Constantino during the several years the latter was connected with musical affairs here.

The information contained in the telegram was meager, but Mr. Bernstein thinks it probable that the tenor's demise was the result of a nervous breakdown he suffered several months ago while on a concert tour in Mexico. After giving two concerts, Constantino collapsed on the stage in Mexico City and was taken to a sanatorium. His condition at that time was thought to be the result of an attack of influenza suffered earlier in the year.

He leaves two sons, Ricardo Constantino of New York and Antonio Constantino of Boston, and two daughters and a widow residing in Madrid Spain, to which place the body will be sent for burial. Most of the estate consists of a 2000-acre ranch in Argentina. The widow, however, is said to own an immense estate in Southern Spain.

Constantino came to Los Angeles in 1914 from San Francisco, where he sang for a year with the National Grand Opera Company. In 1916 he headed a company which gave three weeks of grand opera here, and during the following year he organized and opened the California Temple of Arts, a school of singing, instrumental music and the allied arts. He left last April to fill a concert engagement in Mexico.

From 1908 to 1912 Constantino was regarded by musical authorities as one of the five leading tenors of the world.

He was born in Spain 49 years ago, at Balboa. His parents were very poor. As a coal-passer on a steamship he made his way to South America, where by working at humble occupations he earned enough money to secure a musical education. He made his debut as a singer at Montevidio, Uruguay, in 1897, scoring a success, and returned to Europe shortly afterward to continue his studies.

He forged to the front in the operahouses of Paris, Madrid and London, and then came to this country with the San Carlos Opera Company. Shortly afterward he was chosen first tenor at the Boston Operahouse, singing "Rigoletto" at the opening of that edifice, with Mme. Nordica in the leading soprano role. He remained there as chief tenor three years, later singing at the Metropolitan Operahouse in New York City. During the last ten years of his life he sang for hundreds of phonograph records. Both of his sons are now in the employ of one of the largest phonograph record companies in the United States.

"IRISH COUNT" FREED ON LONG PROBATION.

ADMITS HE CHANGED FIGURES ON CHECKS GIVEN HIM BY MOTHER-IN-LAW.

"If there is any lapse during the period of your probation, I want it understood that you will have to serve your sentence," said Judge Craig yesterday in granting probation of six years to Randal Dunne Taaffe, known in Southern California as the "Irish count," because of his claims to a large fortune in Ireland.

Taaffe pleaded guilty of changing figures on two checks given him by his mother-in-law, Mrs. Martha J. Klipstein. He admitted raising one check for $5 to $500 and one for $7 to $7500, and cashing them.

Taaffe's arrest was brought about by his mania for automobiles, according to the report of Probation Officer Dodds. The report showed that Taaffe had also obtained money from his own parents.

MANY TINY ILLS SOUR HER LIFE.

Woman Soon to be Married Swallows Poison, Blames "Little Things."

"Just because of a lot of little things" was the only explanation offered by Miss Katheryn Day, 41 years of age, of 416 South Clarence street, in the Receiving Hospital late yesterday afternoon after she attempted to end her life in her apartments by swallowing poison. According to police surgeons Miss Day's condition is serious, but she has a fighting chance for her life.

Miss Day told the police that she expects to be married to George Dish next Saturday but declined to give his address.

CONSTANTINO---AN APPRECIATION.

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT.

A man who long exercised a potent sway over the opera-loving public, Signor Florencio Constantino, will leave a lasting impression as a singer whose art was ever the essence of refinement during the days when he was one of the reigning luminaries of the American stage. I remember Constantino's first appearance in this city, over ten years ago, as a member of Henry Russell's San Carlo Opera Company of New Orleans. At that time he was in the zenith of his career, and was famed for the perfection of his tonal quality. The essence of this tone was its compelling sweetness. I heard him sing opposite Nordica in "La Gioconda," and I remember with what applause the audience greeted his rendition of the famous "Ciel e Mar," which was one of his very finest arias. When this opera company first came to the city they presented their performances at an old skating rink at Eighteenth and Main streets, on a stage far too small for an adequate production of the works, which they gave in a finished manner for the time. Later in their engagement they moved to Temple Auditorium. It was here that I remember hearing "Gioconda" under such circumstances as it has seldom been presented here, for the performance was one of the memorable ones of the period.

Constantino afterward sang at Boston and achieved for himself a very marked fame in the eastern art cenetra. I do not believe that he sang in California again until within the past five or six years, when he came here with his own opera company, except possibly in concert.

MAN OF THE STAGE.

Constantino was essentially the man of the stage. He never appeared to advantage on the recital platform. He loved the heroic gesture too well, the broad freedom of movement, which was afforded him, and which he knew so well how to utilize, in the lyric-dramatic surroundings. He knew by instinct the mode and manner of the performance of each scene. I doubt whether he learned many roles late in his life. Those which he had at his finger tips, as it were, he had literally grown up with. He had a keen feeling for the delicately-conveyed emotion, never tearing loose from all his vocal moorings in moments of intense declamation of passion. He always refined the dross and left the pure metal, and though in this way he may not have been guided by his intellectual so much as his sensitive feeling, the effect was one that always conveyed an idea of beauty and satisfaction to the auditor.

Of course, I speak particularly of of Constantino at the height of his achievement. Unfortunately, we never knew him well at his best. When he came to this city a few years ago to remain, his voice had lost much of its native smoothness, nor was he so accurate and certain in his memory of his roles. Still he had that fine possession of tradition and training, which even in spite of physical failing, enabled him to continue his career here—this plus an unquenchable spirit of enterprise that never allowed such a thing as possible or actual failure to diminish its fire. Up to the last, I believe, had his health permitted it, Constantino would have been active.

GRAND OPERA HERE.

The musical will doubtless remember as the most unusual effort of his later days, the inauguration of a series of grand opera performances built up very largely on of local resources. It was not a successful venture financially, nor were all the productions artistically satisfactory, but certain ones among them, like the presentation of "The Barber of Seville," with a remarkable cast, will remain a permanent mark of the ability of Constantino to do something big and different. Without doubt, this performance of the "Barber" was the best ever given in the city, and one of the best ever presented west of New York City.

During this time Constantino organized a conservatory here, and this occupied practically his entire attention, until his illness and financial difficulties made it practically impossible for him to "carry on." Then he went to Mexico, a land closely resembling that of his birth in its language and people, to pass his last days. His one fault—a com-

NINE FIREMEN SAVE CAT.

An unidentified black cat was rescued from a perilous perch in the tip-top of a ninety-foot cedar tree in the yard of Mrs. L. Hudson, 771 South Central avenue—where tabby had been marooned for two days, to the great consternation of the neighbors—by the valiant efforts of Lieut. L. E. Lobell and eight firemen of Truck Company No. 7, last evening. The fire department squad was forced to use eighty-five feet of ladder and a life net before it succeeded in rescuing the feline from her lofty retreat, far above this dog-infested earth.

Early last Saturday afternoon, the cat was driven to the tree for refuge by an elderly bulldog, known as "Oscar the Second," because of his love of peace. He was christened by the children of the neighborhood, with whom he plays with sedate gentleness.

The grown folks paid no attention to the matter until Sunday afternoon, when the children told them the cat was still up the tree. They viewed the feline's predicament, but decided to wait another day for tabby to descend.

When the householders returned from work, yesterday afternoon, pussy was still there. Followed a hasty conference. Then a fire alarm was sent in.

Loudly clanging, Truck Company No. 7 sped to the scene.

"Where's the fire," Lieut. Lobell asked.

"There ain't no fire," volunteered a youngster. "Pussy's up in the tree and won't come down."

Against the tall tree was set up a tall ladder, and Lieut. Lobell climbed it. He could reach the top of the tree, but the pesky cat receded to the end of a limb, just out of his reach, and too slender to support him.

Lieut. Lobell descended and conferred with his men.

Then, while four firemen held a life net below, he climbed to the dizzy height again with a long pole in his hand. He forced the recalcitrant kitty to jump. Making a perfect leap, she hit the exact center of the net. Then there was a flash of black fur and she had fled the scene of her indignity.

The assembled neighbors burst into excited chatter.

The firemen gathered together their apparatus and returned to their station.

"Fire's out," they reported.

SUES ON EVE OF GIRL'S WEDDING.

Kerckhoff Made Defendant by Daughter's Admirer.

Plaintiff Out on Parole on Charge of Insanity.

Young Woman in Case Does not Even Know Him.

On the eve of the marriage today of Miss Marion Kerckhoff, daughter of William G. Kerckhoff, to Webster B. Holmes, Otto Peter Balog, a real estate broker, yesterday filed a $100,000 damage suit against the girl's father, alleging malicious prosecution.

W. W. Swan, a detective, was named as a co-defendant. The complaint was filed in the Superior Court here, through Attorney Lloyd L. Miller.

In his complaint Mr. Balog alleges that he was arrested, charged with insanity, June 26, last, and sent to the County Hospital in custody for sixteen days. July 12, last, at a hearing before Judge Reeve, he says he was adjudged not guilty and discharged. The arrest, Mr. Balog says, was caused by the fact that "the plaintiff sent flowers and wrote letters to Marion Kerckhoff, the daughter of the defendant, William G. Kerckhoff, under hallucinations." The records show that Mr. Balog is free on parole.

The complaint was filed only a few hours after details of the wedding, which is scheduled to take place at the St. John's Episcopal Church, with Rev. George Davidson officiating, were given out by members of the family of the bride-to-be. The ceremony, which will take place at 4:30 p.m., will be attended by relatives and close personal friends of the Kerckhoff family and Mr. Holmes only.

"MENTALLY SICK."

Superior Judge Reeve, who handled the case mentioned in the complaint, last night denied that Balog was adjudged not guilty and fully discharged. "Under the psychopathic parole law the man was found to be mentally sick and bordering on insanity. The court held that he needed supervision and paroled him to his attorney."

That the commission hearing the case entertained no doubt that the man was not mentally balanced, but that he was not adjudged insane, was the statement of Judge Reeve. Mr. Balog was told, that he must not molest or annoy the Kerckhoff family in any way, and promised to cease his attentions to the young woman mentioned in the case.

Attorney Miller, representing Mr. Balog, yesterday said he had no statements to make other than that his client did not consider that sending of flowers and letters to a young woman constituted grounds upon which a man could be charged with insanity. The complaint alleges that many persons believing that charge true ceased to solicit

The People and Their Troubles

PICKING ON OUR "IN-LAWS"

(COPYRIGHT BY THE KNICKERBOCKER TELEGRAM, NEW YORK HERALD CO.)

BY JANE DIXON.

It seems strange beyond comprehension that a man's happiness, the foundation of the home he strives and struggles for, should be undermined by the plucking fingers of the very hand he hopes will keep safe and sound—the hand of his wife.

Yet this very thing is happening every day, not in one instance, but in a hundred, a thousand, perhaps even ten thousand.

Daughter-in-law is chipping away at the foundation stones of love and trust and faith and futurity with the sharp chisel of an evil tongue. She is sapping the vitality of comradeship of mutual faith and sympathy and belief by her bickerings over her husband's family.

Only the other day I received a plea for advice from one of these bestowed husbands, who have tried every method of wifely and family conciliation and who are rapidly reaching the point where they themselves will kick out the keystone to the arch of their homes and allow the whole tottering structure to topple into bald wreckage.

"What is a fellow to do?" wrote this husband. "I have always loved my mother. Family affection was a part of my boyhood training and was carried on into young manhood. It never occurred to me the woman I married might be jealous of my attentions to my mother.

"This nagging has been going on all through my married life—four years, to be exact. It grows worse instead of better.

"Last Christmas my wife and I had a quarrel which was not patched up for a month because I insisted on our accepting an invitation to eat Christmas dinner at the home of my parents. We have always gone to their home on this holiday. It is the one day of the year my family 'gets together.' We have made it our business to hold the obligation sacred. My brother and his family came all the way from Butte, Mont., to keep the circle intact.

"For some unknown reason my wife suddenly decided we would dine at home this Christmas. I reasoned with her, offered to do anything she liked on our other holidays in return for her sacrificing this one, but she remained stubborn. In the end I went alone. My family are aware of my wife's antipathy, her petty jealousy. I know they felt sorry for me, and it was this very pity that cut deepest of all.

"Since the Christmas quarrel things have gone from bad to worse. I can't mention my mother without a scene of some kind, a back-biting remark, an ugly accusation. It's getting on my nerves. I feel my health is being affected. I am sure my wife is constantly on the alert, ready to spring at the slightest suggestion of family. I have to guard my every word to avoid a storm. What should a man do? Should he cut out his mother, his family, entirely, let them be dead to him? Or should he stand pat and allow things to take their course?"

You guessed right the last time, my dear man. By all means, allow things to take their course. The truth of the matter is you chose unwisely in the game of wife-winning. You wandered through a peach orchard and, by some unlucky trick of fate, you plucked a large puckery lime.

The woman you have described could never be the nucleus of a happy home under any circumstances. She is not gaited that way. She would always find some excuse for spewing the poison in her perverted mind and heart on the delicate fabric of your joy. If not mother, why then your friend, your business partner, even the tiny maid for whom you mixed sand dough away back in mud-pie days.

A wife must be first. This much is understood. She must have your first consideration, your first love, your first devotion. But when she demands that you forget your respect and love for the mother who bore you she is no longer a real woman and must be treated accordingly.

The love of a son for his mother and of a husband for his wife are two separate and distinct loves. They are as far apart as farthest east and farthest west. Never, in any circumstances, can they conflict, can one take so much as an iota from the other. On the contrary, when rightly generated each adds to, feeds the other.

The best part of the "law" in daughter-in-law as chronicled in the letter just quoted is that it can free a man from such a selfish and unwholesome creature.

Another husband writes in this vein:

"My mother is alone. She is a widow. I am her only son, her only child. I know loneliness is eating her heart out. She never complains, but I am sure she wonders why I do not invite her to come and share my home. There is plenty of room. We have servants, so her presence would entail no extra work on my wife.

"Several times I have broached the subject of having her with us, but my wife avoids it. Somehow, I get the impression she does not want my mother, although the two of them are the best of friends. What would you do?"

What would I do?

I would ask my wife point blank whether or not she would find my mother a burden.

If mother is willing to be a bystander, if she will not interfere in running the household machinery, and has enough wisdom to keep a lock on her eyes and her lips regarding happenings in the home, there is no reason under the shining sun why she should not share the home of her only child.

The position of daughter-in-law is indeed a difficult one, but most of the time daughter-in-law helps to make it so.

Why should a wife's heart not be soft and warm and gentle toward the woman who mothered the man she loves?

Why should the latchstring of her home not be out to his mother, his father, as to her own?

Mother is mother. As such she is sacred, the mother of your husband only a shade less than your own. And father, by the way, belongs in the same chapter.

Father, do not rail against the so-called extravagances, the new-fangled notions of daughter-in-law. Times have changed since mother was a bride. The young folk of today live in a more complex age. They go about more, rub elbows with the world more, see more of life. Mother's wedding gown cost $50, an extravagance that was the talk of the town. Daughter-in-law's bridal toggery was conservative at $500.

So long as they respect her position, the happiness and peace of her home, a daughter-in-law is in duty bound to be genuinely cordial in her relations with her husband's family.

If she cannot be cordial, and radiate such cordiality from the heart, she is not capable of a big love. She has not the fulsomeness of a woman's love for the man with whom she mates.

Love finds its highest expression in service.

The purpose of a wife's service is to keep her husband contented, to establish him in happiness.

To secure such content, such happiness, it is necessary not only to be a good daughter-in-law, but to be a real daughter minus the law.

The conquest of your husband's family ought to be a mighty interesting adventure. If you have not already done so, try it.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES"

Sounds Warning.

SANTA ANA, Nov. 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I do not want to criticise the resolution passed by the American Legion to abrogate "the gentlemen's agreement" to exclude Japanese and deny the citizenship right of American born children of Japanese parentage. However, I regret immensely that such sentiments prevail among the admired heroes who fought the cause of liberty, honor, justice and humanity for the world.

Racial prejudice, false propaganda and misunderstanding made this sweeping anti-Japanese public opinion, and politicians who want popular votes make this ill-feeling pretense their personal advantage. Yet, the worst preachings of racial hatred spreads like contagious disease through the medium of yellow journalism in America.

Japanese in America are mostly behaving well, industrious and striving to promote agricultural and commercial progress, and social betterment of themselves. We believe in education of our children so they may become hundred per cent. American, with American ideals of equality of human rights, justice and liberty, the country that stands for freedom and world democracy.

Japanese will never endanger or menace your civilization, but beware of your prevailing mob spirit and radicalism that really degrade your ideals of Washington, Lincoln and Roosevelt.

Whither Are We Drifting?

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14.—[To the Editor of The Times:] At the present time there seems to be quite an agitation from the Board of Education to further advocate another bond issue for seven millions for the purpose of acquiring more schools. While there may be a necessity for them, the question arises why is there so much space allowed to go for other purposes than what the structures are built for, namely, for school purposes.

It appears by an article in your paper of November 7, there seems to be a mercantile institution competing with those who are now and have been the ones to pay the taxes for all of these buildings. If the Board of Education is allowed to conduct all varieties of business in such structures whom does it effect and who gets the benefit and financial gain thereby, with no rents to pay, and also heat and light free?

The space occupied by such, therefore, if put to the use of and for school purposes, would thus provide much-needed space for the scholars and the mercantile commodities drift into the regular marts of trade, thus giving the ones who pay the rents, licenses, and bear their share of taxes to help keep up with all increases in the city seems to be a knife with two edges, cutting both ways, and no remedy but grin and bear it in regard to that bond issue, as the people can see that the board acknowledges $2,000,000 are at interest at 2 per cent.

Yet, in order to pay the warrants must borrow at 6 per cent. for sixty days, and coming back with this amount and perhaps another million that is not remunerative, and then ask the people for another seven million, like barking up the wrong tree, all due respect for the ability represented by the board and the methods established, we fail to see where we are drifting.

THE world's second largest idol, located at Kamakura, Japan, is to be featured in "The Petals of Lao-Tze," a photoplay which Henry McRae is now directing for the Universal Film Manufacturing Corporation, in the Orient, according to word received here yesterday. Mr. McRae is featuring Marie Walcamp in the play, and Harland Tucker is leading man with the company.

"Daabutsa is the name of the gigantic idol. It is made of solid bronze, and was built about 800 years ago. Mr. McRae writes that the image is visited each day by hundreds of Japanese worshippers. It stands in the public park at Kamakura. The idol is fifty feet high, having a circumference of ninety-eight feet.

This idol probably had the longest face of any image on earth. It is eight and one-half feet from top of head to point of chin, and from knee to knee it is thirty-six feet. The eyes are of pure gold. They measure about four feet in length.

The bronze from which the idol was built is about two inches thick, and on the inside of the image are three statues of Amida. The word Daabutsa means Great Buddha. In the accompanying picture, Mr. McRae and his company are shown at the base of the great image.

WAGE BATTLE ON FIRE ESCAPE.

Burglar Suspect and Officer in Desperate Tussle High Above Sidewalk.

Following a fight on a fire escape more than 100 feet above the sidewalk, Patrolman O. P. Torres yesterday morning arrested E. F. Keele, 28 years of age, of Oxnard, on a charge of suspicion of burglary. The fight took place on the fire escape of a hotel near Fourth and Main streets after Keele attempted to escape.

The police say Keele was attempting to pry open a window in the hotel. They also claim that he took part in several other rooming-house burglaries.

REJOICE OVER OPEN SHOP.

Indications of immediate relief from the "clothes famine," brought on here several months ago through the strike of journeymen tailors, were pointed out by representative tailors at a meeting, last night, of the Los Angeles Merchant Tailors' Exchange, at 741 South Broadway. They said a number of the leading establishments are already employing larger forces than they had before the strike. Most of the shops are running with a full complement of tailors.

Speakers said the action of the striking tailors in Oakland, who voted to return on the open-shop basis, has had a pronounced effect all along the Coast.

It was stated that employees who went out on strike, but who are again at work, are completely satisfied with the new "American plan" which was adopted by the Pacific Coast Merchant Tailors' Association, after every effort at compromise with the strikers had failed.

Sam G. Levy, president of the organization, is now in San Francisco, looking after the interests of merchant tailors. Before leaving he said the radical element among the strikers, which sought to get control of the tailoring industry in order to institute a soviet system, has been defeated at every turn.

NO PICKETING, COURT DIRECTS.

Tailors Get Order Against Any Overt Act on Part of the Union Strikers.

Ninety local tailors and woolen merchants who, in the interest of their business, combined in a suit against the members of Local No. 81, Journeymen Tailors' Association, obtained a restraining order Saturday from Judge Willis, acting presiding judge, returnable before Judge Jackson December 4.

It is declared in the suit that the union men, who have struck, are picketing and generally interfering with the plaintiffs' business. The latter contend these actions are the result of a conspiracy to ruin their business and, if the strikers are not restrained, disastrous results will follow. The merchant tailors are represented by Attorneys Pacht and Goldfiam.

Under the restraining order granted by Judge Willis, picketing or other overt acts will be deemed in contempt of court.

GUILTY OF KILLING.

He admitted he killed his wife, Mrs. Julia Joseph, August 5, saying that after a long married life she had threatened to make him leave his home. L. D. Barnett represented Joseph, who will appear for sentence Friday.

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS.

BY LADY JANE.

Three very delightful plays written and staged by Florence Pierce Reed were presented at the Ebell Club, yesterday afternoon, to the largest audience of the season. Little Gloria Joy, the film star, was the principal of "Palimony," a one-act comedy based upon the sorrows of the child of divorced parents. In this instance, however, the ingenuity of the little girl brings the parents together again, and all ends well. The little actress was remarkably clever in the part, and still escapes the self-consciousness which her admirers fear for her.

Mrs. Reed took the leading parts in two of the pieces, "Lemon or Cream" and "The Morning Him." Her acting was appreciatively received, and the commendation was general and sincere for her extremely clever writing. There are new sets for the drama at the club, and they are particularly satisfying and lovely. The old rose and silver gray drapes are an addition to the atmosphere of daintiness which pervaded the stage.

Edeen Wallock took the leading masculine part in the two plays, and gave a performance which was more than usually acceptable for its complete naturalness and lack of staginess. The plays are ingenious and the lines witty and pointed. Mrs. Louise Anderson Henderson assisted Mrs. Reed in the first comedy, written for two women, and also gave a child recitation, which entertained the members through an entracte.

Women's City Club.

Dr. J. A. Pomeroy, County Health Officer, spoke at the Women's City Club yesterday afternoon, in Walker Auditorium, on "The Conservation of Child Life," wherein he touched upon the reason for the decline of "white birth" and the vital subjects of child protection. Luncheon was served prior to the meeting at the Pin Ton.

"THE BIGGEST BANK IN TOWN"

NEW ARRIVALS, in Los Angeles are likely, before selecting their bank, to ask, "Which is the Biggest Bank in Town?"

There is sound reasoning in this question. Banks grow big only because depositors voluntarily choose them. The "Biggest Bank in Town" is therefore likely to be the bank which the most people have found to be the institution with which they prefer to do business. Its growth represents the confirmed judgment of hundreds of thousands of depositors, for more than a generation—that it is, above all, the BEST Bank.

Security Trust & Savings Bank now has total resources greater than SEVENTY SEVEN MILLION DOLLARS, and is now, and it has been for more than ten years, the Greatest Depositary of Money in the Southwest.

Security National Bank, the entire capital stock of which is owned by the stockholders of the Security Trust & Savings Bank, shows in its published statement resources of almost TEN MILLION DOLLARS. The allied institutions, together, reach a total of more than EIGHTY SEVEN MILLION DOLLARS.

But SIZE is not the only thing. COMPLETENESS OF SERVICE is characteristic of the Security Banks.

Security Trust & Savings Bank is a Complete Departmental Bank performing for its customers, under one roof and one management, every service which any Bank or any Trust Company may legally offer to perform. It offers Savings Accounts (not taxed by State or County) Checking Accounts, Escrows, Collections, Trusts; a Bond Department and Safe Deposit Vaults.

CAN'T SEE 'EM.

Commissioner Roper announces that the American people are cheerfully complying with a strict and absolute enforcement of the prohibition law. There are no violations whatever, he says. Ain't he the breezy optimist? How many horns are there on a blind pig, anyhow?

STRIKING THOUGHT.

The child is father of the man. The other day a Boyle Heights lad who was asked the usual question promptly replied that he was going to be a striker when he grew up. That's about all the head of the family has been doing of late and the boy wants follow in the footsteps of father.

REAL TEMPERANCE.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union refused to accept the hospitality of the Bevo plant in connection with their convention in St. Louis. Yet men agree that the place is marked by the brewing of one of the most innocent temperance drinks ever offered for human refreshment. Maybap it is not merely temperance that these ladies want.

CITY SPENDERS.

In nearly 150 of the leading cities of America the expenditures last year exceeded the revenues. They spent almost a hundred million dollars more than they took in. Economy and thrift are lost virtues in government. The debt of the City of New York now exceeds a billion dollars and is greater than that of all the other 150 cities combined. When it comes to spending the people's money Tammany never was a piker.

FRENCH THRIFT.

Deposits in the French government saving banks have increased nearly a billion francs this year and are the greatest ever known. This in spite of the fact that the French people are still buying war bonds to the extent of millions a month. Many of the French people are buying luxuries and there is spending of war profits in certain lines, but the habit of thrift is a national trait and France will never be a land of spendthrifts. If the French workman received the wages paid most American workers they would presently find themselves classed as millionaires. The powers of recuperation in such a land are beyond fathom.

THE FRENCH VIEW.

The French government indicated an unwillingness to accept the reservations which the American Senate proposed in connection with the peace treaty. Now Rumania and Jugo-Slavia also speak of reservations which they would make on entering the League. If these reservations would have to be considered and accepted by all the parties to the covenant the world might burn up before the fire department could be called out. We feel yet that the covenant will be ratified with no incumbrance save perhaps a general resolution of interpretation of the American viewpoint. The covenant itself can be amended where necessary when the nations get to working under it.

HOME BUILDING.

With fewer heads of families than ever before in the world there is a greater demand for new homes. Houses are scarce not only in Los Angeles, but in New York, London, Paris and Arcadia. Wherever two or three people are gathered together the cry goes up for a fresh home and habitation. Even in old Madrid a company has been formed to import from America a few thousand of those ready-made houses such as are constructed in this city. These houses that can be put together while you wait appeal to the Spanish mind, especially as there is a present dearth of building material in the Iberian kingdom. The new-fangled castle in Spain may be made in Los Angeles or Grand Rapids and finally assembled with no tool save a hammer or screw driver. But the point is that all over the civilized world there is a new and almost unexplainable demand for fresh homes. It is not merely to replace the wreck of war, but they are wanted in lands where the war was but a remote memory. Likewise there is no restriction as to materials. They are pouring homes to standard measure of concrete in New Jersey and they are thatching with bamboo in Zanzibar, but in all the corners of the earth they are using such building material as is available in the matter of home-making. It is difficult to explain, but it is a condition that exists. Here in Los Angeles there is no boom. We are merely having our feet washed by the general wave.

It was no credit to the Democrats of Massachusetts that they lined up as a party in favor of the mob. It would have been much more to the point if the organization had favored law and order and not the elements of disloyalty.

In preparing to enter an elevator always stand near the door. It enables those desiring to get out an opportunity to lose their lives in negotiating that process.

The strikes in the local shipyards are now but a memory. The strikers lost hundreds of thousands of dollars and got nowhere.

MAKING WATER RUN UP HILL.

ARTICLE NO. I.

WHEN the dogs of war were unleashed by America two and a half years ago the faddists, the propagandists and the parlor Socialists swooped down like a flock of jackdaws upon the Federal government. Various and conflicting nostrums were proposed to cure the country of its supposed ills, when, as a matter of fact, the country was healthy. President Wilson was a confirmed idealist. In his historical writings he had extolled ideas with a taint of radicalism; and when he passed from a writer of history to a maker of history he began building castles in Spain faster then he could put foundations under them.

Washington became the Mecca for theorists and dreamers, with demagogues among them. Many of these secured executive positions under the government; others succeeded in getting their radical theories written into laws passed by Congress. The Federal administration resembled a government of theorists. American traditions were abandoned as obsolete; the futurist movement in art passed into politics. Economic laws were suspended by Federal decrees; the government became a vast experiment station.

Modern industry is a great, complicated machine that functions properly only when there is a harmonious operation of all its parts. The faddists took it apart to examine its works and haven't been able to put it together again. They cut off the supply of oil and wonder why the engine stops running. They discard essential parts whose functions are beyond their comprehension. They condemn all they do not understand, and supply new parts which break the correlation of the whole. They have been given a free hand until they have come perilously near wrecking the whole machine. And in the midst of the confusion they have themselves created they demand the privilege of further experimentation.

II.

TWO months ago the government began a series of investigations having for their purpose the reduction of living costs. The investigations have cost millions. There have been many indictments, but few convictions; and the cost of living continues to soar. The price of certain essentials has almost doubled since the signing of the armistice. The main trouble is that the investigators are hunting in the wrong places. The government indicts retailers for doubling prices, only to find that they are paying more than double the former cost of the articles which they offer for sale. Increased wages are chasing higher prices, like a puppy after its own tail; and the public buys its seats of the ticket speculators to witness the performance.

When the theorists in high places began fixing the maximum prices for which essential articles of food and clothing could be sold, The Times sounded a warning that such procedure was certain to limit production; and that the time must inevitably come when essential articles could not be had in sufficient quantities to supply the whole country at any price.

The government fixed a maximum price for sugar. For a few months it limited speculation and steadied the market. But the construction of new factories stopped, farmers limited their acreage of sugar beets and the country finds itself with less than half a normal sugar supply. It boots little to the housewife that the government price for sugar is 11 cents a pound when there is no sugar on the market. There are disquieting indications that the illicit speculation under government control is vastly greater than the open speculation in the days when the price was regulated by the economic law of supply and demand.

If the government had not interfered in 1918 the price of sugar might have been for a time almost prohibitive; but the result would have been to stimulate the building of new factories, to double the beet sugar acreage and to give the country a sugar product which would have caused the price to tumble this fall, just as the price of beans fell last year. It was a penny-wise-pound-foolish plan that the experience of former generations has condemned, but that the present generation insisted on giving a new trial.

Housewives in Los Angeles are now scheming and conniving to get a little extra sugar for Thanksiving and the Christmas holidays at any price; and if the government had not interfered two years ago there would be vast quantities of sugar on the market and prices would be correspondingly low. The longer the government interferes, the longer the day will be removed when there will be a sufficient supply of sugar to meet the demand.

It is a strange travesty on republican government to discover that those in authority could not understand that, while they could compel the sugar producers to sell their product at or below a fixed price, they could not compel the factories to keep running; that while they could limit the price that the farmers should receive for their beets, they could not compel the farmers to continue planting beets. The price which the farmer gets for his beets is regulated by the price of sugar. Whenever that price is so low that the farmer sees a better prospect in some other crop he stops raising sugar beets, with the result that there is not enough sugar at any price to go around.

III.

INDUSTRY never thrives in servitude; it is prosperous only when it is free. The right of liberty guaranteed by the Constitution makes every American restive under undue governmental restraint. "Better a crust of bread and liberty" is the farmer's response when the government seeks to dictate the price which he shall receive for his crops. He knows that government interference is political interference, and experience has taught him to be wary of politicians.

When the government fixed a price for wheat it found that tens of thousands of farmers preferred to raise barley at a less prospective profit and be free, to raising wheat under government dictation. Most of them were patriotic enough to continue to grow wheat while the war was at its height; but they feel since the armistice that they prefer a smaller profit and freedom to farming under political restraint.

In other than agricultural industries there has been a double domination, which entails a double servitude. Added to governmental interference is that of the walking delegates of the labor unions. Never before in the history of the world has the manufacturer been so harassed in the operation of his plant; never before has he been so heavily taxed. The movement for the nationalization of industry has been fatal to expansion. Investors are not inclined to place their money in an industry that may be expropriated by the government as soon as it is finished. The single stimulus to investment is prospect of profit. Dollars are as unwilling to work for nothing as men.

Take the experience of the railroads. The government tried to operate them and made a sorry mess of it. Now the roads are going back to their owners, who are threatened on one hand by a bill before the Senate that would limit profit to 7 per cent. on the investment, without any guarantee concerning losses, and on the other hand by the rapacious railroad brotherhoods. Is it any wonder that investors prefer to loan their money at 6 per cent. on first mortgages to taking such chances? Yet the prosperity of the country depends in a large measure on the expansion of the railroads. Transportation lines are necessary to develop new territory. Until governmental interference ceases, until the economic laws of supply and demand are given unrestrained play, how are those new lines to be builded?

Until industry is freed alike from the tyranny of the closed shop and that of political interference, there will be no surcease from the high cost of living. Economic laws may be suspended for a time by government decree; but the people living under that government always pay dearly in the end for their folly. There are laws of nature over which man has no control; and it is a continued violation of these laws that has brought about the present era of spalling prices and scant production.

A JOLLY GOOD FELLOW.

The Prince of Wales has had his holiday and is back on the seas headed for the old home. The close-ups that America has had of royalty have not harmed that ancient institution. The King of the Belgians represents over six feet of splendid manhood, and the English prince is an amiable and unspoiled human being. The latter indeed is most kindly and self-effacing. He says frankly that his brother is smarter than he is and that he himself ought not to be fussed over. But withal he is thoroughly good-natured and tactful and he also possesses a sense of humor beyond the average Briton. He indicated an enthusiastic appreciation of the hospitality that was so cheerfully accorded him. He was having a good time and was not ashamed to admit it. In fact, he was a regular fellow and so far as known did not inspire a hostile or unfriendly word during the full course of his journeying.

In the hands of the amateur the automobile is a deadly weapon.

BRITISH PROFITEERS.

There have been over seven thousand prosecutions for profiteering in England and approximately 1500 convictions. Want of a clear-cut definition as to what constitutes profiteering is an obstacle in prosecuting cases there, as it is here. The definition of Sir Auckland Geddes of the Board of Trade is the one usually made the basis of prosecution. In effect it is merely "the making of an unusually large profit." But, on the other hand, the public seems to have lost all sense of what constitutes an unusually large profit or what is a reasonable one. Where it is found that the profit is not warranted by an analysis of production costs, but is "dictated by avarice and greed," conviction is assured. It would be fine if the profiteers who are in the catalogue of avarice and greed could be as certainly reached on this side of the water.

Another thing, where is the Christmas egg-nog coming in this year? And the New Year calls with something piping hot on the sideboard. Ah, lack-a-day.

The Lady or the Tiger?

PATRIOT AND DEMAGOGUE.

During the long-continued and at times acrid discussions of the peace treaty the country has been afforded an opportunity to make a fairly accurate appraisement of men in public life. Exceptional facilities have been afforded for distinguishing between the statesmen and the demagogues. Discussion was not limited to the floor of the Senate. The President and the "bitter-enders" toured the country, carrying their appeals to the people, only to find that the public was not wholly in accord with either. The President was held to be much nearer right than his detractors, but his argument for ratification without reservation or amendment was not sufficient to break down the Senate opposition. Statesmen who are not officeholders took a prominent part in the debate.

As The Times has already pointed out, THE TREATY IS NOT DEAD. The refusal to ratify at the special session simply indicates a hung jury on the early ballots. When Congress reconvenes next week the treaty will still be the question of first importance before the Senate and the country. The public expects a compromise, which means ratification with reservations. And it is becoming apparent that the spirit of compromise must come from without the Senate chamber. President Wilson and Senator Lodge are so self-sufficient, each in himself, that they would probably pass to their graves without reaching an agreement.

During the whole debate one statesman who has not lost his poise, who has displayed neither rancor nor bumptiousness, who has eschewed all self-aggrandizement, is Mr. Taft. When the text of the treaty was first published he said that it was not all that the friends of the League to Enforce Peace had hoped for, but that it was a long step in the right direction. He advocated ratification without reservation or amendment, believing that necessary amendments could be made later. But when opposition developed in formidable proportions in the Senate and the country he asked for ratification with reservations. He held that the Lodge reservations would leave the League of Nations 90 per cent. pure and pointed out how superior that would be to no League at all.

But he condemned Senator Lodge for making the reservations too raw and asked the mild reservationists in the Senate to secure modifications. During the whole time there was no personal invective in his expressions. He sought to avoid any humiliation of the President. He submitted certain reservations under a pledge that their authorship might not be known, not because he was ashamed of them, but because he feared that the Democrats might attach political significance to his act. He urged the President to accept such reservations as were plainly necessary to insure ratification; but he sought no credit for making a compromise. No statesman ever gave a more notable example of placing his country's good before personal interest. The Times is sure that the country appreciates what Mr. Taft has done out of the magnanimity of his great heart. He has been heaping coals of fire, although unintentionally, upon those who relegated him seven years ago to private life; and The Times believes that his counsel will not go unheeded when the Senate again convenes to consider the treaty.

Compare this record with that of the Senator who sneeringly referred to him in Los Angeles as "an eminent man whom all respect and none follow." That was the taunt of Senator Johnson, a "bitter-ender." When he began his campaign against the treaty his political friends, acting under his direction and advice, announced his candidacy for the Presidency. He sought to make his opposition to the treaty a vehicle in which to ride into the White House. He toured the country rallying pro-German and Sinn Fein opposition to the treaty. He denounced the President in terms that none but a demagogue would stoop to utter. He sought to array class against class, section against section, race against race, to solidify the opposition. In the Senate he voted against ratification, with or without reservation; and his political adherents are figuring on the support of all those whose racial and religious animosities have been aroused to forward his candidacy.

There have been other demagogues of the Johnson type in the Republican party in the past; but it is to the glory and the credit of the Grand Old Party that not one of them ever came close to capturing the Presidential nomination.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

SOME DAY.

Some day good sense will reign again, so let's throw up our hats;
some day we'll all be sane again, our belfries free from bats. Some day we'll quit our foolery and buckle down to toil, cut out the rant and drookery and make the kettle boil. Some day we'll tire of clamoring and pawing up the ground, of knocking and of hammering, of yawps and empty sound.
We'll tire of all the driveling of loud wind-jamming men, and we'll go swiftly swiveling to our old jobs again. The brawny-handed carpenter will pass the windsmiths by;
his plane, when he has sharpened
her, will make the shavings fly.
The blacksmith blithely, gaudily, will make his bellows roar, and he

BILL THE BURGLAR.

BY EUGENE BROWN.

"Looks as if we would have to depend on you and Jimmy to burgle our way into the League of Nations," said I to our old friend, Bill the Burglar, who was sorting over some Christmas cards in a downtown store. "Instead of marching up the front steps with a brass band we'll be sneaking through a cellar window in a pair of gum shoes."

"It does look that way," assented the Burglar. "Do you know what I heard in the barber shop just now?"

"You're liable to hear almost anything in a barber shop," retorted I. "Maybe it was one of the mugs making a funny crack."

"This was the boss barber himself," persisted the Burglar, calmly. "He said he had it direct from the man who cuts Lloyd George's hair. He said that England, France and Japan had it all fixed. They were going right ahead with the League and they were going to give Japan the what do you call it—mandate?—over the United States Senate. Anyhow, the Mikado is to be our guardian until we become civilized, quit lynching niggers and go to work."

"I don't believe that," answered I. "In the first place Lloyd George doesn't have his hair cut, and in the second place Hiram Johnson would never work for a Jap. He'd be almost mad enough to leave the Senate rather than take orders from the vegetable man. If the Japanese sent thirty thousand missionaries and nine thousand picture brides to civilize California old Hi Johnson would take off his undershirt and go back into the brush to be a wild man. He'd be d—d if he'd be civilized by any slant-eyed oriental. Take it from me, if we are to be turned over to the Japs to be purified and reformed Secretary Baker will have to have a bigger standing army than he's got now."

"Well; I'm only telling you what they say," explained Bill.

"And not very much of that," returned I.

"Speaking of prohibition, do you know Waldo Waverly?"

"You mean the millionaire banker?"

"I guess that's what ails him—anyway, he has large bundles of the mazuma," responded Bill. "But he must have been asleep at the crossroads on the thirtieth of June. At any rate, he had only one measly case of Scotch and his golf club helped him to lap that up. Night before last he comes to me with a proposition to break into the palatial shack of a friend of his—one of these movie magnates who has two of the six best cellars in the country and who has a den that looks like Christmas eve in my old Kentucky home. He said that he would see that this party would be away from the house when I called. All I would have to do would be to pull up near the place with a car and a lot of empty jars. The best stuff was in two barrels and I was to break into the cellar, draw off the booze into the jars, load them back into the auto and then take the outfit to this banker's garage. He said I could have half of all I got."

"He was a financier, all right," said I. "What's the matter with your practicing burglary in your own name? What do you have to divide with him for? I'll do better than that. Bring the stuff to me and I'll give you two-thirds. Why should you take all the risk and capture the goods for the pleasure of leaving it at his garage?"

"I never thought of that," exclaimed the Burglar, sadly. "But, anyhow, the thing is off. I dropped around last night to get the lay of the land and what do you suppose I found? They've got the whole American Legion on guard at that joint. Blessed if I don't think I saw all of them except Gen. Pershing. There's a machine-gun nest in front of every barrel and I don't believe the whole German army could get near enough to gargle its throat. If Jesse James or Al Jennings tried to hold us that cellar their hides would be shot so full of holes they could cut 'em up into porous plasters. I told that banker man he better negotiate with Marshal Foch or wait until this disarmament business is the real thing."

"I guess that's right," assented I. "I don't know of anything harder for a painstaking burglar to get hold of than a drink."

"You're on!" exclaimed Bill. "Burglary isn't what it is cracked up to be."

"Why don't you strike?" queried I. "Insist on the closed shop. You and Jimmy could open it whenever you wanted, anyhow."

"That's the trouble," exclaimed the Burglar. "There's too much competition and too much kicking. Why, if I even rob my own baby's bank the Attorney-General of the United States talks of investigating or prosecuting me. Yet everybody wants to get plenty while the stuff is in sight. I was just in a cafeteria—one of these places where you wait on yourself and there is no overhead except the wall paper. I paid a quarter for a salad made of two lettuce leaves and a squirt of kerosene oil. I paid another quarter for a dinky team of hot dogs and a thimbleful of sauerkraut. I used to think there was profiteering in my business, but I'm only a piker. These guys can work all day and part of the night. I had to do all mine in the night. I just paid 18 cents for what we used to call an ice cream soda, but all there was to this was a teaspoon of stale cream, and a couple of breaths of cold air. The women used to tell me that my family would starve to death if I paid a nickel for a schooner of beer as tall as a plug hat. Every time I lapped up one of those hellish things I was on the way to perdition. But, oh, boy! it would ease a thirst. I never was good at arithmetic, but according to my figuring it would take $176.55 worth of these ice cream sodas to reach the same stage of refreshment as would be furnished by a two-bit growler of hops. Is somebody profiteering on me?"

"It looks like a hard winter, Bill," exclaimed I, with sympathy.

"It does that," answered the Burglar.

FETE WILL BE WELL LIGHTED.

Expect Broadway's New System to be in Use for New Year's Eve.

A Broadway ablaze with the new system of ornamental lighting on New Year's Eve is to be one of the features of the big celebration of the advent of the new year. NEVER "STEWED," EDUCATOR SAYS.

Head of Watts Schools Sues a Woman for Slander.

Only Stated He Looked that Way, She Testifies.

Prof. Baker Explains He was Weak After the "Flu."

An interesting question was placed before Judge Shenk yesterday when Prof. C. W. Baker, district superintendent of the Watts public schools, demanded $20,100 damages from Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, who, he charged, said in public that he was "stewed" on the streets of Watts. Prof. Miller testified that he has not touched liquor for thirty-six years. He added that his successful work in the public schools depended upon his sobriety.

Mrs. Miller denied she said that Prof. Baker was "stewed." Her expression was, she said, that he "looked as if he was stewed."

The court took judicial notice of the word "stewed," as meaning that Prof. Baker was drunk.

Joseph Papa testified he saw Prof. Baker stagger on the street, looking as if he had been drinking. W. F. Wilms, a barber, also said he saw the professor stagger.

P. W. Witzel testified that Prof. Baker did not walk very straight. Isabella Bell said he walked with his head down "and his face was red and he staggered."

Prof. Baker did not call any witnesses. He stated that on that day in question he was ill with the "flu" and that he was weak. The court has to determine from the testimony whether or not the plaintiff was slandered.

Prof. Baker was represented by Paul Schenck. Griffith Jones was counsel for Mrs. Miller. The judge is thinking over his decision.

NO INCENDIARISM IN FIRE AT ARMY STORE.

POLICE CALL BLAZE RESULT OF SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION AMONG FOOD.

The fire early Sunday morning that caused $20,000 damage to the United States Army quartermaster retail store on East Fourth street, according to Police Detective Sergeant Bean, head of the police arson squad, was not of incendiary origin. Detective Bean said the fire was caused by spontaneous combustion among some of the stored foodstuffs.

According to the official report of the blaze, the fire caused a loss of about $20,000 to the goods stored in the building, and about $4000 to the building itself. The building is owned by the T. Johnson estate. The fire was discovered by the night watchman, who sent in the alarm. Most of the damage was caused by water and smoke.

Coroner Hartwell yesterday announced that no inquest will be held over the body of Myrtle Meredith, a maid in the Westminster Hotel, who was overcome and died from smoke fumes resulting from the fire.

State Milk Inspector Casts Doubts on Producers' Figures.

About the only new development yesterday on the line of the investigation of the present high retail cost of milk was the receipt by Mayor Snyder of a telegram from F. S. Glass, State Milk Inspector, who says:

"Senator Brown has written me regarding milk matters. Cannot understand where Expert Accountant Whitmore could have secured figures indicating production cost of 9½ cents per quart; strongly urge that any figure purporting to show costs submitted by so-called California Milk Producers' Association be most carefully scrutinized, as all such figures as I have seen up here are totally unreliable. Writing you important letter today."

FIND CAR OVER CLIFF.

But Deputies Learn "Accident" was Only a Film "Stunt."

Reports to the Sheriff's office yesterday that a large automobile had plunged over a high cliff on Lookout Mountain, above Laurel Canyon, and that several persons were hurt, proved to be unfounded when Deputy Sheriffs Modie, Hotz, Johnson and Harrington investigated.

After climbing down the cliff, the deputies found the car, which was wrecked, beyond question, but which also was plainly a discarded "prop" used in a motion-picture play. Later inquiry established that the car was run off the cliff to furnish a screen "thriller."

DRUGGED AND ROBBED.

Charging that a man and a young woman dressed in boy's clothing attacked him in his room at 250 Clay street early yesterday and robbed him of $20 after chloroforming him, John Roebling yesterday asked the police to find the robbers, who are believed to have fled in an automobile. Mr. Roebling was unable to give the police a clear account of the affair.

Judge Refuses Probation to Youth Who Wanted to go Back.

Refusing to permit Leo Higgins to go on probation in order that he might go back to the navy, from which he had deserted, Judge Craig yesterday sent the youth to the Ione Reform School. Judge Craig said that the navy's standards had to be upheld. Higgins admitted stealing an automobile.

Anthony Giacobbi, also said to be a deserter from the navy, was given until December 1 for hearing on an application for probation. Giacobbi also admitted stealing an automobile.

TELLS LIBRARY VIEW.

Mayor Says Building Must be Part of General Plan.

The Public Library Board discussed with Mayor Snyder yesterday afternoon prospects for obtaining a new library building suitable to the needs of Los Angeles. Members stated they firmly believe the citizens would authorize a bond issue and urged that it be attempted soon.

The Mayor's attitude is that adoption of a definite city planning scheme should be accomplished as speedily as possible, and that the library building must be a part of the general plan for city buildings; that as soon as the general plan is adopted, the library board should undertake a campaign to secure the required financial assistance to carry through its desires.

GIRL ARRAIGNED FOR CAR VICTIM'S DEATH.

Eloise Marie Marshall, called the "poor little rich girl," was arraigned yesterday, in Judge Craig's court, on a charge of manslaughter, because of the death of Samuel Lund, who was killed by her automobile at Fifty-sixth street and South Park avenue, October 27. Her case was continued until Friday for entry of plea.

CHAPLIN REPUDIATES BABY ADOPTION YARN.

CHEAP PUBLICITY STUNT, HE SAYS OF "SLOP" PRINTED IN TWO NEWSPAPERS.

The Times yesterday received the following letter from Charlie Chaplin, the motion-picture comedian:

November 24, 1919.

Editor The Times,
Los Angeles, California.

Dear Sir: Referring to the article concerning me which was published recently in two local papers, I wish to say:

I have no intention of adopting any child or baby, and the announcement that I was contemplating such a thing was news to me.

This publication appears to me to be a cheap motion-picture publicity stunt on the part of some unscrupulous press agent, who has no regard for the finer feelings of anyone, or the intimate side of the his private life.

And I wish to state that I do not like the cheap sentimental slop that is vomited on the front page of any newspaper concerning my private affairs.

I have very little privacy as it is, being before the public so much, but there are some things that I regard as too personal for public discussion.

Yours sincerely,
[Signed] CHARLIE CHAPLIN.

CITY MAY BUY EYE.

The City Council may soon be in the market for one artificial eye. The matter of the city's purchasing one was before that body yesterday morning, and was sent to the Finance Committee. The price is estimated at $15. The eye is wanted for Fireman Harry C. Leviness, who lost his left eye in an accident in line of duty.

RECEIVED STOLEN CAR.

Admitting he received a stolen automobile from Baradino Sanchez and Pass Real, M. Rios pleaded guilty, yesterday, in Judge Craig's court. The automobile was stolen from Thoams Rundle, of 435 First street, Oxnard. Rios asked for probation. He will be given a hearing December 8.

FED HORSE TO LIONS.

Owner Wins Judgment to Cover Cost of Wild Animals' Banquet.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, Nov. 24.—Following an epidemic of horse stories that appears to be breaking out in the San Gabriel Valley, comes a sad tale from Monrovia, of a perfectly good horse that was fed to the lions all by mistake. The story came out in Justice Reed's court, when Charles Smith, a Covina contracting teamster, brought suit to recover the cost of the animal from Felix F. Graf of Monrovia. An employee of the latter, it was claimed, had risen early in the morning and slain the animal before breakfast, in order that the mountain lions and other pet carnivora that infest the Graf premises might have a square meal.

This "horse" on Graf will cost him just $100, that being the value placed by the court on the deceased equine. Following judgment a stay of execution of ten days was obtained by Graf's attorney.

According to his testimony, Mr. Graf, who has a flourishing private zoo on his beautiful Monrovia foothill estate, is always in the market for horseflesh, with which to provide nourishment for his hungry pets. He averred that he understood Smith to say over the telephone that he had one or more animals with one foot in the grave, and that was the reason, he told the court, that two horses were taken instead of one, and that a horse that by careful nursing might have lived a few weeks longer, had his earthly career cut off in such an untimely manner by a too-early rising employee.

The plaintiff's story was that he had a sick horse, and as the animal was aged, he phoned Graf, whom he knew would always buy such animals, to come over and take the horse away. Smith declared that the call was made by Graf during the contractor's absence, and that Graf took with him two instead of one. When he discovered that the two horses were gone he immediately phoned Graf to stay the execution, but unfortunately, Graf's employee had already done his duty, and by the time Graf himself arrived on the scene the mountain lions had picked the bones of both horses clean.

PORTERVILLE, Nov. 24.—Paul C. McAbee, manager of the Porterville cannery, announces the purchase by himself and associates of a canning plant in Bakersfield. The new factory will be used largely to handle the output of the Edison district apricots, which rank with the earliest in the State. Recently the same interests purchased a site for a packing plant at Reedley and contracts have been let for its construction. With these three plants in operation the combined output of the Porterville Canning Company will be not far from 15,000 tons of fruit per season.

TAKE MOTHER BEFORE COURT.

Riverside Officer to Return Woman to Indiana.

Took Assumed Name Because She Feared Arrest.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 24.—Mrs. M. P. Hubbard, alias Mrs. M. E. Layne, member of a prominent and wealthy eastern family, who was arrested here by authority of a bench warrant, charging her with the kidnaping of her two children, will be taken East tomorrow by Chief of Police Carlson.

Mrs. Hubbard, who says she has been shadowed by detectives constantly since she left Brookville, Ind., last July, asserts that her troubles began with the filing of a suit for divorce against her husband, who is said to be a prominent attorney. A cross-complaint filed by the latter, resulted in the granting of a divorce, which, under the Indiana statutes, gave the father the custody of the two boys, Graydon, aged 12, and Harold, aged 8.

The thought of being separated from the children, Mrs. Hubbard says, was unbearable.

"I got a railway map and determined the farthest point to which I could go and still keep within the United States," she said. "This was San Diego. We lived there some time, then went to El Centro. The trip over the mountains was made thrilling by an automobile wreck, in which I rescued my boy with great difficulty. The climate was more than I could stand, and we came here. The detectives by that time were getting pretty close to 'Mrs. Hubbard,' so I decided to take an assumed name."

As one of her reasons for her flight, Mrs. Hubbard states that after the divorce the children were placed by their father with a pro-German housekeeper.

"She kept telling the boys to pity the poor Kaiser," said Mrs. Hubbard. "Imagine such a thing."

SEEK MAN'S IDENTITY.

Identified as a man who had dental work done in the office of Dr. John I. Esgate in this city last February, officials are awaiting word from Oakland to determine whether the skeleton of a man found in the hills northwest of this city Sunday, is that of John Olson, or Olsen.

Two boys stumbled upon the gruesome find while hunting. The skull had plainly been pierced by a bullet, supposedly from the revolver found beneath the body framework, about which much of the clothing still clung. From a card in the man's pocket it is believed his address was 540 Twenty-eighth street, Oakland.

A receipted dental bill found in the clothing and an examination of the fillings this morning by Dr. Esgate, established the fact that the man had been in his office nine months before.

BAR THE ORIENTAL.

Porterville Refuses to Allow the Japanese to Locate.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PORTERVILLE, Nov. 24.—In connection with reports to State officials, made from all principal cities and towns of California, Porterville is one of the few, if not the only one, to be able to report no Japanese, either within the city limits or in the immediate country district. Edward F. Halbert, City Clerk, has just filed with State officers the showing for this section.

"Direct action" methods have been used in keeping the orientals out, by the simple expedient of compelling them to leave immediately upon their arrival in this section, no matter what their business or intentions.

EGG MARKET AT HIGHEST POINT.

PRODUCERS IN POSITION TO STOP ADVANCES IN PRICE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 24.—Eggs have about reached their highest point, and in a month will begin to drop, according to J. M. Davison, president of the Southern California Poultry Producers, Inc., who resides in this city.

"I understand a northern poultryman has predicted eggs will reach $2 a dozen before the winter is over," said Mr. Davison. "That may prove true for Northern California, but certainly will not materialize in the southern part of the State. The Southern California organization has sufficient eggs on hand and in sight to insure the price being kept to a reasonable point. Naturally poultrymen have no desire to see a decrease in consumption, and can throw enough eggs into the market to keep prices level in the event of threatened rise."

Infant Awakens Sleepers in Burning Dwelling.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 24.—A baby's cry last night gave the alarm of fire and resulted in extinguishing the blaze, but not before it had damaged Mrs. A. R. Hervey's residence at Balboa to the extent of $1200. The infant child of Prof. and Mrs. Bray, which was being cared for by Mrs. Carl Hankey, had been put to bed upstairs in the Vanderlip house adjoining the Hervey residence. An hour later Mrs. Hankey heard the infant crying, found the room full of smoke from the adjoining cottage, and gave the alarm. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

HUNTINGTON BEACH POST OF AMERICAN LEGION ADOPTS RESOLUTIONS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 24.—Ex-service men of Huntington Beach are determined upon an energetic war against the I.W.W. and other anarchists and have offered their services to police authorities at any time in the suppression of anti-American activities, it is shown by a resolution adopted unanimously and with much enthusiasm by members of Joseph Rodman Post, American Legion, of Huntington Beach.

"Whereas, the enemies of law and order in the United States have, in cold blood, murdered ex-service men who were unarmed and on parade," reads the resolution, "and, whereas, by such action the challenge of extermination has been issued, therefore, be it resolved, that we, ex-service men, by organizing, do actively combat all enemies of law and order, under watsoever name they may be operating; whether Bolshevists, anarchists, or I.W.W.'s, and we do hereby appoint ourselves a committee of one to investigate and report to the proper authorities any seditious remarks or actions, and ferret out all Bolshevists, anarchists and I.W.W.'s and their supporters, and we do further resolve

"That we place ourselves either individually or as a body, at the disposition of the authorities of the city of Huntington Beach and of Orange county for the suppression of any acts of syndicalism, sabotage, or anarchism, which may occur within this country."

MONTEBELLO HAS ROBBER EPIDEMIC.

VILLAGE MAKES A RECORD WITH FOUR BURGLARIES IN THREE DAYS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MONTEBELLO, Nov. 24.—A regular epidemic of thievery here has resulted in four burglaries being reported since Sunday morning, in all of which, with one exception, the robbers obtained sufficient loot to pay them for their pains.

Sunday the stores of the Montebello Supply Company and the H. 22 Mills Company, were broken into. At the former establishment the thieves secured about $14 from the cash register and at the other place were frightened away before securing anything of value.

This morning they entered the dental office of Dr. H. O. Smith and made off with gold filling valued at $30 and this afternoon while the occupants of the home of A. E. Matson were in Los Angeles a safe in the residence was forced open and $500 in Liberty Bonds taken.

Officers are working on the theory that the work is being done by strangers attracted here by the recent oil boom but have been unable to obtain evidence of a substantial character.

OLD FOOTBALL BOWS TO NEW.

California,, However, Exception to the Rule.

Yale Stuck to the Traditional Massed Play.

Old Bull Dog Spirit Failed to Help the Blue.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

California stuck to old-line football, and got away with it, albeit only by the width of a cleat.

Yale remained true to traditional massed play, but was not so successful. Even the well-known bulldog spirit failed to pull the Blue through, and for the first time in two decades it was blurred by both Harvard and Princeton.

California was the exception, Yale proved the rule. Other things being fairly equal, the old football cannot complete with the new. This is recognized by most baseball savants, apparent even to the football tyro and proven by the records.

IT'S PUZZLING.

Just why enlightened universities will remain glued to the old regime is as puzzling to the lay mind as a Greek rebus.

Revision of the rules requiring a team to cover ten yards before making first down, and other changes, made the old former style of football impractical and therefore obsolete.

The West was quick to see this. The East, more fettered by traditions and customs, and with a system which had become established through several generations of players, clung rather tenaciously to the past. And there was another influence. Agitation against the American game because of its alleged danger was more acute here than in the East—in fact, reached such a point that in a good many colleges and schools a diluted article called Rugby was substituted. Eastern coaches felt more secure in proceeding as before.

OLD ELI SAD.

This worked all right with the big 'uns playing among themselves, and all adhering to their old systems, but when some of them began to break away, and put new wrinkles in the game, the equilibrium was bound to be disturbed. And Old Eli, sadder and wiser, sits bowed in sack cloth and ashes, the companion of his own bitter reflections.

California, with three year's more experience in the American game, experienced an exceedingly close call at the hands of Stanford, chiefly because more up-to-date football had been inculcated in the Cardinal eleven. With this advantage in experience, California, had it taken advantage of the possibilities offered by the open game, should in the very nature of things have won by an overwhelming score. She was barely saved by the work of an exceptionally powerful line plunger.

Under the former rules, a few big universities were practically invincible against the lesser ones. Now they do not seem to be safe anywhere. During the past ten years, with the unfolding of new tactics, and a code offering almost unlimited possibilities, a number of teams formerly not regarded as football factors, and serving mainly as punching bags for the heavyweights, have emerged to dispute titles and spill the dope generally.

THING OF PAST.

How often do you see the ball bucked practically the entire length of the field as when the 5-yard rule was in force? These slow, grinding, inexorable drives down the field are almost a thing of the past. And the grilling, strength-sapping labor of almost an entire quarter may be nullified by a punt, or a couple of deftly-executed passes.

The coach who clings to the old formula, unless he has an exceptional array of material, or frail opposition, will see the sacred colors of his team trampled under foot.

Professional baseball and college football players were being discussed yesterday by a mixed group. In the group were some who had played both games. It was agreed that both games required considerable nerve, although possibly of a different sort. More of a blind, reckless daring is demanded of the gridiron gladiator. The baseball player requires poise and the cold courage to stand un-

The game will have a decisive bearing on the Pacific Coast championship.

U.S.C. ELEVEN IN THE LIMELIGHT.

Has Chance to Tie Headliners for Coast Honors.

Defeat of Stanford on Turkey Day Possible.

Cardinal, with Templeton, a Ten-Man Team.

The University of Southern California football eleven stands one grand chance of busting into the limelight as one of the best teams on the Pacific Coast.

By defeating Stanford on Turkey Day, at Bovard Field, the Wesleyans would go into a tie for the Pacific Coast championship with Oregon, Washington, Washington State and California.

Not only would U.S.C. be tied for the coast title, but it would have to receive consideration at the hands of the Tournament of Roses Committee as a contender at Pasadena on New Year's Day.

When the tournament committee met a week ago the lowly Wesleyan team was not even mentioned as a possibility. All eyes were cast to the Northwest and nary a soul could see the Cardinal and Gold tint in the sky.

U.S.C. VICTORY.

However, in the light of past events, we would go on record as predicting a U.S.C. victory on Thursday. Any team that has followed the ball so consistently all season and has evinced so much fight is dangerous.

In a season of many upsets all over the country anything is possible. It is not at all beyond reason to forecast a U.S.C. win over the Cardinals. "Gloomy Gus" Henderson has a team that knows more football than the California eleven knows or will know under Smith. The men have not the natural ability that some of the Bears have, but they have the spirit and trail the oval like a pack of bloodhounds.

California had its task cut out to defeat Stanford, and the work of one man—Dummy Wells—was largely responsible for the verdict. With Wells out of the line-up the Bears would have lost their only punch.

Contrasted with this is the work of the U.S.C. team. There isn't a star in the line-up. An ordinary coach would call the collection of Wesleyan back-field men misfits. Dean is a great defensive player. Stuart is conscientious and fairly fast. Leadingham, who looks as though the next gust of wind will blow him over, is a reliable punter. McMillan is playing his first year at quarterback, and has done well considering the fact. But there isn't a man among the four backs that is rated in the same class as the Bear quartette.

NO STARS.

The U.S.C. line is an average one in weight—no stars, just fight, that's all.

When we said that U.S.C. knows more football than California the statement would naturally apply to Stanford. Evans has worked wonders at Stanford—of that there is no doubt, but Rugbyites can't unlearn in a single year all the instincts of the near-beer game.

The Cardinal-U.S.C. contest should be a stubbornly contested argument. Much is at stake for both teams. Stanford must win to stay in the coast race, and if U.S.C. wins—well, it'll be a great time in the old town that night.

Football followers will have a chance to see the wonderfully educated toe of "Dink" Templeton in action. He is a man greatly to be feared—dangerous from most any part of the field fifty yards away.

Coach "Gloomy Gus" Henderson, back from the North, where he witnessed the California-Stanford game, says that Templeton is valueless to his team except for his wonderful kicking. Templeton never carries the ball, and is not a reliable tackler.

Henderson and Assistant Coach Herd attempted to do a little scouting at the "Big Game," but according to their reports all such efforts were futile.

BAFFLING.

The Stanford offensive is so baffling as to defy effective plans for a defense. Before each play, according to Henderson and Herd, the entire Cardinal team holds a conference in the back field, the signal is given, the men jump to their places in the line, and the runner with the ball is off.

Northern writers in commenting on the game, said these conferences marred the contest. Henderson says the formation is an adaptation far more effective than the Minnesota shift, and because of the Cards'

MARTIN MAY GET MATCH IN LONDON.

Nov. 24.—Jimmy Bronson, manager of Bob Martin, A.E.F. heavyweight champion, today received a cablegram from Charles Cochran, London fight promoter, asking terms for a bout between Martin and the winner of the Beckett-Carpentier fight. TO PATCH UP ATHLETIC RELATIONS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—Intimations that a way may be found to resume athletic relations between the University of California and Leland Stanford, Jr., University were given here tonight by M. C. Lynch of the State university, following the action of President Ray Lyman Wilbur of Stanford today in technically breaking relations.

Lynch is the faculty representative on the Executive Committee of the associated students of the State university. Dr. Wilbur's action was the result of the painting of Berkeley campus buildings by three men said to be Stanford students.

Responsibility for the red paint plastered on the California buildings and a private residence in Berkeley was assumed by students at Stanford, and the Palo Alto student body immediately apologized.

An apology does not constitute atonement in this case, Dr. Wilbur pointed out, and the vandalism canceled relations automatically. It was understood generally that, in taking the initiative, Dr. Wilbur wished to safeguard the position of Stanford and that there is no desire to break intercollegiate relations. His letter left further action to the California authorities. It is expected they will accept the apology of the students and resume relations.

TRAP SHOOT DECEMBER 31.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 24.—What its promoter, J. T. Downs, declares will be the biggest trapshooting tournament ever held in this country will open on December 31 on the grounds of the Southern California Fair Association. During the seven days following, the leading shots of the United States will compete in events in which high guns and not class shooting will win.

The contests will be for 1000 16-yard targets, whereas, heretofore most of the contests have been for only 100 birds. There will be 150 targets shot at daily by each competitor, at unknown angles and a 16-yard rise.

No guns larger than 12-gauge will be used. The grounds will be open for practice shooting on December 30. The offerings for winnings have been made unusually attractive. There will be a $100 guarantee to the winner of each day's shoot, provided he is alone. The winner of the "one thousand" targets will receive $300. Second and third-place men will receive $200 and $100, respectively. The two-man teams will receive $200.

The American trapshooting rules will govern all the events, which are expected to attract to this city the most famous shots in the country. Downs says the shooting conditions are such that he expects to see some new records hung up on 1000 birds.

CHAMPION DEMPSEY HERE.

Jack Dempsey, champion heavyweight pugilist of the world, and conceded by many of the leading critics of America to be the greatest fighter of all times, received a royal welcome when he jauntily stepped off a Salt Lake train last night at 6:30 o'clock. With him came his hustling manager, Jack Kearns, all aglow with business and good fellowship.

As Jack, clad in a snuff-colored, snug-fitting raglan and iron hat, was shaking the dust of travel from his clothes, F. P. Sargent, representing Mayor Snyder, heartily shook him by the hand and welcomed him in behalf of the Mayor and citizens to Los Angeles. Mr. Sargent then introduced Morris M. Rathbun, representing the Chamber of Commerce, and John Bloeser and Fred E. Peterson from the Rotary Club, and after a few informal ceremonies, during which the champion passed around the cordial hand, he was greeted in the following terse though hearty words by the Mayor's representative:

GETS A WELCOME.

"Mr. Dempsey, I have been delegated by the Mayor to bid you welcome to the city of Los Angeles, and it is my pleasant duty to wish you a most enjoyable stay and nice time." The other members of the reception then joined in and voiced Mr. Sargent's sentiment.

Then everybody present formed a half-circle and posed for a flash light. As they did so, Kid McCoy hove in sight. He rushed up and shot a terrific right into the open right hand of the champion and the two stood for several moments passing the amenities of the day.

Here was a picture to look at; a duo of the world's greatest sponsors for the manly art of self-defense, without the slightest vestige of a feature that would stamp them as pugilists.

TALLER THAN KID.

Jack was the taller by an inch, reaching to six feet one. With his suit case in hand one could easily take him for an eastern drummer. McCoy dressed to the nines, would pass anywhere for a middle-aged business man, and yet these two worthies, veritable giants in the squared circle are of the highest type of fistiana, one of today and the other of a generation ago.

Dempsey was expected to arrive here on crutches following a story that he had been badly hurt while with a circus down in Louisiana about a month ago.

HURT IN LEG.

"Yes, he was hurt," answered Manager Kearns to a question put by George Hussey, a near-friend of Kearns. "It was during the performance, that a ring post suddenly flared up and caught Jack in the leg, cutting him pretty bad. A number of stitches were put in the wound and the injury soon mended. He is all right now. This happened at a place called Opaloosee."

From the Salt Lake station the entire party went to the Van Nuys Hotel, where the champion and his manager will stay while in Los Angeles. Later on, the reception committee invited Dempsey and his manager to supper at the Alexandria.

TO MAKE PICTURE.

Dempsey came here to make a picture for the Pathe company and will remain in Los Angeles for considerable of a spell. Manager Kearns was not quite certain when Jack would start to work on the picture, but hoped it would be soon.

As for things in the way pugilistic, little will be done in that line until after the Beckett-Carpentier battle in London. Kearns has an offer of $200,000 to take on the winner in behalf of the champion. Just where this bout would come off is not certain. It may be staged in New York, New Orleans or London, and it may be that later on Jack would fight at Tia Juana.

Both Dempsey and his manager are tickled to death to get back to Los Angeles, as both expressed themselves that there was no place on earth like Southern California.

JACK WINS.

Just before leaving Salt Lake City, Dempsey, Kearns and several leading Mormon sportsmen went up into Mount Pleasant on a deer hunt. They all spied Mr. Deer at the same time and all let fire together. When they found their prey, five big bullet holes were found in the carcass. Each member of the party except Dempsey claimed the honor of the shot that did the work.

The champ after a spell of silence finally threw his cap on the ground; flashed a set of incisors that must have driven consternation into the heart of Jess Willard, and declared that as he was the best fighter on the ground, he didn't see how anybody could dispute his claim. Kearns felt like taking up the challenge for a moment, but as "discretion is the better part of valor" is one of the managers pet maxims, he allowed his man to triumph.

DUCKS SHOO "COOTIES" BY SALT-WATER BATHS

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 24.—Ducks arriving from the north during the past few weeks to spend the winter in California stop but a few days in the interior of the State and then seek the salt water about San Francisco.

Many of the birds, experts say, are bothered with vermin and they know salt water baths will rid them of the "cooties."

Fourteen Speed Demons Start in Fifty-Mile Race.

BY ED O'MALLEY.

All is bustle, pep and activity at Ascot Park just now. The whinny of the horse mingles with the sputter of combusted gasoline, and speed is king of all he surveys. The bang-tail track is tattooed with the sprightly print of thoroughbreds, all of which are being pointed for the various events of the four-days' running meeting, which begins Thanksgiving Day.

The course proper is at present one of the fastest in the country, having been brought into excellent racing shape with harrow and roller. Starter Healy has been busy for several days, schooling steeds to the barrier, and he confidently predicts that very few bad actors will face him in the forthcoming meeting. Jockies are coming in fast, and many of the best boys that rode at Reno and Cheyenne lately, will have mounts.

DREAM STUFF.

It is the noble attribute of the imagination that it is irrepressible, unconfinable and as free as the air. Therefore, whether it was under its liberal influence or whether it was in the midst of a soft slumber, to which we are prone to fall into at times, we are not certain, but certain we are that we had some kind of a phantasy about the Derby, and here it is:

Perch showed the way for the first six furlongs, closely pressed by Afternight, with Knight of Pythias pocketed on the inside rail, and the jockey hollering his head off for gangway. Towell and Yorkist were within striking distance, with Sam Hill at their flanks. Bas Blanes appeared hopelessly beaten off.

PERCH CRACKS.

On the far turn, Perch cracked amid a groan of "Good Night" from his sponsors. The boy on Afternight dug the rowells into the thoroughbred's side, and away he darted opening two lengths of daylight on the Knight. Here it was that Dickie W. moved up at an accelerated pace and set sail for the pacemaker.

With Yorkist and Yowell, it was a case of "as you were," but not so with Sam Hill. Sam's dander was up, and he began gradually to lessen the distance between him and the flying Afternight. Just before turning for home the last-named was getting the whip, to which he responded gamely. Dickie W. saved ground by hugging the rail, almost cutting off the Knight. The boy on the latter pulled around, losing a length or so.

UP GOES SAM.

As the field straightened for the final eighth, Sam Hill moved up into close contention, although he had to swing wide for clear action. A sixteenth out the grandstand and bleachers thundered, with pent-up thrills of delight. It looked as if six of the field were bearing down toward home almost abreast. Whips and spurs were then brought into hot action. Not a contender seemed to flag, and a blanket finish threatened. Then, suddenly, just as the judges were getting ready for a herculean task, a ghost in dark maroon came out of the clouds. It tore up the ground with the speed of a

DERBY AND STAINBACK WIN IN THE DOUBLES.

The first match in Charlie Keppen's doubles handball tournament was pulled off at the Los Angeles Athletic Club yesterday. E. G. Derby and George Stainback defeated N. Johnson and R. Martinez 21-4, 21-16. The match was closer than the score indicates. The two losers fought every inch of the way. According to Keppen, Johnson and Martinez were affected with stage fright at the start of the game. This is their first tournament contest and the gallery of spectators proved a little too much.

PARSONS IS FIRST IN FALL HANDICAP.

G. S. Parsons defeated J. E. Lamble in the finals of the fall handicap on the Los Angeles Country Club golf course. Mr. Parsons came out at the finish with a 2 and 1 edge on the score. Parsons played at 8 handicap, while Lamble played at 18. A good field of spectators watched the final round.

CONFERENCE ALL-STARS.

Kirkpatrick Selected to Captain Mythical Team of Football Demons.

BY PAUL LOWRY.

Player—	College.	Position.
McClellan	Pomona	Left end
Hollinger	Throop	Left guard
Powers	Occidental	Center
Greathouse	Pomona	Right guard
Bell	Pomona	Right tackle
Long	Occidental	Right end
Randall	Redlands	Quarter-back
Covington	Pomona	Left half
Chambers	Pomona	Right half
Kirkpatrick	Occidental	Full-back

The southern conference football season, ending with the title game between Pomona and Occidental last Saturday, ran true to form Early in the fall the Sage Hens were conceded to be the winners of the conference gonfalon. The Blue and White lived up to advance notices and defeated Redlands, Whittier and Throop with ease, and won from Occidental because the team knew more football and was more versatile.

Considering the greenness of the Orange and Black material Occidental had a most encouraging season and builded well for the future. Stanton said early in September that his team might never win a game, but would at least know something about football before they turned in their moleskins for 1919. Had the goddess of fortune smiled on the Tigers they might have beaten Pomona, but the "breaks" went the other way.

WHITTIER.

There was one regrettable feature of the 1919 season, and that was the fading of Whittier as a strong contender. In years past the battling Quakers have often spiked the aspirations of Oxy and Pomona early in the season, but the 1919 Quakers were without their predecessors' "kick." Coach Van Cleve had only one veteran—Siemon, a splendid tackle—to build to, the rest of his candidates being without previous varsity experience.

The history of the season's style of play showed nothing startling in the development of new formations. Stanton tried to teach his men the lateral pass, but the Tigers were unable to make it count, for substantial gains. In fact it nearly cost them a touchdown in the Pomona game. Voorhies picked up one of these passes after it had been fumbled and ran forty-five yards to the goal line, but the score was not allowed because the pass had gone forward and was therefore incomplete when the ball hit the ground. Pomona questioned the ruling, but Head Linesman Wilson was absolutely correct in his verdict. The pass, on a direct line with the press box, was clearly forward.

A NEW PASS.

Stanton gave his Tigers a new forward pass formation, which resulted in their lone touchdown against Pomona and furnished several other good gains. Pomona supporters were inclined to question the validity of the play. This is the way it worked: The Occidental forwards when the ball was snapped let their opponents through and rushed for the Pomona fullback.

The pass was made to an eligible man after the full had been "plugged." The Pomona adherents said that it was illegal to "plug" the fullback, and offered to produce the rule on the subject. The rule was not produced. Had they kept their eyes open they would have noticed that the pass was never made until after the Pomona full had been dumped. It would have been a clear case of interference had this been done after the ball was thrown, and subject to a penalty.

The material for the selection of the all-southern conference team is not as strong in many respects as it has been in past years. For instance, had Ed Brooks and Pete Varcoe, returned to Occidental this year our selections for fullback and quarterback would have been different. With these men in the line-up Occidental would doubtless have won the conference title.

FIRST SELECTIONS.

The first selections are the easiest. U.S.C., not being a member of the conference, will be considered later in the picking of an all-Southern California eleven. The Trojans have yet one game to play, and it depends on the showing of certain men in that conflict just where they stand in the final reckoning.

Bruce Kirkpatrick of Occidental is awarded the full-back position because of his all-around excellence. "Kirk" is a natural tackle, but Stanton was forced to convert him into a back-field man because of the dearth of good backs at Eagle Rock. "Kirk" justified Stanton's judgment, and in the big game with Pomona was the only man on either team that could puncture the line with any consistency. His 40-yard smash over Rich, the Sage Hen left tackle, was a beauty. He runs splendid interference, and is a wonder at backing up the line. He is in four out of every five plays.

Kirkpatrick is also chosen as captain of this mythical all-star team because of his coolness under fire and rare good judgment in running the affairs of his team. He knows when and when not to accept penalties imposed on the opposition. The Tiger team would have been far better off had "Kirk" been calling the signals against Pomona. Those marches to the 10-yard line might have resulted in scores with better generalship.

COVINGTON.

Covington of Pomona gets the place at left half without question. He is fast, shifty on his feet, and showed his versatility in the Occidental game by playing quarter-back. In fact, though this was his first game at the signal caller's job, he displayed a better command of his engine of attack than did any other conference quarter He could ha awarded the position just as well as half, but the team would be weakened by not having a capable man to step into his shoes.

The other half goes to Chambers of Pomona, though he is not in Covington's class as a runner with the ball. Against Occidental Chambers lost as much ground going backward as forward. He was thrown several times for losses by the charging Tiger forwards. This, however, was directly chargeable to the inability of the Sagehen line to hold their men. Chambers runs good interference, and was responsible throughout the season for many of Covington's runs. He is a good man on the throwing end of a forward pass, which would give him the job over such a competitor as Smith of Occidental—a gritty player and a hard fighter.

There were no stars at the quarter-back position this year, but "Runt" Randall of Redlands displayed a bit more knowledge than the rest, though playing on an inferior team.

PICKS LONG.

On the ends we have McClellan of Pomona and Long of Occidental. McClellan was the peer of the flank men until his final game, but here he was outclassed by Long, who was unheard-of the early part of the season. McClellan has a failing for high tackles, but he is a bear at following the ball, gets down the field under kicks, and is clever at threading his way through the on-rushing interference. Long's brilliant work in his big game gives him precedence over Cooper of Pomona, who did not get into the game until the season was well under way.

At tackles are Bell of Pomona and Walker of Occidental. Bell's work has been consistent all year. He had the position won before he started his final game. In the Oxy game he was directly responsible for the Sagehens' first two touchdowns, and the Tigers were unable to gain a yard over him throughout the game. Had Siemon of Whittier not been sacrificed for his team's interests, and played tackle, his rightful position, he would have been our selection for Bell's running mate. Walker, though light, has played bang-up ball.

THE GUARDS.

Hollinger of Throop and Capt. Greathouse of Pomona are the guards. Coach Nixon of Pomona is authority for the statement that Hollinger is All-American timber. The Throop man weighs in the neighborhood of 225 pounds, and is quite dense and impenetrable. Greathouse is light, but a fighter, and follows the ball instinctively. He has recovered more fumbles probably than any other man on the Pomona team this year.

Center goes to "Powerful" Powers of Occidental, who easily outplayed Warren Elliott of Pomona. He played a roving center on the Oxy team, and because of his weight and ability at diagnosing plays was a big cog in the Tiger defense.

Summing it up, Pomona has five men on the all-conference team, Occidental four, and Redlands and Throop one each.

FEMININE HIKERS MAKE NEW RECORD.

COVER TWENTY MILES IN SIX HOURS—PLAY VERSION OF BABES IN THE WOODS.

Los Angeles possesses a quartette of feminine hikers that it would be as difficult to match as it is for three Sundays to meet. The pike consumers in question are no other than Nellie McLaughlin, Kitty O'Conner, Bess Crosier and Pearl Stiffler, and they rejoice in a record for an afternoon's outing that will be difficult to beat.

Starting from Seventh and Lucas streets Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, they footed it to Mt. Holly and return by 9 o'clock the same evening. The distance covered was approximately twenty miles, and about stands as a record for women pedestrians. In climbing to the top of Mt. Holly, however, Miss O'Conner was slightly attacked with vertigo, during which a mirage played havoc with her vision. She claimed that she saw Catalina turned upside down, with the seals doing a fox trot on the Sugar Loaf.

On the return trip, Miss Crosier lost her compass and the first thing the four knew they were really acting an up-to-date version of "Babes in the Woods." Finally they got their bearings when they ran afoul of a spoony couple in Griffith Park that were oblivious to all curfews. The couple, though miffed at the sudden intrusion into their elysium flight, put them wise, and they soon wended their way into dear old Los Angeles again. Apart from a mushroom growth of blisters, corns and virulent bunions, the party was none the worse for wear.

PINKIE MITCHELL WINS BY KNOCKOUT.

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) Nov. 24.—Pinkie Mitchell, Milwaukee lightweight boxer, scored a technical knockout over Mel Coogan, Brooklyn, in the first session of a ten-round, no-decision bout tonight. The referee, however, failed to halt proceedings. Two right crosses to the jaw sent the easterner to the mat the first time for a count of two, and the second time for nine seconds. On the second upset Coogan rose to his feet at the count of three, but immediately went down again without being hit. Protests by Mitchell's handlers were ignored.

In the last period, all Long Beach men having been used in the game, one of their players was injured. Long Beach finished with ten men, scoring twice with one man short.

"Bas Blanca," rent the air from various parts of the stand and bleachers. It was indeed the trailer, booming along with the speed of pneumatic flight. One by one he picked up his field in the final eighth and coming on with an overwhelming rush and rattle in the last fifty yards, just got up in time to win by an eyelash from Sam Hill, a nose before Yorkist, with Yowell and Afternight lapped. Cheers upon cheers greeted the great finish, and lasted for over a minute, and then someone jarred us into wakefulness and demanded that we settle at once for the three bed quilts that we had torn up.

We don't know whether this dream will come through the gate of the horn of ivory, but one thing we do know and that is it was goldarned pleasant while it lasted, for we were crazy enough to think that Bas Blanca had a chance.

SPEED DEMONS.

The horses will not be the only big shooting match on Thanksgiving Day, for fourteen of the fastest speed demons in the world will contest for a rich prize over a fifty-mile course. Here is the manner in which the field will be called up by Starter George Adair for the trials:

Each driver will be given three trials at the qualification. If any driver wishes to better his time after seeing what some other star has done, he will be privileged to make the try, provided he does not exceed three trials.

The drivers did not take any chances with their cars yesterday, only a few showing up. Ira Vail stole a march on the railbirds with an early workout. Vail is very fast in his Phillbrin Special, and handles the car on the turns with superb mastery.

ENTERING FINAL STRETCH.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WEST POINT (N. Y.) Nov. 24.—Entering the final stretch in its drive for the Navy game the Army eleven will have some tough sledding during the next few days, if the statement of coaches to that effect is truthful. Saturday's scrimmage was followed by a couple of days of rest and the only exercise the men got was a brisk walk in the woods under the watchful eye of Harry Tuthill, their trainer.

All are in good physical trim, except Black, who has been ill for over a fortnight and is only just now finding himself. McQuarrie's condition is all right, but the big back seemingly lost some of his kicking effectiveness during his recent layoff for his boots Saturday lacked carry as well as height and this plainly worried the men.

SHOOK IN FRONT.

Shook defeated Topel in the billiard tournament at the Nelms & Bird parlors last night. The score was 80 to 72. Shook is matched with Fitzpatrick in tonight's go. About 300 billiard fans watched the match.

COAST LEAGUE BASEBALL NOTES.

Wade Killefer predicts a major-league career for Scotty Finley, trainer of the Los Angeles club. Killefer, who has passed a good many years both in the majors and minors, says that Finley has all of them outclassed. Scotty is employing the off-season profitably by patching up wounded football players.

Howard Lorens is looking strong again. The job of handling that 22,000 crowd the last day of the season, and also the crowds for the St. Paul series, was handled mainly by Lorens, and he is just recovering from the effort. If you don't think it is some task, just try and direct 22,000 wild-eyed baseball bugs into the proper seats and channels.

According to the official averages, Salt Lake led the league in home runs with eighty. This was to be expected, because of the short fences and high altitude. Bert the Rose also lead in two-baggers, with 292 of them, and this can't be laid on the fences. Two-baggers may be bounced off the fences, but not laid on them.

Father Time seems to be losing in the race with Harl Maggert. Maggert topped the league in runs scored, with 137, which cannot be construed as an evidence of waning speed.

Curly Brown of Los Angeles occupies an enviable position among the pitchers. He ranks second both in games won and also in runs responsible for. But it is scarcely more unique than that of Art Fromme, who ranks third in these respects. Krause, who stands first in runs responsible for, trails twenty-fourth in games won and lost.

In case Brown and Perrine are traded to the big leagues, it is almost certain that the Angels will be well repaid in players. Brown has earned a chance in the majors. Perrine proved of little value to the Angels, but has such natural possibilities that a number of big league managers are willing to take a chance with him, and players of value to the local club are certain to be received in return.

Boston Braves have offered President Powers, Pitcher Al Demaree and Indian Jim Thorpe for Curly Brown. Demaree is a veteran, and it is doubtful whether Thorpe would make good in this league. He has never done well playing as a regular. So Killefer told Boston to change the personnel of its offer if it wants to do business.

Where the Angels will train this spring is a bit of dope which nobody has been able to figure out. In order to ascertain the pulse of the various communities, Secretary Weber is addressing letters to various commercial bodies and chambers of commerce. The Tigers are slated to train at Washington Park, while the St. Louis Browns will condition themselves at Vernon, Pasadena, of course, will be allotted as usual to the Chicago Cubs. So the Angels will of necessity be apportioned to some other community.

GREAT SEASON FOR FOOTBALL.

Most Successful Since Forward Pass Adoption.

Illinois Deserves Credit for Winning Title.

Indiana Surprises by Walloping Heavy Syracuse.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The most successful football year since the adoption of the forward pass and ten-yard line rule, some thirteen years ago, came to a successful close last Saturday, when Illinois won the western conference championship, by defeating Ohio State, 9 to 7, and Harvard triumphed over its ancient rival, Yale, by a score of 10 to 3.

In winning from Ohio State, Illinois deserves all the credit which can possibly be bestowed on the coaches and players. It developed into a team of remarkable strength in less than a month's time. Although beaten by Wisconsin in the middle of the season, it showed the proper football stuff by going into succeeding battles with renewed fight, which resulted in its winning the title.

Illinois is one of the greatest elevens which has appeared on a western gridiron in years. Some of the players were hurt in the early part of the year, and few of them were laid off long enough to recover entirely. They were sent into games when they should have been in the stands. They did not complain or protest. They simply did what they were told, no matter how painful, and this accounts for the championship.

Chicago was knocked out of second place in the conference rating by losing to Wisconsin, 10 to 3. The Badgers' great game against Ohio a week ago plainly showed the Cardinal eleven was one of offensive and defensive power. It recovered rapidly from its defeat by Minnesota.

As expected, Minnesota took Michigan into camp, 34 to 7. The Gophers showed the improvement characteristic of former Gopher teams late in the season. Michigan experienced its worst season in years, winning only one conference game, and that from Northwestern. Coach Yost simply did not have the material this year to cope with other conference elevens, which were stronger than usual.

Indiana sprang a surprise by defeating Syracuse, one of the strongest elevens in the East. It will be remembered that Northwestern defeated the Hoosiers, 3 to 2, and that Syracuse won easily from Rutgers. Just today Rutgers won from Northwestern, 28 to 0, which goes to show there is no such thing as form in football this year.

Notre Dame continued to keep its state clean by winning from Purdue, 13 to 13, in a game which gave Coach Bockne's eleven the championship of the Hoosier State.

Iowa annexed the championship of the Hawkeye State, by trimming Ames, 10 to 0, in an interesting battle. The struggle marked the end of the most successful season in years for Coach Jones's eleven.

Northwestern showed eastern football fans how the forward pass should be executed, although it was beaten by Rutgers, 28 to 0.

In the East, the victory of Harvard over Yale, 10 to 3, was the big game which absorbed all interest in the section. Despite its victory, which closed the season without a defeat, Eastern critics and close followers of football will not award the eastern plum to the Crimson. The contention in these parts is that Harvard played a second-rate class of teams and did not meet the opposition such as Princeton did.

Eastern critics are in a quandary as to whom to give the title. Even officials who have worked in all the big games are divided in their opinions. They favor Dartmouth, Colgate and Penn State. They assert the Hanover eleven would have had a comparatively easy time to win from Brown if five of their best men had been in line.

SOCCER NOTES.

The Southern California Soccer Association started its league championship schedule on Sunday.

The Santa Monicans were defeated, but not disgraced, in their battle with the Sons.

The Sons have a hustling team which is nippy on the ball, and by its bustling tactics makes a fast, swinging game, which is a pleasure to watch, and at the same time it breaks up the opposing combination.

Shaw, Mackenzie and Purnell are all in good shape, and young Mountford, at back, will develop into a first-class man.

The Santa Monicans are putting up a real good game for a new club, and they will stand watching when they have settled down.

The Beachmen are a fine sporting bunch, who are out to do all they can to foster the game in their district. Meantime, they could place a few more players to advantage. The secretary is W. M. Edwards, post-office box four, Santa Monica.

The United is going very strong and are very well organized. Danny Hall is the main gijaroo and he makes them toe the mark.

The new comers on the team are showing up well. Alex Mitchell, Syd Hall and Waite will all be able to hold their place on the regular line-up.

The United this season will sport the old familiar Black and White stripes, colors in which the famous Rangers played several years without a defeat.

The L. A. Athletic Club is starting out in hard luck, no fewer than five of their regular team being set back with crocked knees and ankles. Out of three games played they have won two, so I look for them to assert themselves just as soon as they find their accustomed stride.

Long Beach is the latest applicant for membership in the association. Billy Ames is busy in seeing them properly started.

Players wishing to get on any of the teams should write to Alex Sheddon, 411 West Second.

Daley may not play in the Thanksgiving Day game against the University of California here. A dispute over Daley's right to coach the second varsity brought the suspension, it was said.

flinchingly at the plate in the face of speed, or fight off discouragement in the face of a long series of reverses.

FIND ANALOGY.

However, there is one point in which a close analogy is to be found in the requirements of the two sports. That is the kicking end of football, and the hitting department of baseball. The man in the line, or even those behind the line, may make numberless mistakes, and yet they are largely overlooked or forgotten in the general maelstrom of action. But the drop or place kicker stands alone. In this he resembles the batter in baseball. It is here that the element of personal equation is most pronounced in both games.

For some unexplained psychological reason, the stars of football seem more successfully to meet a great emergency than those of baseball. In a world series, the most severe test of the diamond, it is seldom the great hitters who deliver. Look at the record of Cobb in 1909, of Cravath in 1915, and of Daubert in 1916. Cobb dropped to a mere .200. I do not recall a star in football ever failing so lamentably. They are generally there in a pinch. True, many have tried for field goals and failed to connect, but the number succeeding is surprisingly large when the difficulties of the achievement are considered.

Probably there is no situation in sports calling for a higher degree of coolness, poise and repression than the effort to execute a field goal when the player realizes that the winning or losing of the game depends on his foot. That the knights of the moleskin are there in the pinch is shown by the following list who won games for their elevens either by place or drop kicks: Pumpelly, Yale; Pierce, Miami; Tibbott, Princeton; Thorpe, Carlisle; DeWitt Princeton, Allerdice, Michigan; Crossman, Haverford; Herschberger, Chicago; Bray, Lafayette; Norton, Navy; Rosenkranz, Union; McCaa, Lafayette; Brown, Navy; Thompson, Yale, twice against Harvard and Princeton; McNair, Princeton; Poe, Princeton; Koster, Oberlin; Dalton, Navy; Marshall, Pennsylvania; Berry, Pennsylvania; Horween, Harvard; Shiverick, Cornell; Kennard, Harvard; Eustis, Wesleyan; Bull, Yale; Eckersall, Chicago; Harvey, Virginia Polytechnic; De Windt, Williams; Splawn, Michigan; Brickley, Harvard; Traeger, Stanford.

speed they made sizable gains around the Bear wings.

The Stanford forward passes worked well against California, Henderson stated, and the U.S.C. coach is already predicting that Stanford, because of her fast backs and ends, will roll up a larger score than California.

"Their unbalanced line formations from these back-field conferences have me guessing," he said yesterday. "Coach Andy Smith of California told me he had been scouting on Evans all fall, but hadn't been able to get a thing that was worth while. He said he didn't try to teach his men a special defense for the Card plays, for fear they would get all muddled up.

"Stanford will be able to score oftener on us than California—it's easier to make touchdowns via the aerial route and around the ends than it is to buck the line. I'm afraid of speed."

PRINCE BIDS A "TEMPORARY FAREWELL" AT STATE DINNER IN HALIFAX.

HALIFAX (N. S.) Nov. 24.—The Prince of Wales was cheered when he told the guests at a state dinner at the Halifax Club tonight, he was "intensely Canadian," and hoped to return to Canada often and to "travel as a Canadian in his own country." Premier Borden presided.

After the dinner the Prince and his suite attended a state ball at Government House.

In his address, the Prince said:

"It is with the greatest regret I bid a temporary farewell to Canada tonight, after a three months' tour which I can never forget. This, my first visit to Canada, has done two things which will influence the whole of my life.

"In the first place, Canada has given me such wonderful welcomes throughout my travels. She has shown me such kindness and hospitality; she has, in fact, so thoroughly spoiled me that I have been feeling more and more at home all the time. The result is, that I am not only intensely Canadian now, but I shall feel as one all the rest of my life, and I shall not be happy if too many months elapse without a visit to my home on this side of the Atlantic."

..at these, and scores of other places

A fact: Not only at leading hotels such as these, but at literally hundreds of other prominent places, where one would think only expensive cigarettes would be popular, Fatima, an inexpensive cigarette, is one of the leaders.

In fact, our sales records show more and more places, such as fashionable summer and winter resorts, colleges, and leading clubs, at which Fatima is now in first place.

"Just Enough Turkish"

Hotel statistics such as these are, of course, rather conclusive, since they show the smoking preference of so many men, whether traveling or at home.

These men can afford any cigarette they like. Hence the fact that at so many of these prominent places Fatima now outsells all expensive straight Turkish cigarettes is very significant.

It proves unmistakably that these smokers find something in Fatima's famous "just-enough-Turkish" blend* that other cigarettes (even the more expensive ones) do not give them. They like Fatima; and more than that, they find that Fatima treats them right—gives them the option of smoking at will, without worry about "when" or "how many".

* Fatima contains more Turkish than any other Turkish blend.

A FARNUM WESTERN.

STAR IN THRILLING STORY OF TEXAS RANGES.

By Edwin Schallert.

Just as Tom Mix is probably the most versatile dodger of broken glass before the camera, "Bill" Farnum, when he is going strong in a western, can manage to accumulate more dust, dirt and grime out of hill and roadside than any man who appears on the screen. "Bill" is in his glory this week at the Alhambra in "The Last of the Duanes," from the story of the Texas Rangers by Zane Grey, for he is a reputed dangerous bandit of the West, who after scaling mountain fastnesses, and rolling out his fatigue in the dirt of the plains, finally reforms and brings a gang of outlaws into the clutch of the law.

In sustaining its interest around the hero character up to the very last minute "The Last of the Duaner" is a well-built play. In its vividly picturesque mountain views it is a very attractive production scenically, and in the hero's flight and posse's pursuits amid the precipices and crags of the rocky hillsides it carries a high degree of thrills and excitement. The pursued drives his horse over steep descents, dashes him up wild mountain trails, and finally on foot scrambles through steep canyons, and drops by a rope over a waterfall, in a way that makes the interest in his escape intense. Of course, there is a love romance to strengthen the appeal of the story, and also many vivid dramatic incidents like the near-lynching and the round-up of the gang of crooks.

The supporting cast includes Charles Clary, G. R. Nye and Louise Lovely.

"The Last of the Duanes" is a well-directed and photographed film that reveals Mr. Farnum in an excellent characterization.

DIVERTING ACTS ON ORPHEUM BILL.

You who know Hollywood bungalow courts after dark, and you who have enjoyed that pleasant little pastime of suddenly remembering that you had forgotten your front door key at 2 a.m., are going to get a pleasant kick out of that al fresco act presented by Leona Stephens and Len D. Hollister, entitled "Out in California." It isn't the big show of the Orpheum bill this week, but it's the funniest and nearest home—with Hollister keeping things moving by virtue of his bright special type of cleverness. Whether or not the act is as stated actually based on happenings in June, 1916, we take it for granted that it is supposed to happen some time ahead of July, 1919.

Novelty acts seem to rule on the programme this week, with Saranoff, Billy Abbott and the Winter Garden Violin Girls in the feature that doesn't stop moving for a minute, with its songs, violin ensemble numbers and occasional dashes of rapid-fire fun-making. Saranoff has his own special line of imitations, and jazzes up the classics in conscienceless fashion — among them none other than Delilah's celebrated air from "Samson and Delilah," and the "Humoresque." Abbott's singing and impersonations, and the violin playing of the girls, their physical attractiveness and charm of manner win favor.

It always takes one of those short on brains, long on foolishness acts to stop the show, and Jimmy Savo and company—whoever said company may be—assisted by Joan Franza, put over one that apparently originated in Brazil, or somewhere else that nuts come from. Savo is a perfect thirty-six in an imperfect fifty-two suit of clothes. He calls his turn "A Salvo of Screams," and its odor would be quite as pleasant under any other title.

An act wherein beauty reigns supreme is the posing of Miss Bobie Gordone. Her "L'Echo," "Autumn," "Cleopatra" and "The Dancer" are delightful conceptions.

Albertina Rasch continues a big top-notcher of the bill with her colorful, though not especially impelling, dancing act. Nearly everybody gets a surprise out of William Ebs's ventriloquial offerings.

Ergotti's Lilliputians bring a lot of laughs along with their heroic acrobatic miniatures. Eddie Weber and Marion Ridnor, billed as youthful prodigies, are the kind of dancers and singers you'll like, because they've got a lot of pep; and James J. Morton, the official butler for the vaudeville feast, brings on each course with a smile. His story about the clam is his chef-d'ouvre.

Altogether it's a trifle better than normal bill.

AMUSING SKETCH HEADS PAN BILL.

The exceptionally clever sketch by Stan and Mae Laurel is a feature of the bill at Pantages this week, although the bill, as a whole, is well rounded out. Stanley Laurel's work classes him as an able character actor. The sketch is built for laughs. Mae Laurel appears in an elaborate parlor scene as a distressed damsel with a toothache, and telephones for a doctor. Enter Stanley Laurel as the comical burglar with some nimble dancing, character songs and a plentitude of comedy. The girl takes him for the doctor, and he silences the dread toothache with a large mallet, which knocks out the girl. Her grateful recognition of his "skill" results in some happy situations.

The Revue de Vogue, a pretentious offering by Joe Forte, with dainty Dixie White, "Isabel" and Victoria Webster, introduces a series of bright and catchy singing numbers with instrumental selections and solos, plus toe dancing. The act concludes with a church wedding, and there is one bridegroom for four brides. Three White Kuhns, playing on the guitar, ukulele and bass viol, received many encores. The Three Bartos, billed as America's foremost athletes, perform some amazing feats of suppleness and strength. Gertrude Long and Spencer Ward offer singing and piano numbers. Amporita Guillot, Spanish ballerina and chansonette, gives delightful numbers, and there is a new Harry Pollard film comedy.

CHARMING MUSIC ON GRAUMAN BILL.

Over at Sid Grauman's entertainment emporium they've struck a new gait as regards the musical features of their programme. Apparently they've cut out all the trash, the mawkishly sentimental stuff, etc., which is a matter of congratulation. On the other hand, the classical music doesn't give one a crick in the neck looking up, as it's carefully selected and arranged in a manner to give it the widest popular appeal. In short, that minority of the picture crowd which isn't ready to fully enjoy the best music is being educated painlessly by Sid Grauman's excellent musicians.

Musical features at Grauman's are especially pleasing this week, the brilliant "Evolution of Yankee Doodle," billed as a fantasie, by Lake, being especially novel and up-to-the-minute, or maybe even a minute later than that; while C. Sharpe Minor's "Squirrel Food Composition," which isn't jazz as the name suggests, but a skillfully-welded medley of operatic and semi-classical airs, draws a lot of noise from the congregation. The musical act, "The Song Shop" furnishes the popular numbers.

"Counterfeit" is the name of the Elsie Ferguson picture, and while we confess we really like to see Miss Ferguson is big stories of life, yet we must admit "Counterfeit" is a fascinating story, sumptuously produced, and holding the attention from beginning to end. It has to do with counterfeiters; but only those unacquainted with 10-cent magazine literature could fail to perceive that Miss Ferguson isn't really a counterfeiter, but one of the secret service people. She's quite preternaturally clever as a detective, while others in the cast keep one perpetually wondering which gang they belong to, so there's no lack of interest. An interesting member of the cast is Helene Montrose, sister of Mrs. Oliver Morosco.

"Moving Day," featuring Carter de Haven and his wife, is a mildly amusing comedy.

NELL SHIPMAN CHARMS AT TALLY THEATER.

That brilliant picture epic of the northland, "Back to God's Country," in which Nell Shipman is playing the leading role, is on view at Tally's Broadway, after a week's big run at the Kinema.

The romantic feature of the story naturally is the love story of the beautiful mountain, maid, Nell Shipman, for the traveler, played by Wheeler Oakman, but the most novel feature is the showing of the heroine's love for wild animals and their affection and trust in her. She pets bears and wildcats as one would pet a house dog, whilst even the fretful porcupine fails to do his w. k. act when in her company, but perches sociably beside her on a couch while she reads.

There is some marvelous outdoor stuff in the snowy regions of Canada, which has never been duplicated.

By all means, if you wish to see a fresh, thrilling tale unfolded on the screen, don't miss "Back to God's Country."

FLASHES.

TRIXIE SPARKLES.

SO DOES NEW HARRIS-HAVEZ MUSICAL COMEDY.

By Grace Kingsley.

One sort of jag may be gone forever, but the intoxication of joy remains. And it's a gigantic jag of joy that blessed trinity of entertainers, Trixie Friganza, Elmer Harris and Jean Haves, are handing out to us at the Mason this week, labeled "Poor Mama," and which comes to us after a few weeks of hmoothning out on the road. It played to a packed house at the opening last night.

Elmer Harris is back in his stride again, and "Poor Mama" has all the unctuous humor, the originality, the snap, and pep, not to say spice, of "Canary Cottage," and "So Long Letty," while Jean Haves's "musical interruptions" in the form of songs and dance music are right up to the minute, or maybe a little ahead of that. Of course, Elmer Harris's jokes sometimes need a bit of cooking, but always have the saving paprika of wit, and are greeted uproariously by the audience; and anyhow, who ever heard of an Elmer Harris without that sort of tobasco? Also, there's the brisk little touch of cynicism and keen understanding of human nature that are peculiar to the author.

Being an Elmer Harris musical comedy, "Poor Mama" has a nice little plotlet; but it doesn't hurt a bit! It unfolds the tale of a rich widow lady of 42 with five children, who takes a fling in New York, marries a young man, and comes back to the old home trying to conceal the fact that she has the five youngsters.

As for Trixie Friganza, she's even more beautiful and bubbling than when we last saw her, and while it wouldn't be fair at all nor the truth, to say that the whole of "Poor Mama" is Trixie, it is true that the part having been written for her, especialy fits her like Charley Pike's hat after a hard night at Vernon.

A part of Miss Friganza's fortune being her fat, some special song numbers are interspersed, on that subject, notably, "There's Lots More Fun in Putting It on than There is in Taking It Off," and her burlesque of the thinning exercises is great, as are also her special dance numbers. The closing number is an unexpected "tear," while the children gather around her in a very pretty song and tableau, "Mother." The dancing of Jack Coogan is notable, as are the song numbers by the three Dennis sisters. Burt Wessner is welcomed back in a suitable role, and all parts are pleasingly done, particularly George W. Banta, Jr., in the role of the young husband.

The stage settings by Ed Flagg are notably distinctive and beautiful, with specially attractive lighting effects.

Some of Mr. Haver's songs that are sure to find their way into the cafes and phonographs are, "If You Love Me, Close Your Eyes," "Under the Syrian Sky," and "Mother." The song about the movies is also a smart topical hit.

DOROTHY DALTON IN "TEN O' DIAMONDS."

There's a pretty spicy picture over to the Palace this week, entitled "The Ten O' Diamonds," and with Dorothy Dalton, as its star, playing the chemically pure dance hall girl whom the man of the world leads away by the hand one night in order, he professes, to make a lady of her. He has a "purpose" has this mysterious young man, who makes no attempt on the lady's virtue, nay even reproves her by locking the door and throwing the key over the transom to her when she naively leaves her bedroom door open. Indeed, we have only the slender evidence of a sub-title that the lady never has "gone the limit;" otherwise her actions are quite to the contrary. Except, of course, with regard to the butler, who tries very hard, even to the use of sinews, to win her affections, and concerning whom she states, "Gee, it's awful when a girl has to fall for a butler in order to have a good time!" However, she remains not only chemically pure, but pure by main strength, fighting off the amorous servitor till her benefactor comes home.

The plot seemed a wonderful chance for some interesting character study in regard to the awakening of the girl's mind; but, pshaw, says the scenario writer, where's the drammer in that? So, though we afterward view Dorothy proving she is refined by parking her chewing gum away from sight, and presumably using good English, we never find out how she got that way.

There are, however, a really fresh viewpoint, the charm of mystery, and much fascinating vitality of portrayal on Miss Dalton's part to recommend the first four reels of the story, and it isn't until the last reel that the machinery begins to creak. From that point on, the story is as naive as "The Young Visiters."

A comedy and news features complete the programme.

TOM MIX IN SPEED PLAY AT SYMPHONY.

Yes, there is some speed to "The Speed Maniac," starring Tom Mix, at the Symphony. A mile in thirty-five seconds flat isn't so bad, when you come to think of it. In truth, it might have been worse.

And then, the swift prize fight in which our hero takes part at the last moment (and wins) after the man he backed failed to appear, owing to the crookedness of his opponent's manager. And that last scene might have been slower, only the pair of them wouldn't have reached the minister until several minutes later if hads been.

You see, Billy Porter came to San Francisco to make a man of himself; to grow up in a real city, on the advice of his father whom he had not seen for many years. He had perfected plans for a new gasoline motor that would eat up the miles, but wouldn't drink up the gas—an economical motor of great power that he decided to try out in the world-famous classics before disposing of it to the highest bidder. The villain gets in his dirty work several times during the course of the picture, once at the race, where he is instrumental in overturning the speeding machine of Billy and furnishing the one big thrill of the picture, and again at the prize fight where he administers a few knock-out drops. If it is speed you are after, take a trip to the Symphony—you'll get it, and enjoy Mix's daring and his finished portrayal of the lead'ng role.

"MIRACLE OF LOVE" LURES TO CLUNE'S.

Throughout Cosmo Hamilton's deeply interesting story, "The Miracle of Love," at Clune's Broadway, one vacillates between the opinion as to whether love is a miracle or a disaster. In which respect it parallels life, according to the opinions of most philosophers.

The love story between the Duchess of Harwich, as played by Lucy Cotton, and Clive Hurburt as done by Wyndham Standing, is drawn with beautiful fidelity. With hard circumstance keeping them apart and wedding the woman to a brute, afterward a paralyzed cripple, these two fine mummers realize an exquisitely artistic screen conception of deep love thwarted and yet true to itself. With real artistry these two convey that subtlest of all drama, the subjective. There is never a word, a gesture, a look too much or too little. For these two portrayals alone lovers of good acting should see the picture.

Here again is a remarkable cast assembled. Once more that piquant ingenue, Jackie Saunders, makes her appearance on the screen after an absence of more than two years, and registers in clean-cut fashion just as of yore. She is prettier than ever, a bit more mature, in form, but vivacious and clever as ever, in the role of the American girl. Comedy is furnished by her and by her lover, played by Edwin Earle, "Howard McClintock of Chicago," who, when he sees her about to marry the duke, rushes to the rescue, exclaiming tragically, "Some one's got to rescue you from making a hell of your life, and I'm the one that's going to do it!"

Of course the traditional hard-headed British viewpoint that an earl must marry to keep up the family estates is not overlooked; but if it were it would not be a British story of British characters, so there you are.

"TREMBLING HOUR" MYSTERY THRILLER.

Every hour of the day will tremble at the Superba this week, when "The Trembling Hour," a mystery story, that is a mystery, and one of the best of its kind at that, flashes across the silver sheet.

A mystery story that mystifies will always go big. The public likes to be fooled, just as Barnum figured it did, but it wants a logical reason for the mystery. "The Trembling Hour" gives us just that. We knew all the time that Kenneth Harlan, the shell-shocked hero, didn't murder his host, but who did? And did the heroine really love him after she found he had served time in the pen? About the New York "dick"—was he honest? We know the answer to all those questions now, but we didn't find them out until the end of the last reel.

LIKES TO DANCE.

Husband Knew It, Says Soldier's Wife; Both Denied Decrees.

Mrs. Fay C. Diehl admitted in Judge Weller's court yesterday that she liked to dance, that it was her greatest pleasure in life, and that her husband, George Diehl, a discharged soldier, knew she liked dancing before he married her.

Mr. Diehl is seeking a divorce on the ground that his wife went out dancing night after night about three weeks after they were married and when he objected, she told him, he said, that married life was too slow.

Mrs. Diehl contested the suit and asked a decree on the ground of desertion. The court denied both parties a decree.

APPROVES MONOPLANES FOR MARINE CORPS.

Maj.-Gen. George Barnett, commandant of the Marine Corps, has approved the Loening M-8-0 type monoplane as satisfactory for use by the corps as a single-seated machine for scouting purposes, according to word received here yesterday. These machines will undoubtedly be used at some of the Marine Corps flying fields in America, or else sent to Haiti, where the marines are in need of these machines for scouting purposes. Six of this type have been purchased for the Marine Corps, the first, so far as known, to be adopted in the United States for military purposes.

PRESIDENT INDORSES CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE.

President Wilson has given his personal indorsement to the Red Cross Christmas seal sale, to be conducted here and elsewhere in the United States, December 1 to 10, was the statement yesterday of Mrs. J. J. A. Van Kaathoven, chairman of the seal sale committee. The President's indorsement was made in a letter directed to Dr. Charles J. Hatfield, managing director of the National Tuberculosis Association.

SHIFTS REQUEST TO PACIFIC ELECTRIC.

The Finance Committee of the City Council yesterday answered the requests that light be placed under the bridge at Lake Shore avenue and Sunset boulevard, by instructing City Electrician Manahan to confer with officials of the Pacific Electric Company regarding the placing of such lights. This is a transfer point, and complaint is made that women and children frequently have been so frightened by loiterers underneath the bridge they have been afraid to descend to catch the cars.

TWO LARGE MORTGAGES.

Two mortgages aggregating $234,-750 were filed in the office of the Recorder of Deeds yesterday. One, for $134,750, was given by Alexander Jeffrey to the Union Trust and Savings Bank of Pasadena. The other, for $100,000, was given by D. W. Herlihy of Pasadena to the Mortgage Guarantee Company.

MORE FIREBOAT EXPENSES.

Again comes the city's fireboat with a need for more money. This time, according to demands presented to the City Council yesterday, an appropriation is wanted to cover the cleaning and painting of the hull and another appropriation is asked to provide docking and caulking of two lower guards. It's a quiet week when some new demand for outlays on the fireboat does not reach the City Council.

ON FRAUD CHARGE.

C. L. Schoeder, formerly manager of a local collection agency, was before Justice Summerfield yesterday on a charge of defrauding Dr. Rebessa Lee Dorsey out of $200, which he collected for her. The case was continued until December 8. Schroeder was once convicted on a similar charge and has appealed his case.

CITY READY TO HANDLE COTTON.

Harbor Compress Charges to be Fixed Today for Work Next Month.

The municipal cotton compress established by the Harbor Commission at the Los Angeles Harbor will be ready for use early in December. Yesterday the commission placed before the City Council the order they have adopted, fixing the rates or charges for the compressing of cotton and warehousing of this product at the municipal cotton compress. The Council was asked to adopt an ordinance ratifying these rates.

The Harbor Committee met immediately after the Council adjournment, considered the schedule and recommended that it be indorsed by the Council. It probably will be adopted today.

LONG TO RULE ON HIS EXTRADITION.

Whether Col. Augustine F. Ceballos, formerly in command of the Eighty-third Mexican Cavalry, at Ojinaga, who is wanted by the Mexican authorities, can be extradited as a deserter, under the treaty with Mexico, covers acts known as military offenses, is to be threshed out at the preliminary hearing, fixed by U. S. Commissioner Long, yesday for next Saturday. The hearing was fixed for yesterday, but time was asked on behalf of Col. Ceballos to combat the records that have just been received from the Mexican government in regard to the case. These documents charge him with being a deserter, in addition to embezzling $6,000 pesos.

ON GAS ORDINANCE.

Question Arises Whether Court or Commission Shall Hear Case.

United States District Judge Bledsoe will today decide the question whether the Federal court or the State Railroad Commission should hear the complaint brought by the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation and the Southern California Gas Company, to enjoin the enforcement by the city of the ordinance approved by the voters of this city in November, 1918, providing that these corporations should only use natural gas in their pipes and mains.

If he holds that the case should be heard by the local Federal court, a hearing will follow requiring at least ten days for the marshaling of technical evidence. If the court decides that the matter should be adjudicated by the body having jurisdiction over the natural products of California, the issue will be joined in a hearing set by the Railroad Commission for Wednesday, December 3, when many of the gas companies doing business in this part of California are cited to show cause why the commission should not adjust the quantity of natural gas to be allocated to each one of the municipalities within the affected district.

DINNER TO BE CLIMAX.

Guests to be Heads of National Women Voters' League.

A dinner in honor of Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National League of Women Voters, and four other members of the League, who are attending a conference here, is to be given at 6 p.m. Saturday. It will be the climax to a series of programmes arranged in their honor, and extending over Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The other members of the party, besides Mrs. Catt, are Miss Schuler, Mrs. Penfield, Dr. Parker and Miss Haver, all from New York and Boston. The National League of Women Voters is not a political organization, but is intended to further the interests of women voters.

Tickets for the dinner, at which each of the guests of honor will speak on a different subject, are on sale at the Home Savings Bank, Eighth street and Broadway, every afternoon from 1 to 4 p.m. Mrs. Exley and Mrs. Forbush are in charge, and will answer any questions.

FOR THANKSGIVING DAY.

The Public Library will observe the usual holiday hours, Thanksgiving Day. The reference and periodical departments at the main library will be open from 1 to 9 p.m., and the Carnegie branches from 2 to 6 p.m.

STREET ORDINANCES.

Ordinances were adopted by the City Council yesterday establishing the grade for Eighty-second and Eighty-third streets, from San Pedro to Main streets. The assessment district for the improvement of Normandie avenue, from Temple to Second streets, was approved. An ordinance was also adopted establishing the curb lines on Wall street, from Thirty-second street to Manchester avenue.

NATURE'S TREATMENT

WHEN the American Indian suffered from congestion—colds, influenza, pneumonia and tuberculosis—the medicine man kindled a fire of pine knots and needles and ordered the afflicted one to inhale the smoke given off. The medicine man, despite his primitive treatment, knew what cured his "patient."

Today, by a modern adaptation of the medicine man's treatment, VAPORTOR is effecting cures in the same manner. VAPORTOR, a dry, medicated vapor, by a patented, scientific process, is passed directly to the lungs and respiratory tract, driving off the bacilli and healing diseased tissue.

VOPORTOR is not an experiment; VAPORTOR is effecting cures daily.

If you are afflicted with tuberculosis or any disease of the respiratory tract, clip and mail the attached coupon and receive, free, our interesting booklet describing the VAPORTOR treatment and its potency.

Vaportor is a successful treatment by direct inhalation for Catarrh, Bronchitis, Tuberculosis and all respiratory diseases and through drug saturation of the blood for Rheumatism, Auto-toxemia, general constitutional troubles and blood diseases.

DAILY TRADE TALK.

Readjustment Going on; New Sugar Advance; Wheat Puzzle.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

It was a typical off Monday. On the stock exchange little business was done by comparison with some of the heavy trading days of the past month. New bond issues were scarce, and there was little doing in the way of promotions or initial offerings. The week is likely to be quiet, both because of the Thanksgiving holiday, and because it is the end of the month. The Mexican situation is also somewhat disturbing, and the speculative market is still timid. Retail trade is growing in volume. Bank clearings maintain the $10,000,000 plus average which is to make November the price record holder in the history of the clearinghouse to date.

The bond market, which has had a downward trend, gives evidence of regaining strength, and experts profess to believe that the low level has been reached. The unprecedented call for margins to protect stock purchases has had its effect in weakening the bond market, but that emergency must be nearly over, and bonds deposited as collateral will soon be taken up and the market stabilized. Some good municipal issues are scheduled for December. The French cities $15,000,000 offering is gaining local impetus, and the general situation may be said to have materially improved over the week-end. The possibility of intervention in Mexico found reflection in the Mexican oil stocks, but wise investors are absorbing these offerings on all declines, realizing that in the long run they will come back stronger than ever.

The Stock Market.

It was an exceedingly dull day on the local market. Trading was light and there was little price controversy. It was a waiting game, with minor fluctuations. The average prices of the principal stocks dealt in were: Associated Oil, $168.50; National Pacific, 12 3-8 cents; Republic Petroleum, 30 cents; Union, $182; United, 84 cents; Mascot, $2.55; Fullerton, $3.75; Mt. Diablo, $1.48; Jade, 20 cents. Industrials were sluggish and soft. Los Angeles Investment sold from 88 to 87 cents; Pacific Cotton Mills was at $98; California Edison, common, $89.50; Goodyear Tire and Rubber was $99.75 bid, with no stock in sight. There was little doing in mines, a few of the low-priced Oatmans being traded in in a desultory way. Tom Reed was at $1.61; United Eastern changed hands at $3.95, and Lucky Boy at 46 cents. Bonds were weak and inactive.

Woods Coming Back.

Announcement was made yesterday that William W. Woods had been elected a vice-president of the First National Bank. He has accepted the appointment, and will assume his new duties at the counter line about December 15. The new First National official was vice-president of the Citizens' National for many years, and is very well known to the banking fraternity, not only in Los Angeles, but throughout the entire Southwest, and his former friends and associates in this city welcome the news that he is to return. For two years he has been vice-president and general manager of the Bank of Italy in San Francisco.

The Sugar Situation.

Any change in the price of sugar will depend on the outcome of the conference now being held in Washington between Atty.-Gen. Palmer, the Sugar Equalization Board, and assembled beet and cane-sugar manufacturers from all parts of the United States. Sugar manufacturers are requesting that they be permitted to increase prices for this commodity to 12 cents per pound, owing to their greatly-increased cost of production. The margin of profit at the present price, manufacturers claim, is too small to justify continuance of operations. If the claims of the sugar manufacturers are allowed, the retailer will add 68 cents per 100 pounds, and the consumer will pay a fraction over two-thirds of a cent per pound more than he is paying now; the result would probably be 14-cent sugar.

Recent statements to the effect that sugar will go to 25 cents per pound are without foundation, local refiners claim. Such a rise in price is a patent impossibility, for the reason that prices are subject to very definite regulation, and any manufacturer or merchant who sells at higher prices may be prosecuted.

The situation will be relieved in some sections by the shipment into the United States of the Cuban and Hawaiian sugar crops in January and February. Reports indicate that the Cuban crop is a big one, while the Hawaiian crop is about normal, but per capita consumption in the United States has greatly increased during the past year. When the sugar shortage threatened, cane-sugar manufacturers withdrew from the markets of the Pacific Coast in order to supply the demands of the eastern and middle western markets, and the beet-sugar manufacturers of the Pacific Coast fell heir to the task of supplying the western demand. The beet-sugar season is now nearing its end, and early next year the cane-sugar manufacturers will be forced to re-enter the western markets to supply the demand here, as well as in the other markets of the United States.

New Oil Field.

Returned travelers from Louisiana report that Shreveport is now the center of an oil boom that may make it a second Fort Worth. Shreveport was involved in an oil excitement several years ago, when the Caddo field was developed, but that was not a flash in the pan compared with the one which is now brewing.

Garfield Crawford of the Texas Oil Critic has recently visited the Louisiana fields, and has just made a report in which he says: "At the present time the big end of the excitement is centered in the leasing game. In the two days I was in Shreveport two $6,000,000 lease deals were consummated. The game is fast and every deal is up in the figures. For many years Standard and other big companies have been operating in the Louisiana fields. They have kept their operations more or less quiet and the public at large became of the opinion that the Louisiana oil field was confined to the watery territory of Caddo. Then the great discoveries in Texas stimulated the fever for Louisiana and Texas companies, and operators began to branch out for new fields to conquer."

Bailey, Hall and Company of Los Angeles obtained leases on several thousand acres in the Bull Bayou district in September, before the oil boom in that district had attained its present proportions. Although the company is disposing of some of its leases, Mr. Bailey announced yesterday that only enough would be sold to enable the company to carry on development work on its own property. The company is now putting down a well to test out its holdings, while eight other wells are being drilled on adjacent properties by other companies. Los Angeles capital is largely behind the development.

Western Efficiency.

The Corporation Commissioner has given permission to the Western Efficiency Corporation, of Los Angeles, to issue 400 shares of its capital stock to certain individuals in exchange for the property and assets of a business college, and to sell 400 shares to net the company not less than $6 a share. The company conducts a general school in Los Angeles.

Wheat Situation.

According to the Northwestern Miller the situation of the flour market is frankly unreasonable. "The millers want to dispose of their clears and can find no market for them. The Grain Corporation undertakes to release a large quantity of wheat, and it has no apparent effect on the market. With a large crop and by no means inordinate exports to date, good milling wheat is exceptionally hard to get. It is strange to think that, only a few months ago, everyone was wondering what would happen when the price of wheat dropped far below the government guarantee. The farmer, however, is probably not troubled even by the memory of such wondering."

New Issues Today.

A new $5,000,000 issue of 7 per cent. cumulative preferred stock of the Timken Axle Company is announced this morning by a syndicate composed of the National City Company, Montgomery & Co., and Dominick and Dominick, who will sell such portion of the issue not taken by the present holders of the preferred and common stock at par and accrued dividends. Dividends on this stock are exempt from the normal Federal income tax, and, according to advices, exempt from all property taxes under the existing laws in Ohio and Michigan. COTTON PRICES JUMP IN NEW YORK MARKET.

STRONG OPENING FOLLOWED BY LESS ACTIVE TRADING; ADVANCE AT CLOSE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Following the lead of Liverpool the cotton market had a strong opening today at a net rise of 38 to 70 points. Later southern selling developed and prices worked off a few points from the highest, showing about 25 points net advance at the end of the first twenty minutes. There was realizing enough to hold the advance in check around 33.75 cents for March and trading was less active late in the morning with prices showing reactions of a few points.

In the early afternoon January sold up to 35.75 cents and March 34.10 cents, or about 75 to 85 points net higher on the improved coal situation.

The range:

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The local market for spot cotton was steady, up 5 points to 30.05 cents for middling uplands; sales, none.

South spot markets were: Galveston, 40.75 cents; New Orleans and Savannah, 38.75 cents; Augusta, 38 cents; Memphis and Houston, 40 cents; Little Rock, 39.50 cents.

DEMAND IS BRISK ON PRODUCE MARKET.

HEAVY ARRIVALS OF BANANAS CAUSE PRICE SLUMP; LETTUCE DECLINES.

With demand very active for all varieties of produce yesterday, prices advanced for many of the offerings, and farmers who appeared on the floor of the market during the early hours of the session were able to dispose of their stock at prices higher than those of Saturday's market. The early arrivals were very good, as to quality and condition, and moved rapidly under the strong demand. Heavy late arrivals weakened the tone of the market to some extent toward the end of the session, but prices for the fancy grades held throughout at the higher level of the opening market.

Heavy arrivals of bananas, which amounted to fourteen carloads from New Orleans, caused a slump in prices for this commodity. Owing to the perishable nature of this variety of fruit, dealers were forced to lower their prices in order to hasten movement into the hands of the retailers. The best grades yesterday sold at prices averaging eight and one-half cents per pound, to the retailer.

Lettuce also weakened in price, selling at eighty and eighty-five cents per dozen heads. The top price for field crates was $2.50 each, this price being fifty cents per crate lower than Saturday's prices. Cauliflower declined under a slow demand, despite the excellent quality of this offering. The best grades yesterday brought from $3.00 to $3.50 per crate, while the poorer quality cauliflower sold at $2.75 per crate, a fall of twenty-five cents.

The majority of yesterday's offerings of celery were of fancy quality, and prices for this commodity were correspondingly strong. Field crates showed an increase averaging $1.00 each, while fancy shipping stock held firm at $6.00 per crate, the highest price paid for this commodity on Saturday's market. Cucumbers, on account of the increasing scarcity of the offerings, advanced to as high as $3.25 per lug box, selling readily at the higher price. Shipping stock tomatoes went up ten cents per lug under the strong demand for this grade.

The growing demand for cranberries caused prices to move to a higher level on the wholesale market yesterday. Northwestern cranberries remained firm at Saturday's prices, but the eastern variation showed an advance of $1.00 per barrel. For loose cranberries retailers were forced to pay from fifteen to seventeen cents per pound, as compared with Saturday's top price of sixteen cents per pound. Prices for this commodity are expected to remain at their present level until after Thanksgiving.

The potato market was very dull yesterday; little buying was in evidence at the present high prices. Despite the slow movement of this commodity, however, prices on the wholesale market remained firm for all varieties.

Legality Subject Approval Messrs. O'Melveny, Millikin & Tuller, Attorneys, Los Angeles.
The development of the Imperial Valley has been one of the most remarkable achievements of the century. Agriculture is the principal industry and the diversity of the crops is very large. There are 150,000 acres planted to alfalfa, which is the largest single crop. The other main products are barley, cotton, cantaloupes, milo maize and wheat. The 72,000 head of cattle, 29,000 hogs and 107,000 sheep indicate to some extent the scope of the live stock industry.

PUBLIC UTILITY BONDS

We own and offer the bonds of several California public utilities which, amply secured as to principal, yield 5½% to 7%.

A public utility derives its income from the sale of real necessities to the public, and is therefore not dependent on periods of prosperity for steady earnings.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Developments dealing with the financial markets over the week end and those reported in the course of today's slow but confident advance of prices were almost wholly favorable.

Call loans opened at 7 per cent., the month's lowest initial rate, and held at that quotation throughout, large sums being available. Time money also relaxed, but was in scant supply at 7½ per cent, the maximum bid.

Foreign exchange inclined to greater steadiness. Transactions for the full day fell considerably short of 1,000,000 shares.

Stocks which featured the recent reaction were the strongest features. In this group were General Motors, Pierce-Arrow, Crucible Steel and high grade oils and shippings registered extreme advances of 2 to 8 points.

Sugar, textiles, leathers and tobacco owed much of their strength to excellent trade conditions. Several of the less prominent specialties, notably Worthington Pump, which rose 12 points, responded to indications of early financial benefits. Sales amounted to 850,000 shares.

Weakness of Liberty issues and local tractions featured the active bond market. Total sales (par value) aggregated $16,500,000.

Old U.S. bonds were unchanged on call.

Mercantile paper, 5½; Sterling, 60-day bills, 4.01½; commercial 60-day bills on banks, $4.01; commercial, 60-day bills, $4.00⅝; demand, $4.06; cables, $4.06⅝.

Government bonds and railroad bonds, heavy.

Time loans, strong; 60 days, 90 days and six months, 6½ bid.

Call money, easy; high, 7; low, 7; ruling rate, 7; closing bid, 6; offered at 7; last loan, 7.

Important News From Pleasant Grove District, Ranger, Texas.

Telegraphic advices just received from our Texas office state that the Royal Duke well is in and flowing 2000 barrels a day; that the Ranger Central well on the Brooks tract was flowing 4500 barrels a day; that the Magnolia well No. 2 on the I. N. Turner tract was in at 2000 barrels a day, and that Folsom Petroleum Co.'s well on the Hawk tract was in, flowing 2400 barrels a day. The bringing in of these wells proves several tracts in which the CONSOLIDATED OIL INVESTMENT CO. and the PLEASANT GROVE ROYALTY SYNDICATE Own Valuable Royalty Interest, Among Them Being the E. B. Allen, Hannegardner, Dabbs, Cruz, El Dorado and Hercules on the Brooks.

Wells now drilling on these tracts are due in soon and should materially increase the earnings of both of the above popular Royalty Companies, which own royalty interests free of all expense in forty of the best leases in the Ranger and Desdemona Texas Fields. Regular monthly dividends with increased earnings, which should come on completion of the many wells now drilling on these properties make these stocks an attractive investment at this time. We own and offer our clients a limited amount of stock in the above companies at attractive prices. Illustrated booklets upon request.

NEW EDISON BOND ISSUE.

The California Railroad Commission yesterday authorized the Southern California Edison Company of Los Angeles to sell $7,500,000 of its 6 per cent. twenty-five-year bonds. The company was represented before the commission by Comptroller A. N. Kemp and General Counsel Roy V. Reppy. Arrangements for the sale of the bonds have been made in the East by Mr. John B. Miller, chairman of the company, to a syndicate composed of the Harris Trust and Savings Bank, E. H. Rollins & Sons, and associates. The company is authorized to use $1,842,000 in payment of notes issued temporarily for construction, and the remainder of the $7,500,000 is to be held and paid out for new plants and construction upon further orders of the Railroad Commission.

This financing is on account of the company's general new construction budget adopted for the next four years, which calls for an expenditure for new water-power plants and system extensions of $41,800,000.

The new plants will have a capacity of 150,000-horse-power, and on completion, the additional electrical output from water power will amount to 624,000,000 kilowatt hours a year, as compared with a total of 660,000,000 annual output from all the existing water-power plants of the company. In other words, the output of electricity water-power plants will be practically doubled in four years.

As a conservation measure, the electrical output from the new water-power plants would require the burning of 2,560,000 barrels of oil a year if generated by steam plants. It is estimated that approximately one-half of the new power will be needed for electric pumping plants for the irrigation of lands in Southern California, and will be sufficient to irrigate an additional 370,000 acres, which will thus be made to produce an annual increase in foodstuffs at a value in excess of $74,000,000.

For industrial and domestic use there is to be set aside from the new developments in the next four years 100,000 horse power, which compares with the present total consumption of power in the city of Los Angeles for these purposes of 85,000 horse power.

military honors, the first, Frederick H. Patterson of Bolshevist despotism, was lowered into a grave at Cemetery yesterday afternoon. He was a Los Angeles boy, after a year of service with the first of France, volunteering to help stifle the ignorance and the force of Bolshevism in Russia, and who sacrificed his young and vigorous life that the cause of freedom and liberty might live.

simple and impressive honors to his memory, in appreciation of his courageous and successful efforts, were the first to be given a Los Angeles over the remains of our veteran of the recent war to sleep on the field of honor. Many of his comrades still sleep beneath the poppy fields of France and Flanders, or lie in Siberia. They will be coming back soon, but the casket of Russian timber that will receive the body of Sergt. Patterson was the advance guard of the thousands that will soon find their last resting place in peaceful cemeteries beneath the California sun.

Flowers rested on Sergt. Patterson's casket yesterday, in the little chapel of the W. A. Brown undertaking establishment. The plain casket was covered only by the Stars and Stripes, the American flag, but at the three sides of it were beautiful floral designs.

A VOLUNTEER.

When the great war came, and was extended for the flower of young manhood, Sergt. Patterson responded," said Dr. J. Whittemore, pastor of the Temple Baptist Church, in eulogizing the life of the young soldier. "After a year on the battlefields of France the call came for volunteers to go to Russia to carry on the fight for the principles of democracy, not by draft or by compulsion as a volunteer, Sergt. Patterson answered the call, and was one of the first to make the supreme sacrifice in Russia for his country and its home. Rather than remain home and all other items appeal to law and order and sanctity of democracy, he gave his life to uphold principles that had made his country the most worthy of all.

"We may look far more in the realms of memory and, inspiration and memory of this young life, that has given that men, women and children might enjoy the fruits of liberty. Let us rededicate ourselves to the father around this grave, to live for the principles for which he died."

The military, where the casket was lowered into its grave in the cemetery, the big American flag that covered it, Chaplain Robert Williams of the Twenty-sixth Infantry Division, himself a veteran of the war, officiated. He concluded his brief service. A squad of soldiers from Fort MacArthur aimed their rifles in the air and fired three volleys over the head of the dead hero. Then, as the muzzles slowly descended to the shadow of the grave, the mournful "taps," blown by a bugler, wafted out over the cemetery and died away in the distance.

PRESIDENT HERE.

Patterson was killed by the Bolshevists in the storming of the Trans-Siberian Railway by the Czecho-Slovaks on the morning of Aug. 7. He was well known in Los Angeles athletic circles, having once been a member of the Los Angeles Athletic Club baseball team and captain of the Rugby team of the University of California. He was also a member of the Kappa Alpha fraternity and Sigma Chi fraternities. At the conclusion of the services at the cemetery the pallbearers, all fraternity men of his, were: W. A. Brown, Fred Aberle, Harry Berkey, Fred Aberle, Lawrence Snell and Ralph Arnold. At the Inglewood home, where the services were conducted, members of the Los Angeles Post of the American Legion were present.

Patterson was the son of Mrs. Ella Patterson of 1887 West Forty-second street. He leaves a brother, Ralph Patterson, who also served in the army, and two sisters, Mary H. Patterson and Laura Lee Faw.

SUES ON EVE OF GIRL'S WEDDING.

business with Mr. Balog and that his reputation, business standing and good name were injured.

Mr. Balog, who formerly had an office in the Chamber of Commerce Building, could not be reached last night. According to persons who handled the matter in the psychopathic ward and the lunacy commission, Mr. Balog saw Miss Kerckhoff at a social function, and a few days later saw her and her sister, in an automobile downtown. Thereafter he sent letters, flowers and other tokens to the Kerckhoff household, much to the annoyance of the girls, who did not know him. Detective Swan was employed to investigate the man, and the insanity charge followed.

The affidavit of insanity, sworn to by Mr. Swan, alleges that on June 26, 1919, and "for some time past," Mr. Balog "has been writing letters and sending flowers to persons he was not acquainted with; has been trying to force his attentions on ladies he does not know and is suffering from hallucinations of hearing and sight."

Dr. Ross Moore, insanity expert, who examined Mr. Balog, stated in his report that he showed no hallucinations, but as to delusions, he "was confused." He believed "that a certain young lady he does not know has been trying to attract his attention." Dr. Moore's diagnosis of Balog's case was "Psycopathic personality with developing paranoid and psycho-sex delusion."

Sherman Smith, clerk of the lunacy board, states that the records show that Mr. Balog is a native of Hungary; that he is 36 years old and has been nine years in California.

Mr. Kerckhoff declined to discuss the case.

GOLDWYN GETS NEW LAND FOR STUDIOS.

Harry Culver yesterday sold to Abraham Lehr, for the Goldwyn Studios at Culver City, a tract of land extending from the present studio lot to First street, and lying between Washington boulevard and the Redondo line car tracks. The new purchase gives the Goldwyn Studios an even fifty acres. The company contemplates the erection of many new studio sets.

MEANS END OF CASE?

In United States District Judge Bledsoe's court, yesterday, Robert Roberts, charged with violation of the Mann white slave law, was ordered released on his own recognizance. This is possibly the end of the case. Roberts is charged with having transported Carrie Taylor from Pittsburg, Kan., to Needles, for an immoral purpose, September 23 last.

TO MAKE CHANGE IN SCHOOL BOND ISSUE.

BOARD TOLD READJUSTMENT MADE NECESSARY BY SALE OF MERCANTILE PLACE.

The bond issue of the public schools of this city will be readjusted and placed before the voters within the next two weeks, according to Charles J. McCormick, chairman of the Finance Committee of the Board of Education. Mr. McCormick told the board members last night that the bond issue will have to be changed somewhat, as a result of the sale of Mercantile Place, and that these changes will be made at the next regular meeting of the Finance Committee, tomorrow, and the completed statement made ready by Thursday afternoon.

Title to Mercantile Place will be given the new owner in a few days, Mr. McCormick said, notwithstanding the fact that there had been some question regarding the title to the property, and the board's right to dispose of it.

Mercantile Place was purchased by Adolph Ramish for $1,155,000. He proposes to build a theater on the site, which has been school property for nearly forty years. At the time, Mr. Ramish said he would start the work of demolishing the buildings immediately after he received the title, and that construction work on the new theater would begin as soon as possible.

MISTAKE TO MARRY YOUR HOUSEKEEPER.

SAD BLUNDER TO ATTEMPT TO SAVE HER PAY BY WEDDING HER, SAYS COURT.

"The attempt to save and control the salary of a housekeeper by the expediency of marriage is a blunder from the beginning," said Judge Taft yesterday in deciding the divorce suit brought by Dorsey G. Andrews against Bessie Alma Andrews.

The trial showed that before her marriage to Mr. Andrews Mrs. Andrews was his housekeeper. She received the money at the end of the month as housekeeper to pay the bills, and also received her wages. After marriage, she declared, her wages stopped and Mr. Andrews doled out the money every day to pay the bills. She declared that she hardly had "two bits to spend on herself." She was Mr. Andrews's second wife.

The court denied Mr. Andrews a divorce and granted Mrs. Andrews $50 a month alimony.

IN DOUBLE SURPRISE.

Confesses, Then Pleads Not Guilty; Also Wins Freedom Cheaply.

In spite of the fact that Meyer Monroe Morris, who was caught with an automobile load of contraband Chinese, eight in number, near El Centro several weeks ago, signed a written confession, he pleaded not guilty of smuggling when arraigned in United States District Judge Trippet's court yesterday.

When Morris was arraigned before United States Commissioner Long he was held in $5000 bond, but in some manner when he was indicted, it appeared that the bond was but $1000. This he was able to furnish and is now at liberty. His case will be set next Monday.

URGES SCHOOL BILL.

Woman Tells Board of Plan to Have Educator in the Cabinet.

Some of the plans of the National Education Association were explained to the Board of Education last night by Mrs. Hue L. Fratis of Oakland, who is touring the United States in the interest of the Smith-Towner bill now pending before Congress. This bill, Mrs. Fratis said, provides for the establishment of an educational department in the national government, with a director of education as a member of the Cabinet. She also spoke highly of the Americanization work that is being conducted in the schools of the State.

HONOR DEAD TEACHER.

Miss Bessie D. Stoddart of the Board of Education last night read into the minutes of the meeting a resolution which the committee of the whole accepted on the death of Prof. R. C. Daniels, formerly principal of the San Pedro High School.

CHARGE LAND FRAUD.

Salton Sea Transaction Leads to a Grand Jury Indictment.

T. M. Anderson, with an office at 335 South Hill street, was arraigned before United States District Judge Bledsoe yesterday on an indictment returned by the Federal grand jury last week, charging him with fraud in connection with locating entrymen on the public lands.

The testimony before the Federal grand jury was furnished by officials of the local Land Office. The complaining witness in the case is Stephen Zinko, who, it is stated, paid Anderson at the rate of $1 an acre for a location on 320 acres of land, near the Salton Sea, in Imperial county.

The fraud scheme, it seems, was the old familiar one of showing a prospective entryman a good piece of land, and describing it by metes and bounds, the victim ascertaining later on that the description fits lands somewhere in the near vicinity, but utterly worthless for any purpose.

Anderson had his bond reduced from $1500 to $1000, and this he was able to furnish. He will plead to the indictment tomorrow morning in Judge Bledsoe's court.

CALIFORNIANS SCORE JAP LAND GRAB HERE.

JUDGE HEWITT TELLS SOCIETY OF PROBLEMS ARISING FROM IMMIGRATION.

Registering disapproval of the Japanese land grab in this State, the California Society last night, at its regular monthly meeting, took a firm stand against further encroachments. The speaker of the evening was Judge Hewitt, whose subject was "The Legal and the Economic Aspects of Japanese Immigration."

The meeting, which was held in the Fraternal Brotherhood Building, Lincoln and Figueroa streets, was largely attended. Col. John L. Slaughter, a pioneer resident, and James A. Tomlinson, president of the Illinois Society of Southern California, delivered addresses. The Misses Carmen Timmerman and Jaqueline Barton, youthful dancers from the Winifred Coster studios, gave several numbers. Miss Billie Heintz entertained with songs.

TRAPPED BY PANTS?

Marks Left by 'em Help to Hold Man as Burglar Suspect.

Peculiar marks, left by a pair of corduroy trousers as a burglar slid out of a window at the office of the Acme Transfer Company, 815 West Sixth street, served as evidence yesterday against Milton G. Arnold, who was held to answer by Justice Summerfield. William Grindle testified that he saw Arnold near the place on the night of November 18, and Lee Moore said he saw Arnold later, apparently leaving the place. It was shown that Arnold was wearing corduroy trousers. Deputy District Attorney Hill held that the marks were left by Arnold's pants.

HOTEL FOLK HERE.

Come From Six Cities and Reach the Lankershim on Same Day.

The register of the Lankershim Hotel last night resembled the roster of a hotel men's convention. Six hotels in six western cities were represented. W. A. Kamps, manager of the Maryland in San Diego; Miss E. A. Moran, housekeeper of the Del Coronado at Coronado Beach; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Richmond, of the Barbara Worth of El Centro; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lynch, manager of the Healy Hotel of Ogden; Mr. and Mrs. Healy, Ogden; Frank Myers, of the Clunie Hotel of Sacramento, and Mrs. F. W. McCune, housekeeper of the Arlington of Santa Barbara, were all there. They all arrived in the city the same day and went to the same hotel.

ON PASSPORT CHARGE.

Estaban Puyo pleaded guilty to crossing the Mexican boundary line without complying with the law as to passports, in U. S. District Judge Bledsoe's court yesterday and was fined $200. Puyo had a passport, but did not present himself at the immigration office on the line.

FRAUD TRIAL STARTS.

Clarence W. Weller, accused of defrauding the Hauser Packing Company out of $2701.58, went on trial yesterday before Judge Willis. Deputy District Attorney McCartney began presentation of the prosecution's case. The trial will be resumed today.

CASE CONTINUED.

The trial of Willis O. Tyler, a negro attorney, accused of driving an automobile while intoxicated, was continued yesterday by Judge Craig after Mr. Tyler proved that his attorney, E. B. Ceruti, was too ill to be in court. The continuance was opposed by Deputy District Attorney Fricke until two physicians had examined the attorney and reported back that he was ill. The trial was set for December 10.

APPRECIATION OF CONSTANTINO

mon one among people of the stage and opera—was his inability to quell the urge which always drove him to return to the locale of his lifelong endeavors. There is no doubt that the disappointments which arose from the inability of his powers to equal his will force, had much to do with the declining health and the death of Constantino.

To appreciate Constantino as a man—it is necessary to imagine a jovial, natural, kind-hearted, optimistic personality, typically of the Latin race. He was always looking for another opportunity to express himself, and while he loved success, he gave it an unselfish love, for he was even more faithfuly devoted to his music. To appreciate the man as an artist—I always go back to that performance of "La Gioconda," a decade ago, with Constantino on the deck of his ship, singing with his soul and his heart and his fine, sensitive voice, that song of the skies and the sea.

CASE OF KEMBLE ON THE CARPET.

Grand Jury to Hear Charges Against Humane Worker.

Inquisitors will go on with I.W.W. Inquiry Today.

Teachers, Doctor, Writer, Rich Woman Summoned.

Evidence regarding utterances in favor of Bolshevism and against our form of government, said to have been made by C. B. Kemble, an inspector for the Humane Animal Commission, will be summarized today before the county grand jury when that body resumes its inquiry into the activities of the I.W.W. in this city.

Should the inquisitors find the evidence insufficient for action of any kind, Dist.-Atty. Woolwine said, he will place such information as he has before the Humane Animal Commission, asking that Kemble be discharged.

OFFICIALS' VIEWS.

Mrs. E. H. Waddell, secretary of the Humane Animal Commission, said last evening:

"I presume the commission will take up at its regular meeting next Saturday the matter of making an investigation regarding the reports in circulation against C. B. Kemble.

"So far as I have been able to ascertain, Mr. Kemble has not been found guilty of the charge of speaking in favor of the Bolsheviki. He has been a valuable man in his work for the Humane Animal Commission, and this department would dislike to lose his service."

Mayor Snyder said last night:

"I have every reason to expect that the Humane Animal Commission will promptly take action dropping Kemble if he has been guilty of the conduct ascribed to him. If the commission does not take the action, then I shall myself present charges against him before the Civil Service Commission, but I do not think that will be necessary."

TEACHERS SUBPOENAED.

Grand jury subpoenas were issued yesterday from the District Attorney's office for several teachers in the local high schools to appear and explain their attitude regarding I. W.W. doctrines, Bolshevism and kindred radical beliefs. The action is based on reports that certain high school teachers have talked along radical lines at school and at social gatherings.

Among others who will be called as witnesses are Dr. John R. Haynes, wealthy physician; Rob Wagner, former high school teacher and now a writer for magazines, and Mrs. A. F. Gartz, a wealthy woman of Altadena. Capt. Hunters, chief investigator for the District Attorney, will also testify.

The investigation today will be handled by Dist.-Atty. Woolwine and Special Deputy Fitts, first vice-president of the American Legion of California, appointed to aid in the I.W.W. prosecutions. Deputy Keyes left for San Francisco last night to take up a phase of the investigation that developed in that city.

CARRIES GOOD TIDINGS BUT FINDS HIM DEAD.

JESSE A. KOHLER OF TREASURE CACHE FAME IS VICTIM OF TUBERCULOSIS.

Postoffice Inspector Cookson was given the surprise of his life yesterday, when he went to the County Hospital to inform Jesse A. Kohler, who was convicted in August, 1918, of using the mails in a scheme to defraud, and sentenced to eighteen months in the Federal prison at McNeil's Island, that executive clemency was assumed, and found him dead.

Kohler died of tuberculosis November 5. He never was well enough to be taken north, and immediately after his conviction he was removed to the County Hospital.

Kohler was a soldier of fortune and got into trouble by advertising for twenty-four men to accompany him to an island off the coast of Mexico, where rich treasure was supposed to be buried. He secured money from a number of the adventurous spirits who enlisted under his banner, but the expedition never sailed. He belonged to the crowd headed by Gen. Nicholas Senn Zogg, now undergoing a fifteen-year sentence for violation of the Espionage Act at the Atlanta Federal penitentiary, and it was his friendship for Zogg that led to his arrest.

WATCH SAVES HIM.

Protects Policeman's Heart from a Knife Thrust of Prisoner.

Jose Chavez, a Mexican, arrested for drunkenness yesterday by Patrolman Larson, has the policeman's gold watch to thank for a badly-lacerated thumb and his present lodging in the City Jail.

According to the police officer, Chavez used a knife in an attempt to stab him after his arrest near the Plaza for intoxication. The point of the knife, instead of entering the heart, slid from the heavy watch that was in the policeman's breast pocket and almost sliced off the Mexican's right thumb.

MAYOR REJECTS NIGHT THREATS.

Asks Reds to Let Him Sleep and Telephone Warnings in Daytime.

"Beware!"

"You're too active, and we'll get you!"

These are among the telephonic warnings Mayor Snyder says have been given him in after-midnight calls recently. He also says that threatening messages have come over the telephone to Mrs. Snyder.

"Each time it has been a man's voice," said Mayor Snyder last night; "but it has not always been the same voice. I do wish they would not threaten me after midnight. It isn't just exactly pleasant to be called up out of bed to receive messages of that character. Whoever they are, they might at least be accommodating and do their calling in day time."

LEGION PREPARING.

Final Plans in Red Campaign to be Discussed Tonight.

Final details for the carrying out of the organization's anti-red campaign will be completed at a meeting of the emergency organization of Los Angeles Post, American Legion, tonight in the armory at Exposition Park. Col. C. F. Hutchins, commander of this arm of the local Legion, will preside. Reports from various subcommittees will be received and acted upon.

Reports on investigations and campaign plans for the immediate future will be taken up. The meeting will be closed to all except accredited members of the Legion.

RED FLAG CHARGE.

Defendants to Have Hearing Today for Violating Ordinance.

In order that argument might be heard at an early date on the appeal of Dave Weifman and Ana Hartman, accused of violating the city "red flag" ordinance, the case was transferred yesterday by Judge Craig to Judge Willis's court. The case was continued until today for setting the date of hearing. The defendants are represented by Attorneys J. H. Ryckman and Chalm Shapiro.

FOR GREATER SYSTEM.

Chamber Wants Council to Purchase Power Distributing Rights.

A movement toward the reopening of negotiations between the city and the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation for the city's purchase of its electrical distributing system was started yesterday, when the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce asked the City Council to appoint a special committee for this purpose.

The board stated that it is in accord with the policy of the extensive development of the municipal electrical system, including the purchase of the distributing system of the Southern California Edison Company, upon which matter an agreement has been reached; and that it believes the logical thing to do is to follow this with negotiations for the purchase of the distributing system of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation. The matter was referred to the Public Service Committee of the Council without discussion on the part of the Councilmen.

SMALL INVESTMENT BROUGHT THOUSANDS.

SUIT SHOWS HOW MILLINER IN LAND DEALS HERE MADE FORTUNE FOR HERSELF.

How a wife's legacy of $300 grew into a small fortune when the proceeds of an Iowa millinery business were invested in Los Angeles property, was told in Judge Valentine's court yesterday in the trial of the suit of the heirs of the late Henry S. Smith against S. H. Vandervoort, administrator of the estate of Melvenda E. Smith, wife of Henry R. Smith.

The heirs sought to share in the estate on the ground that it was community property. The court gave judgment for the defendant, holding that the action was barred by the statute of limitations and that there was delay in prosecuting it.

The story goes back to a little town in Iowa. When Mrs. Smith married Henry R. Smith, who was a brother of the late George A. Smith, a member of the Los Angeles City Council, she invested $300 received from her parents in a millinery store. The store prospered. The proceeds of the store were invested in a half interest in eighty acres in Central avenue in 1874. About 1903 the interest was sold for about $30,000, the property having been taken in Mrs. Smith's name because, as Mr. Smith said, she had earned the original money out of which the investment grew.

She made an investment with this money in Main-street property which was subsequently sold for $40,000. The heirs of Mr. Smith, who died December 23, 1907, asked that this $40,000 received from the sale of the property be held in trust for their benefit.

OFF TO SAN QUENTIN.

Confessed Slayer of Woman Goes to Serve Long Term.

Nicola Tancredi, who pleaded guilty to the murder of Maria Ragazzini, was taken to San Quentin yesterday to begin a sentence of from ten years to life for second degree murder.

The woman was shot and killed, after she refused to return to the man, who is said to have brought her here from New York. Tancredi attempted to kill himself.

Law Allowing Injunctions is Denounced by Burge.

Declaring that public sentiment is stronger than any State or Federal law, R. T. Burge, police commissioner, went on record yesterday morning at a meeting of the Ministerial Union of Los Angeles, at the Y.M.C.A., as opposed to the actions of the courts issuing injunctions against the police department and restraining it from conducting raids on certain well-known "joints" which, he said, "have been known for years to be gambling places."

"Any man with brains enough to have a headache," Mr. Burge said, "should know that when a place is protected with heavy iron doors and steel gratings at the windows gambling or some similar vice is being conducted therein." Mr. Burge said he did not direct his criticism at any particular man, but at the system which allowed the issuance of the injunctions.

After Mr. Burge's talk, the union unanimously adopted a resolution pledging its support in fighting gambling and other evils, and a committee composed of the following clergymen was appointed to co-operate with the authorities in securing necessary information to guide its further activities: H. B. Smith, chairman; C. C. Selecman, Carl S. Patton, Bryon H. Wilson, Dr. W. A. Montgomery, John Snape and Dan A. Trundie.

UPHOLD HOME.

The action of the union pledges the support of practically every Protestant minister in the city. The union members declare, in the resolution, that they are satisfied that Mayor Snyder, the Police Commission and Chief of Police Home are doing all they can to give Los Angeles a clean administration, and further state that they believe certain elements are endeavoring by every method within their power to savde the law and defeat the ends of justice.

They call attention to the fact that the courts of the State are appealed to to issue injunctions against the police department to prevent interference with gamblers. The union also promises to oppose any man who countenances law-breaking and, if necessary, to start recall proceedings against any official who is a party to the breaking of the law.

City Attorney Burnell stated yesterday that there are three or four temporary injunctions against the Chief of Police, restraining him from interfering with alleged Oriental gambling joints. One is located at 351 East First street, known as the Sing Yot Tong Social Club; another is the Little Tokio Social Club at 317½ Jackson street, and more recently an injunction was issued against Chief Home in the case of Wong Chuck Mon and Harry Wong.

In the last case, it is reported, the police climbed to the roof of the building at 708 North Alameda street, and looked through a skylight. The Chinamen had spread a piece of canvas over the skylight and the officers could not see what was going on below them, but they said the sounds they heard indicated there was gambling, and they were ready to jump on the Chinamen when one of the officers fell against the skylight and the Chinamen fled.

NINE INJUNCTIONS.

The Chinamen subsequently obtained an injunction against the Chief of Police, declaring they were conducting a Chinese rooming-house at the address and that the acts of the police scared the customers away.

Under the State statute, the police cannot enter a house without a warrant unless they believe a felony is being committed or about to be committed; as gambling is a misdemeanor, the police cannot enter without a warrant. To secure a warrant someone must swear that gambling is being conducted on the premises, and on this technicality the police are hindered from making any arrests or raiding certain places which they are reasonably certain are gambling dens, Mr. Burnell said.

Chief Home stated yesterday that in all there are nine injunctions against him prohibiting the police from making raids on places where he and his officers have reason to believe there is gambling. Some of these places, he said, are conducted by Orientals, and others by Americans.

The Ministerial Union is planning to help the Chief secure evidence. Dr. H. Matsumo and O. H. Nakinishi, Japanese, connected with the morals efficiency department of the Japanese Association of Los Angeles, who have assisted the Chief in former raids, are to work in connection with the union and the police department.

TO SHARE COST OF BRINGING RELICS HERE.

Los Angeles will ask Pasadena to go fifty-fifty with this city in sharing the expense of bringing from New York the carload of German war trophies which France has sent with the purpose of their being presented to Los Angeles and Pasadena.

This was the plan discussed by the Finance Committee of the City Council yesterday. It will lay the matter before the Pasadena City Commission for its consideration.

PETS CITY PROBLEM.

Council Wrestles with Goat, Cat, Poultry, Dog Nuisances.

The Public Safety Committee of the City Council is to wrestle with the problems of nuisances created by the keeping of goats, chickens, ducks, geese and canine and feline kennels on lots adjacent to residences. The Council yesterday referred to this committee a complaint about goats, and in the same session took action on complaints regarding the other animals mentioned. Councilman Mallard declared the Council will have no peace of mind or respite from complaints until it adopts legislation covering the entire subject.
